The Cosmopolitan.

The magazines are beginning to take on a summer appearance, and the June Cosmopolitan seeks to divert with exciting short stories, topics of timely interest and wealth of beautiful illustration. Octave Thonet has in this number as good a ghost story—The Aparition—as has appeared for a long time. People who are interested in thought transference and projection will find much to think about in its pages, whose number almost raise the tale to the dignity of a novelette. Other contributors of fiction are H. G. Wells, Clinton Dangerfield and Owen Oliver; while R. Pillsbury has told a strange story out of the past, in relating the wonderful career of Robert Carr, Earl of Somerset, which is as absorbing as any creation of the imagination. The leading article takes the form of a series of full-page illustrations of the principal paintings in the Paris Pantheon. Upon the adornment of the French Westminster Abbey the greatest painters of France have been at work for years, and their efforts as here depicted reveal some of the most successful achievements of modern art. W. W. Davis contributes an illustrated article on The Monroe Doctrine and Perry's expedition to Japan, in which their bearing on the present crisis in the Far East is well brought out. Miss Lavinia Hart, than whom there is no more entertaining writer contributing to the magazines today, continues her studies of human relations in an able paper on "The Divorce Germ." William R. Stewart gives a full account of Glass Making, with most interesting pictures of the different processes of the industry. Other articles of interest in the issue are Some Norse Types of Beauty, Staging a College Play, and a short appreciation of Nerstschagin, the Russian painter just killed at Port Arthur. Cyrus Townsend Brady has another article in the Dramatic History of South American series, entitled Panama and a Forgotten Romance.

The Blind May See.

Dr. D. Garfinkle's Eye Remedy cured hundreds in Tennessee who were nearly blind with sore eyes, granulated eyelids, watering, itching, burning, inflamed eyes, and wild hairs. Many had scums or pterygiums on their eyes; could not see their way; were given up by doctors as incurable after paying out hundreds of dollars. Call or write for free sample, and you will be convinced that you can be cured. No matter how severe your case is, nor of how long standing, address Dr. D. Garfinkle, 609 1/2 North Sumner Street, Nashville, Tennessee.

The Great Sells & Downs Shows.

The Omaha Bee said: "We have been reading lately many complimentary comments on the greatly increased size and unquestioned merit of the newly equipped Great Sells & Downs Shows, now touring the West, but were agreeably surprised to-day, first by the magnitude of the show as a whole, as it came in sections on its elegantly constructed trains, and again by its stupendous, clean and novel parade. A show never presented a more gorgeous pageant. We visited the grounds later on a business errand, and again met a surprise. The show is absolutely new throughout and covers not only the entire show lot, but all the streets surrounding them. The tents at the afternoon performance were packed with visitors, and the circus program, for novelty, great features, comedy and real attractiveness, is far superior to anything offered to an Omaha audience for many years, and we have had all of the so-called big shows."

The Great Sells & Downs Shows exhibit in Hopkinsville, Tuesday, June 7.

THINGS HE DIDN'T KNOW.

How the Countryman Interviewed the Smart Young City Chap—Still a Little He Could Learn.

It was a tiny village up the state, and among the people gathered around the stove in the "hotel" office for the regular evening session was one young fellow, a visitor from the city, whose clothes were so correct as to be almost beyond the point of good taste, and who showed by his conversation that there was nothing in city life he didn't know all about, says the Philadelphia Record.

The young fellow talked a long monologue loaded with sophistication, and showing every now and then a covert sneer for the ignorance and awkwardness of the country-bred person. But he was listened to with much politeness, and even interest, until he seemed to have talked himself out. When he paused at last a little dried-up fellow, with sufficient wrinkles in his face to suggest the map of the theater of war between Russia and Japan, said:

"Wall, stranger, that's all right about the city, but how many teeth has a cow?"

"I can't say," said the city youth, looking around to see if he was being "guyed."

"Huh! Well, why is the front wheels of a wagon smaller than the hind ones?"

"I give that up, too."

"How long does it take a hog to hatch out its young?"

"Hatch? I never knew."

"Which end of a horse gets up first?"

"I—I never saw it happen."

By this time the spectators of the cross-examination had drawn close with interest.

"Wall," said the man of wrinkles, "I suppose it's all right for you to run around the city, 'cause there the police can take keer of yer, but before yer come to the country agin yer wanten git some one that's got the time to teach yer, so's yer can learn a thing or two."

American Cash That Goes Abroad.

That Americans contribute in no inconsiderable degree to the material prosperity of Europe is evidenced by the number of tourists from this country that annually cross the Atlantic. The Statistical Abstract of the United States for 1903 casts some interesting light on this matter. According to the Statistical Abstract 168,211 cabin passengers were carried away from United States ports during 1903. The showing is impressive, however, as giving a slight idea of the amount of American money that annually finds its way into European coffers. While the expenditures are as varied as the number of tourists, a conservative estimate places the average sum for each at $700. This being the case, it will be seen that upward of $100,000,000 is thus spent annually by Americans.—Detroit Free Press.

The Jack Tar.

Brown, broad-shouldered, round-faced, merry fellows, the Japanese seamen, though squat and short in stature, are decidedly a pleasant-looking and intelligent lot. Dressed navy fashion, silk neckerchief and all complete, when on shore leave they are usually under the charge of a petty officer, who is held responsible for their behavior and due return to the ship. Respectful, polite, and sober, they are popular with everyone in the place. And never does one hear of their overstaying their leave and being taken aboard by the police—a not infrequent occurrence when the ships of other powers are in port.—Detroit Free Press.

Foes for Nearly a Century.

Ever since the fall of Napoleon momentous rivalry between England and Russia has grown. Whether right or wrong in her policy, England has never failed in a crisis to attack Russian interests. It was so in the group of questions affecting Turkey and Russia's desire to reach the sea by way of Constantinople. And now that the Slav has finally reached the Pacific where ice does not seal up his commercial and naval outlet several months of the year, he confronts the same foe. Wherever he turns, he meets England—in Turkey, in China, in Tibet, in Persia, everywhere—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

Good Manners

Depend much upon good health. If the women of to-day lose in comparison with the women of Washington's day in the matter of fine manners, it may be in no small part due to the fact that most women suffer from womanly diseases. It is very hard to be polite and courteous, suave of manner and smooth of speech, when pain is thrusting its darts into the body.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the womanly diseases which make women nervous and irritable. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It cures headache, backache, nervousness, sleeplessness and other ills which are the result of womanly disease.

"You have my heartfelt thanks for the kind advice you sent me," writes Mrs. Florence Archer, of Eason, Macon Co., Tenn. "Words fail to express what I endured for about eight years with female trouble. The awful pain that I had to endure each month, no tongue can express. These bearing-down pains, backache, headache, distress in my stomach and sores in my breast, cramp in limbs—they have all left me and health has taken the place of these distressing troubles. After taking six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and using the local treatment you advised I felt like a new woman."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most desirable laxative for women's use.
