Shorthorn Cattle!

CLOSING OUT EVERYTHING. LANDS SOLD AND MUST GIVE POSSESSION JAN. 1, 1903.

NO RESERVE STOCK. EVERYTHING AT YOUR OWN PRICE.

MONDAY, OCT. 6, 1 P. M.,

PUBLIC SQUARE, HOPKINSVILLE, KY.,
IF NOT SOLD AS A WHOLE BEFORE.

AGE leads us up to a decision of this kind, and it looks as if it was displaying good judgment, as we have no descendants to take up this, our line of business. We shall sell 11 head of breeding stock. There are four bulls, Prettish Prince, No. 16221, by Imported British Flag, No. 130853, and three calves from three to six months old. Also 5 breeding cows, safe in calf by Prettish Prince, No. 16221, and two heifer calves, 4 and 10 months old. The older one is Minnie Archer, sired by Imp. Master Archer, who took the highest prize at the Lexington fair, 1902. The other calves are by Prettish Prince, No. 145090. All of the above cows are Bates topped, save Minnie, 33rd Duchess of Geneva, who is Rose of Sharon, topped with Scotch. These cattle are all fancy bred and of good colors. They embrace the finest strains of blood of Scotland or America. The cows are all extra heavy milkers.

ON FRIDAY, SEPT. 26, AT OUR FARM, NEAR CROFTON, KY.,

We will sell at public auction one graded cow and calf, one mare, one black mare mule, one-year-old, as beautiful as the moon on the 14th night, a few thoroughbred Poland China sows and gilts.

Also agricultural implements, household and kitchen furniture. A good Majestic Range, Binders, Mowers, Corn Sheller, Wheat Fan, Cultivator, Harrows, Plows and Vehicles, 200 cotton grain sacks, etc.

Terms:-- Items under $10 cash, over $10 note with approved security, 6 months without interest.

THE STATE FAIR.

Drawing Close to Hand With Fine Prospects.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 11.—The Kentucky State Fair is now but two weeks off, and with its success rests the permanency of a fair in Kentucky similar to the notable state exhibits in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, etc. If the outlook can be taken as an augury, the first annual exhibit will surpass the fondest hopes of the promoters. Letters have been received from nearly all of the public men of Kentucky and many of those who are anxious to come on September 22, the first day of the fair, and appropriately dedicated to "Kentucky." Gov. Beckham is to attend, President Roosevelt is hoped for and the opening exercises will be in keeping with the importance of the occasion.

The first day is assured of an immense crowd. A half rate fare has been made on all railroads, and an admission ticket is attached to the railroad ticket. The attractions at the fair in the way of live stock exhibits will yield to no state fair in point of excellence. Kentucky will have the pick of all the state fairs that preceded her dates which are peculiarly fortunate.

The Fair will last only six days, beginning on Monday, September 22, and closing on Saturday, September 27. Numerous sideattractions have been arranged for to please those who attend. Weber's Military band of Cincinnati will play concerts every day and evening; a thrilling locomotive collision is on for Monday; an automobile race with a big field is on for Wednesday; Thursday is Louisville day; Friday will see a spectacular pigeon race, and Saturday is "Everybody's day."

Ten Natives.

Ten "natives" of Mississippi have recently been elected by popular vote to be installed in portraits in the new State Capital. They are Jefferson Davis, L. Q. C. Lamar, E. C. Wallthall, James George, S. S. Prentiss, J. M. Stone, George Poindexter, William Starkey, Geo. Foote and J. L. Power. Five of these sons of Mississippi are of untraced nativity. Of the others, Davis was born in Kentucky, Poindexter in Virginia, Prentiss in Maine, and Lamar and George in Georgia.—Danville Advocate.

A Certain Cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says F. L. Taylor of New Albany, Bradford County, Pa. "I was about to give up the trip when editor Ward of the Laceyville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one on the way and one before starting. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I got a bottle of this same remedy and one dose cured me. Sold by C. K. Wyly.

$1,000 Contribution.

Frankfort, Sept. 10.—Mrs. C. C. McChord, chairman of the ladies' branch of the Goebel Monument Commission, received a check for $1,000, a contribution to the monument fund. The donor requested that his name be withheld. This donation makes the total amount in the hands of the commission $15,000.

A TRAGEDY OF MINING.

Bones of a Noted Prospector Found in the Devil's Playground.

After 37 years of mystery the strange disappearance of Abner Lee, the notorious old prospector who discovered the famous Lee silver mine, 70 miles northeast of San Bernardino, Cal., has at last been solved, says the San Francisco Examiner.

Lee was the most famous prospector of his time. In 1865 he located those claims known as the Lee mines which subsequently brought a fortune of $2,000,000 to Gov. R. W. Waterman, of California. Soon after discovering these rich silver properties he disappeared into the desert and was never seen again. A great deal of excitement was occasioned by Lee's withdrawal from the world, and it was suggested more than once that he had been foully done away with by unscrupulous persons who wished to gain possession of his property. Others thought the Piute Indians, who then raided the desert, had killed him and burned the remains.

Now the riddle has been solved and the skeleton of old Abner Lee, the bones of his burros, his "washpan" and an old mining pick bearing his name on the handle have been found in the Devil's playground by Jim Moran, a desert freighter plying between Fenner, on the Santa Fe road, and Resting Spring Branch, at the head of Death valley. The shifting sands which covered Lee have given back their dead, the miners are cleared of obloquy and the bones of the prospector have been given decent burial on the crystalline shores of Soda lake.

According to Lee's story at the time (and subsequently verified), there were vast ledges of surface ore in sight of precisely the same quality as the ore which from time to time he brought in on his burros. He was very secretive about the location of his mine, and those whom he took into his confidence were under strict pledge to reveal nothing.

Among these was R. W. Waterman, who afterward became governor of California. Mr. Waterman was at that time a struggling lawyer. For ten years after Lee's disappearance nothing was heard of the properties. Then a big expedition was organized in San Bernardino in search for the abandoned claims. Under the guidance of two prospectors, who claimed to know something of the locality, and who had heard where lay the Lee silver, the party went almost immediately to the mines.

But upon their arrival they found Waterman guarding the property with a Winchester rifle. He had been in possession for two hours. He had driven out to the claims in a buckboard. For more than 15 years Waterman held a controlling interest in the Lee mines, and it is estimated that during that time more than $2,000,000 in ore was taken out.

Dark hints were cast in regard to Waterman by those who considered he must have known the locality. Now the finding of Lee's body clears the air. The ex-governor has been dead several years. Since the depreciation of silver bullion the mines have been idle, but the old story of Abner Lee is often repeated by the desert prospectors.

NAMES OF FISH.

Curious Inconsistencies in the Use of the Plural Form.

A few days ago I was asked by a foreigner: "Why do you say 'two herrings' and 'two soles' and not 'two cods' and 'two salmons'?" I do not think my answer was very satisfactory, but the question suggested the thought that there are several cases in which it would be difficult to say whether there is anything like a consensus of opinion as to whether a plural form of the name of a fish is admissible. We all speak of soles, herrings, sprats, lampreys and anchovies, the singular form never, I believe, doing service for the plural. No one, I think, says mackerels, cods, salmons, trouts, breams, shads, carps, plaices, basses, barbels, Sturgeon, perch, mullet, pike, turbot, tunns and skate have not unusually the plural form in "s."

Fishermen and fishmongers are inclined to avoid the plural form in some instances where it is employed by the majority of educated people. In some cases there is considerable uncertainty. This I have ascertained by means of a fair number of tests. Among them are carps, shads, tenches. Compilers of English grammars, so far as my experience goes, in treating of plural forms of nouns make no note of the names of fish which do not vary in the plural.—Notes and Queries.

WEAKNESS.

There is a form of weakness to which women are subject which is responsible for much general ill-health and unhappiness; it is known as "female weakness." From this local cause can be traced the slow advance of failing health which not infrequently leaves the woman a chronic invalid.

No woman should allow womanly diseases to progress without proper treatment. The trouble is that these diseases progress, often, because of improper treatment.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can be relied on as a safe and sure cure for womanly diseases. It establishes regularity, dries unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"My health is the best now that it has been for four years," writes Mrs. Phebe Morris, of Ira, Cayuga Co., N. Y., Box 52. "I have taken but two bottles of your medicine, 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' These medicines have done me more good than all that I have taken before. I could do my work only about half the time, and now I can work all the time for a family of four. Before I took your medicines I was sick in bed nearly half the time. My advice to all who are troubled with female weakness is to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery'—the most wonderful medicines in the world."

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Keep the bowels healthy by the timely use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

DR. MOFFETT'S TEETHINA (TEETHING POWDERS)

Rev. J. W. Berry (of Arkansas Methodist Conference, writes): "Enclosed find fifty cents for which please mail me two packages of 'TEETHINA.' We wonder how we have raised children without it. The other day a lady in Missouri sent us a package and it came at a most opportune time; our babe was in a terrible condition his bowels had been in bad condition for days and nothing that we gave did any good; the second dose of 'TEETHINA' gave perfect relief and he has had no further trouble. Other members of the family have used it and every dose has been a perfect success."
