BIG THINGS SPOKEN OF

Rumor Says That Eastern Capital Will Build Another Flour Mill.

SURVEYING PARTIES

A Belt Line Railroad May Be Built Soon.

If rumor is dealing with fact the advent of the New Year will be fraught with many good things for Hopkinsville.

One of our prominent insurance men is in receipt of communication from a gentleman who has been in correspondence with him for a few weeks, almost assuring him that, in the near future, he will establish an enterprise here which will mean great things for Hopkinsville. We are not advised as to the character of the enterprise, the gentleman who is to finance it prefers just at this time not to make it known.

We are on the "inside" of another project for the establishment of another business that, if the money can be raised, will be of almost incalculable benefit to the farmers of the county. Thus far the effort to raise the necessary capital has been most encouraging, and we hope soon to make public the character of the business and the gentlemen who are to manage it.

Our people have read and heard much since last summer about the building of a belt-line railroad to connect the L. & N. and the I. C. roads. The road was to be run from east to west across the North-arn section of the city, and surveys have been made.

It seems that new interests have been aroused and new men have taken hold of the belt-line as well as a new route decided upon. Rumor days that the two roads are to be connected by running a belt-line across the Southern section of town, from the I. C. at Crabapple Pond, crossing Clarksville pike at Twenty-first street, connecting with the L & N, not far from the Clarksville pike. Rumor also says that the survey for this line was completed this week. We give this as we have heard it and for what it is worth. There has been so much talk of this belt-line that the people do not have much faith in what they hear, but something may yet come out of all the talk indulged in for the past five or six months.

Occasionally one hears an expression in regard to the shoe factory, which occupied a place in the plans of our more progressive citizens for a time. Some insist that the project is not dead and that hopes of its being started are brighter than ever, and it will not be long before the committee entrusted with its capitalization may be able to announce something definite. We do not pose as a prophet, but of all the enterprises that have been brought before our people in the past few months, we can safely assert that none of them would prove of more general benefit than a large shoe factory. Should we miss securing it, we will lose the best thing that ever knocked at our door for recognition.

And there is still another good thing "in the air." Some one has put in circulation a report that Eastern capitalists are going to build a large flour mill here—that it is an assured fact. It is to be located on the I. C. railroad and will have a capacity of a thousand barrels a day. This may be true—we hope it is. When one reflects that with four mills running at their full capacity none have any difficulty of disposing of their outputs, there is good reason for believing that another large mill would meet with the same success.

Henry Harland, who wrote "The Cardinal's Snuff Box," died in Italy this week, while on a tour abroad.

PARKER PROTESTS

Says He Will Not Be Bound By Fiscal Court Caucus.

Esq. W. L. Parker requests us to announce that the caucus nominations by the Democratic members-elect of the next Fiscal Court were not made with his concurrence. He says he left the room in advance of the action taken and took no part in the nominations made and that he will not be bound by the caucus action. This brings about a serious complication, as the Republicans, including the county judge, have four members and the Democrats five. Mr. John G. Childress, who was tendered the place of delinquent tax collector, who was a candidate for road supervisor, says he is not satisfied with the place offered him.
