Look Out for a Chill.

However slight, at this time of year and in this climate, it is a forerunner of Malaria all tired. A disposition to yawn and an out feeling comes even before the chill.

Herbina kills the Malaria germ in its very first stages, or cures the disease at any stage. There are no narcotic poisons in it—a purely natural remedy and absolutely harmless. At druggists, 50 cents per bottle.

PRINCESS OF PLESS.

Considered by Many the Handsomest Woman in Europe.

One of the Most Popular Ladies at the Courts of England, Germany and Austria—Comes of Famous Ancestry.

With one accord Princess Henry of Pless has been hailed as the belle of the last season in London. The sister-in-law of Lady Randolph Churchill and own sister of the handsome young duchess of Westminster, with her masses of light golden hair, her blue eyes and superb figure, divided with the duchess of Marlborough honors at the recent Anglo-American coronation bazaar. As one of the intimate friends of King Edward and Queen Alexandra, as well as on account of her beauty, she was one of the most courted women at the different royal soirees held during the season, and ordinarily unbending London hostesses vied with each other to secure her presence at their balls and receptions.

Although the princess is the wife of a German nobleman—she married Prince Henry in 1891—and is as welcome a guest at the kaiser's court as that of Edward VII., she spends by far the greater part of the year in her native land. She is the eldest daughter of Col. Cornwallis West and his handsome wife, all of whose children have made brilliant matches.

The duke of Westminster, who chose as his duchess Princess Henry's younger sister, Sheila, is, of course, the greatest land owner in London, and one of the richest men in England. The family was not over-pleased when George Cornwallis West, after being wounded in South Africa and nursed back to health on the Maine by Lady Randolph Churchill, decided to marry his titled attendant. Their objections were, however, made only on account of the difference in age of the "parties," and the union seems to be a happy one.

Although Princess Henry of Pless spends comparatively so little time at her husband's castle at Furstenstein, she is immensely popular with the German people, who, on account of her delicate beauty, have named her "the fairy princess." The kaiser dotes on her. As soon as he heard that she was to have a stall at the coronation bazaar his majesty sent her over a particularly choice lot of German chinaware to be sold, and when William II.'s yacht, Meteor, was at Cowes last autumn, the princess and her husband were invited to use her as if she were their own. Both the kaiser and King Edward wanted to be god-father to the princess' only son, so the two monarchs divided the honor, and the proud mother recompensed them by naming her baby boy Wilhelm Albert Edward.

The princess, as a true English girl, both hunts and boats well. Though born without a title, she was by no means overwhelmed by the rank brought to her by her marriage, for she has always been especially proud of her ancestry. On her father's side she traces her pedigree straight back to Henry III. of England, while on that of her mother, who was Mary Fitz-Patrick, granddaughter of the marquis of Headford, the princess claims descent from the Celtic kings, who, as she gayly says, "were lorded it in Great Britain when German princelings were in the robber baron stage."

The family of Prince Henry, who, by the way, is almost as fond of his wife of being in England, is, however, of great antiquity, its present head being the fifteenth of his line. Its history deals with conquest and diplomacy in four or five different kingdoms.

Measuring Depth of Sleep.
Recent investigations by two physicians at Rome as to the depth of sleep have been carried on by means of an instrument called an "ethesometer," invented by Prof. Griessbach. This instrument probes the flesh of the sleeper with pins of steel, varying in sharpness. A register of the depth of sleep is thus provided by means of the amount of pain inflicted necessary to awake the subject.

Cows Dine on Dynamite.
Thirty sticks of dynamite were unintentionally left by some telephone linemen on the farm of Claude Peters, at Martinsburg, Pa. Thirteen of his Holstein cows found the dynamite, and fought for its possession. There was enough to go round, and gave them each a meal of that explosive. This was their last feast, for the 13 passed peacefully out of existence.

Ripe Age for Business.
Charles T. Yerkes is said to claim that men are merely in their apprenticeship until they are 40, and that 50 is the ripe age of the business man.
