

EVERY FIGURE GUARANTEED. NO ESTIMATES.

The New Convertible Policy OF THE EQUITABLE LIFE

This policy provides for a Life Policy, a Limited Payment Life Policy and an Endowment Policy, ALL IN ONE CONTRACT. Selection of form of policy to be made at the end of five years.

ILLUSTRATION: Age 35. PREMIUM FOR $5,000.....$166.65.

Options After 5 Years.

| | |
|----------|--|
| OPTION 1 | Annual Premium.....$166.65 Less 40 Per Cent. GUARANTEED REDUCTION..... 66.65 |
| | Net Premium for the future.....$100.00 |
| OPTION 2 | Continue original premium $166.65. Original Policy.....$5,000.00 GUARANTEED addition..... 2,520.00 |
| | Total insurance.....$7,520.00 |
| OPTION 3 | Continue original premium for 15 years longer and the policy will then become fully paid up, making it an 18 payment life policy. The payments may be continued for 9 additional years, and the policy will then mature as an endowment, paying $5,000 to the holder in cash. |

Large Loan, Cash and Paid Up Values available after three payments have been made.

This policy is issued in amounts of $1,000 and upwards.

THE EQUITABLE LIFE IS THE STRONGEST IN THE WORLD!

For full information as to the CONVERTIBLE POLICY apply to an Equitable Agent or fill in the coupon below and send to

HENRY J. POWELL,

Manager for Kentucky,

Equitable Building, Louisville, Ky.

HENRY J. POWELL, Manager,
Louisville, Kentucky.

Please send me full information in regard to the NEW

CONVERTIBLE POLICY for $..... I was born on theday of, 18.....

Name.....

Postoffice.....

SPORTS AND ATHLETICS

Tim Hurst, one of the best and most popular wielders of the indicator on the baseball diamond for many years, has announced his decision to retire. Almost every fan who has ever heard Tim on the field is sincere in the hope that the report is not true or that the popular umpire will change his mind by the opening of the season. Time has apparently not dimmed Tim's eye or dulled his power of repartee. He admits that he has grown a bit stout, but he blames the new generation of fans and players for that. In the old days he kept down to weight by sprinting away from maddening throngs and taking on the players in impromptu bouts. Nowadays the deportment of the athletes and spectators is much improved and the life of an umpire is cast in more pleasant, though perhaps more monotonous, lines. Timothy Carroll was the central figure of many a melee, and he can always tell an interesting story. During the National league meeting at New York recently an old ball player was reminded of an incident that occurred several years ago by the sight of Hurst and Hughey Jennings in conversation.

"When Hughey was playing short for Baltimore in the old twelve-club league," said the player, "he and Tim got to be very good friends. One winter Tim went up to a little town in Pennsylvania and visited Hughey and his folks. He had the best of everything and made friends with all of the family. The following season, Jennings, Sr., who had never seen Hughey play big league ball, journeyed down to Baltimore just to see his boy in action. It happened that Tim was umpiring. In the very first inning, before Baltimore went to the bat, and before Hughey had a chance to catch a pop fly or make an assist, and Hughey, of course, was conspicuous in the debate. He carried it so far that Tim ordered him to the bench and off the field. Up in the stand Hughey's father boiled with indignation. He didn't enjoy the game, and when Hughey joined him afterward he exploded:

"And that's the kind of a man you bring into the family circle, is it? Well, he'd better not come to see me any more; accept my hospitality and then puts you out of the game before I have a chance to see you throw a ball!"

And Tim never visited Hughey after that.

Unless radical and far-reaching changes in the playing rules of football are made at once by the American football rules committee, the gridiron game in the Big Nine conference colleges is doomed. Unless the national rules body, in whose hands had been left the fate of the game, so far after the technical statutes of football as to do PROE. WILLIAMS away with roughness and other objectionable features in the game the sport will be deposed from its position as a part of the athletic programme of the middle western universities for a period of two years. This was the ultimatum given the friends and followers of football by the "big nine" college faculty representatives at the closing session of their "football reform" meeting at Chicago recently. The action was in the form of a mass radical recommendation in regard to college athletics made by the "professors." The resolution of the body pends on the final confirmation of the various universities who sent their representatives to the meeting. Possible abolishment was but one of the staggering blows dealt the game as it has existed for years in the colleges. Among the radical moves that will come close home to the "Big Nine" schools, if the recommendations are carried into effect, were the doing away with purely professional coaches, the barring of all students with college degrees from teams, the limiting of the intercollegiate schedule of each school to five games, the shortening of the football season by two weeks, doing away with the Thanksgiving game and the disbandment of freshmen from competition for the period of one year. The passing of professional coach, if authorized by the colleges, will perhaps do more than any other one of the new rules to change the football map of the west, providing the game finally passes muster. Such men as A. Alonzo Stagg, professor and head of the department of physical culture of the University of Chicago; Prof. Harry Williams, of the University of Minnesota, and Prof. George Huff, of the University of Illinois, will remain to add more glory to their athletic records. These men were protected by the conference by the recommendation that "coaches of the teams shall be members of the university faculties." They are not professional coaches, as they are directly connected with the academic side of their respective universities.

Tim Hurst, one of the best and most popular wielders of the indicator on the baseball diamond for many years, has announced his decision to retire. Almost every fan who has ever heard Tim on the field is sincere in the hope that the report is not true or that the popular umpire will change his mind by the opening of the season. Time has apparently not dimmed Tim's eye or dulled his power of repartee. He admits that he has grown a bit stout, but he blames the new generation of fans and players for that. In the old days he kept down to weight by sprinting away from maddening throngs and taking on the players in impromptu bouts. Nowadays the deportment of the athletes and spectators is much improved and the life of an umpire is cast in more pleasant, though perhaps more monotonous, lines. Timothy Carroll was the central figure of many a melee, and he can always tell an interesting story. During the National league meeting at New York recently an old ball player was reminded of an incident that occurred several years ago by the sight of Hurst and Hughey Jennings in conversation.

Tim Hurst, one of the best and most popular wielders of the indicator on the baseball diamond for many years, has announced his decision to retire. Almost every fan who has ever heard Tim on the field is sincere in the hope that the report is not true or that the popular umpire will change his mind by the opening of the season. Time has apparently not dimmed Tim's eye or dulled his power of repartee. He admits that he has grown a bit stout, but he blames the new generation of fans and players for that. In the old days he kept down to weight by sprinting away from maddening throngs and taking on the players in impromptu bouts. Nowadays the deportment of the athletes and spectators is much improved and the life of an umpire is cast in more pleasant, though perhaps more monotonous, lines. Timothy Carroll was the central figure of many a melee, and he can always tell an interesting story. During the National league meeting at New York recently an old ball player was reminded of an incident that occurred several years ago by the sight of Hurst and Hughey Jennings in conversation.

Tim Hurst, one of the best and most popular wielders of the indicator on the baseball diamond for many years, has announced his decision to retire. Almost every fan who has ever heard Tim on the field is sincere in the hope that the report is not true or that the popular umpire will change his mind by the opening of the season. Time has apparently not dimmed Tim's eye or dulled his power of repartee. He admits that he has grown a bit stout, but he blames the new generation of fans and players for that. In the old days he kept down to weight by sprinting away from maddening throngs and taking on the players in impromptu bouts. Nowadays the deportment of the athletes and spectators is much improved and the life of an umpire is cast in more pleasant, though perhaps more monotonous, lines. Timothy Carroll was the central figure of many a melee, and he can always tell an interesting story. During the National league meeting at New York recently an old ball player was reminded of an incident that occurred several years ago by the sight of Hurst and Hughey Jennings in conversation.

Tim Hurst, one of the best and most popular wielders of the indicator on the baseball diamond for many years, has announced his decision to retire. Almost every fan who has ever heard Tim on the field is sincere in the hope that the report is not true or that the popular umpire will change his mind by the opening of the season. Time has apparently not dimmed Tim's eye or dulled his power of repartee. He admits that he has grown a bit stout, but he blames the new generation of fans and players for that. In the old days he kept down to weight by sprinting away from maddening throngs and taking on the players in impromptu bouts. Nowadays the deportment of the athletes and spectators is much improved and the life of an umpire is cast in more pleasant, though perhaps more monotonous, lines. Timothy Carroll was the central figure of many a melee, and he can always tell an interesting story. During the National league meeting at New York recently an old ball player was reminded of an incident that occurred several years ago by the sight of Hurst and Hughey Jennings in conversation.

Tim Hurst, one of the best and most popular wielders of the indicator on the baseball diamond for many years, has announced his decision to retire. Almost every fan who has ever heard Tim on the field is sincere in the hope that the report is not true or that the popular umpire will change his mind by the opening of the season. Time has apparently not dimmed Tim's eye or dulled his power of repartee. He admits that he has grown a bit stout, but he blames the new generation of fans and players for that. In the old days he kept down to weight by sprinting away from maddening throngs and taking on the players in impromptu bouts. Nowadays the deportment of the athletes and spectators is much improved and the life of an umpire is cast in more pleasant, though perhaps more monotonous, lines. Timothy Carroll was the central figure of many a melee, and he can always tell an interesting story. During the National league meeting at New York recently an old ball player was reminded of an incident that occurred several years ago by the sight of Hurst and Hughey Jennings in conversation.

PERSONAL GOSSIP.

Dr. John Crenshaw, of Cadiz, was here yesterday.

Col. R. A. Burnett, of Cadiz, is here, attending circuit court.

Prof. C. H. Dietrich is at home for a rest of eight or ten days.

Miss Mamie Cashman, of Russellville, is visiting Miss Mary Redd.

Mrs. C. G. Morehead is visiting relatives in Princeton.

Mrs. W. F. Meacham has returned from a visit of several weeks to relatives near Auburn.

Mrs. J. C. Terry, of Adairville, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. F. Danforth.

Mr. J. T. Wall has returned from New York, where he had been for several weeks, buying spring goods.

Mr. W. A. Radford has gone to Savannah, Mo., where Mrs. Radford is in an infirmary. He was summoned by a telegram.

Mrs. Gentry Wadlington has returned from Cadiz, where she taught in the public schools at that place during the session just closed.

The parents of Mrs. Barksdale Hamlett arrived yesterday for a visit and are stopping in the home of Dr. Dennis, on East 6th St.

Miss Mamie Edmunds came down from Elkton yesterday to take in the great musical attraction at the Tabernacle last night. She is the guest of Miss Eula Burrus.

Mrs. John Williams and daughter, of Pembroke, came down yesterday and remained to the concert given by Sousa at the Tabernacle last night.

Mr. Fred'k A. Wallis, of New York, who is in Kentucky on business, will arrive this morning and stay over Sunday with his parents.

Mrs. Frank Rickman and family have moved here and are living with Mrs. Rickman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Shoemaker. Mr. Rickman now has a position as fireman on the I. C. Railroad from Princeton to Evansville.—Cadiz Record.

Big Rink.

The proprietors of the roller skating rink which has been open in the Flack building, on Ninth street, have leased the old Hopkinsville tobacco factory and are converting it into a rink. The new rink will afford full floor room and skaters will greatly appreciate this, as the crowds have been so large most of the time that there was not room enough for all desiring to skate. The gentlemen expect to have their new rink ready for business by today. The new rink has many advantages over the old, one of them being waiting rooms for both ladies and gentlemen where they can put on their skates before going on the skating floor.

BIG BARN BURNED

And Many Animals Were Cremated.

The many friends here of Rev. J. W. Bilbro, of White Plains, will learn with much regret of the misfortune which befel him a few nights ago. He lost by fire a stock barn, eight head of horses and mules, and several cows and sheep were cremated. A large amount of provender and all his farming implements were also destroyed. His loss is probably $2,000, with no insurance.

READ THIS!

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 7, 1901. Dr. E. W. Hall, St. Louis, Mo.—Dear Sir: I have sold your Texas Wonder, Hall's Great Discovery, for the past three years and from experience I can say I have never sold any kidney and bladder remedy of superior merits.

Most Respectfully,
THOMAS D. ARMSTEAD

A Texas Wonder.

One small bottle of the Texas Wonder, Hall's Great Discovery, cures all kidney and bladder troubles, removes gravel, diabetes, seminal emissions, weak and lame backs, rheumatism and all irregularities of the kidneys and bladder in men and women and regulates bladder troubles in children. If not sold by your druggist will be sent by mail on receipt of $1.00. One small bottle is two months treatment and seldom fails to perfect a cure. Dr. E. W. Hall, sole manufacturer, P. O. Box 629, St. Louis, Mo. Send for testimonial. Sold by all druggists and R. C. Hardwick, Hopkinsville.

ARMLESS GIRL

Who Writes and Draws With Her Feet.

No greater exemplification of the old adage that "necessity is the mother of invention" can be presented to the people than the wonderful accomplishments of Kittie Smith, the young lady who lost her arms when nine years old, who though sheer necessity, has been compelled to educate her feet to work like hands.

Miss Smith is certainly a remarkable young woman. In many ways her accomplishments equal those of Blind Tom and Helen Keller.

On Thanksgiving Day, 1901, in going about the house doing her daily work, she found a bottle which she knew contained liquor. Her father was a drinking man and the children had often been sent to the saloons for liquor. She had often drunk of the liquor she had been sent for, and without knowing the wrong she was doing, she partook freely from the bottle, of what afterwards proved to be whiskey. Her father was in the adjoining room and called her to put some wood on the kitchen fire. She answered that she was sick and could not go, but he insisted, and she obeyed. She took the lids from the stove, when the combined effect of the heat and the liquor caused her to faint and she sank upon the open stove unconscious. She was only saved from death by her little brother coming in from play and pulling her from the stove. Her arms were so badly burned that she was taken to the Cook county, Illinois, Hospital, where both arms were amputated three inches from the shoulders.

Since becoming of age she has made a living by selling her drawings and fancy work, but recently she has been publishing a little book, giving a detailed statement of her life, together with many reproductions of her work. This book is being sent to the people she thinks will be sufficiently interested in it to purchase a copy at twenty-five cents. Miss Smith is now making her home at South Whitney, Ind., with the family who entertained her when she was a fresh air child, before she lost her arms.

The book is being sent out from this little Indiana town, and it is said that the sale is all that can be expected. A fac simile copy of a letter written by Miss Smith is sent with each of her books, in which she states that the book is being published under contract with a publishing company, and if she is able to sell it her profits will enable her to make a living for herself.—Ex.

The book is being sent out from this little Indiana town, and it is said that the sale is all that can be expected. A fac simile copy of a letter written by Miss Smith is sent with each of her books, in which she states that the book is being published under contract with a publishing company, and if she is able to sell it her profits will enable her to make a living for herself.—Ex.

Ennis Morris,

Successor to N. E. Chappell,
Horse Shoeing,
Blacksmithing,
Woodwork and
Gen'l Repairing,
No. 209 West Seventh St.
I have associated with me J. B. Cravens, a well known and experienced workman. Prices most reasonable and all work guaranteed. Try us.

We Have Moved to Ninth Street,

In the Sacks Bldg.,
WHERE WE WILL CONTINUE TO PAY THE

Highest Cash Prices for Poultry, Butter and Eggs. Give Us a Call.

C. F. Jean & Co.

Cumberland Phone 413. Incorporated.

Real Estate for Sale.

A farm, containing about 170 acres, located on the Princeton pike, one mile from Hopkinsville, Ky. 150 acres cleared land, balance in timber. The land lies well, is in a splendid state of cultivation, good limestone foundation. This land is especially adapted for wheat, clover, grass, corn and tobacco, and is a good stock farm; well watered, 3 wells, windmill and tank, spring, one large tobacco barn; one feed barn; house has five rooms and outbuildings; good wire fences and cross fences and the best rock quarry in the county. Will sell cheap and on easy terms. I am going to sell out at once.

I also have a house and lot of 12 acres of land on West Seventh street, known as the William Withers place. This is one of the best homes in Hopkinsville. It has five large rooms, large hall, front and back porches, one cabin which rents for $4 per month; stable with 4 stalls, crib and large loft; buggy house; one fine tobacco barn; good meat house and other outbuildings; two good cisterns, and a creek running through the lot furnishes stock water all the year round. This place is a fine home or can be divided into lots to advantage if desired. Price low and terms easy. I am going West on account of my health. For particulars write or see
G. B. CROFT,
Hopkinsville, Ky.

Do You Want a Cheap Home or a Good Investment For Your Money.

If so, go with Allensworth & Cansler to the Parhandle of Texas next Tuesday March the 6th, $20.15 for round trip, with stop over privileges going and coming. This exceedingly low rate will not be given very long, so if you think of going have A. & C. to procure you a ticket for the trip.

For Sale.

One complete J. I. Case threshing outfit, consisting of one 15 h. p. Simple traction engine, jacketed boiler with large cab, two wheel steel engine tender holding 8 bbls. water and 1,000 lbs. coal. One 36x58 twenty-bar cylinder separator with wind stacker, self-feeder, weigher and bagger. New 150ft. 8 in. 4 ply gandy belt steel water tank, with pump and hose. This outfit has threshed less than thirty thousand bushels of wheat and is as good as new. See J. Y. Owsley or E. B. Long.

To Meet Next Monday.

The regular monthly meeting of the County Executive Committee of the Dark Tobacco District Association will be held in this city next Monday. Every farmer in the county is urged to be present.
W. W. RADFORD, Chairman.

Tobacco Canvas.

We availed ourselves of the low prices on cotton goods last summer and bought largely. Can furnish you tobacco canvas at rock bottom figures. A call will convince you.
J. M. ADAMS,
Church Hill, Ky.

DIVIDEND PAYING Oil and Mining Stocks.

As the Osage Petroleum Company began regular monthly dividends in January, the stock is now entirely withdrawn from the market and cannot be furnished by the company at any price.

The only stocks that we can place for the next week is Guaranteed Combination No. 85 at $100 for 1,000 shares under the following guarantee of Douglas, Lacey & Co., Bankers and Brokers.

"Being familiar with the present conditions and prospects of these companies, we do not hesitate to guarantee to any purchaser of the stocks represented in Combination No. 85, that from January 1, 1906, each purchaser of this combination will receive a minimum interest of 10 per cent. annually on the investment, payable semi-annually, July and January of each year thereafter; and in the event that the directors of these companies should not declare dividends aggregating this amount, the firm of Douglas, Lacey & Co., financial agents, will advance cash to this amount."

Only 100 of these combinations will be sold, all additional subscriptions for same will necessarily be returned.

For further information apply to,

WALTER F. GARNETT & CO.,
INSURANCE AND FINANCIAL AGENTS.

What a Variety!

Yes indeed, and they're all needed. Nowadays plumbing isn't the kind that prevailed in Washington's time.

Plumbing Trade

Of to-day requires proper training to acquire skill in workmanship. We are modest, but have to acknowledge no work is better than ours. Engage us.

Adwell & McShane,
Plumbers and Tinnners,
312 SOUTH MAIN ST. HOPKINSVILLE, KENTUCKY.

MARTIN & LIBBEY, Tinnners and Plumbers,

No. 11 Virginia St., Opposite Tobe Smith's Livery Stable.
HOPKINSVILLE, KY.
First-Class Work at Reasonable Prices. Give Us a Trial.
Phones---Cumberland 332-1, Home 1317.

SEND FOR NEW CATALOG
LEARN BY MAIL
LARGEST TEACHERS
LARGE ATTENDANCE

LOCKE'S BUSINESS COLLEGE
HOPKINSVILLE, KY.
"A SCHOOL WITH A REPUTATION"

Attend

Our Golden Loaf!