PORTRAITS OF KENTUCKY'S GOVERNORS FREE, FREE!

Every Governor's Picture from Isaac Shelby to Augustus E. Willson.

For the first time in the history of the State a complete collection of the portraits of Kentucky's Governors has been secured, and the Louisville Evening Post has made it possible to place them in the hands of every citizen of this grand old Commonwealth.

The collection was secured after art galleries and private collections all over the United States had been drawn upon. A few of them are very rare, and one of the Governors is the only picture in existence. It was secured at an expense of several hundred dollars.

The portraits of Kentucky Governors are grouped around a new map of Kentucky which has just been especially engraved at a cost of $3,500, and is the latest and best map of Kentucky ever printed. It shows all of the new railroads built in Kentucky in 1907.

In addition to the latest Kentucky map and portraits of Kentucky's Governors, there are nine other maps of great value, among them a map of the United States, showing all of the new possessions, including the Philippines, Hawaii, Porto Rico, and a map of Panama showing the canal zone, also a map of the world. In addition to these maps there are the portraits of all the Presidents of the United States and the Rulers of all Nations, together with coat of arms and flags. The three last census reports and a complete census report of all the towns in the State of Kentucky.

Taking this wall chart as a whole it is one of the latest up-to-date atlases for the home that has been produced up to this time.

It contains six pages 28x36 inches. This wall chart is given away absolutely free to readers of this paper. Ask us about it.

Every home in Kentucky should have one of these Governors' Wall Charts, for there has never before been published in any form a complete collection of Kentucky Governors' portraits, and every man, woman and child in every home of the State should know who all of their Governors have been and when they served.

It has cost the Evening Post several thousand dollars to secure this collection of Kentucky Governors' portraits, and while the chart alone is worth at least $1.50, yet we give it away to old subscribers who renew their subscription or to new subscribers. Everybody should have a daily newspaper this year as well as their county paper. This is Presidential year. Call at our office and see this splendid Kentucky Governors' Wall Chart, or send for circular with full description.

PUT GREAT FAITH IN GINSENG.

Chinese Willing to Pay Fabulous Prices for Roots.

Frederick D. Cloud, student interpreter at the Shanghai consulate general, says: "Many of the Chinese believe that when all other remedies fail and death is at hand, ginseng has the power to bring back health and longevity; hence, when they feel the need of it they will pay fabulous prices for certain kinds of roots. A root to be really valuable as a commodity must come from the mountains of Kirin or be reputed to have come from there. It must be bifurcated, so as to resemble as much as possible the human form, and be semitransparent, dry and flinty.

"Of course, the larger the root the better and as it is sold by weight it is not very uncommon for a good specimen to bring as much as $100 an ounce. The value for such a root is in its shape, its texture, the manner in which it has been cured and the region whence it came.

"But it must be borne in mind that, out of a great quantity of roots, only a very few of the kind described can be obtained, so that the average price of ginseng is even greatly less than $100 per pound."

NO, SHE NEVER KISSED HIM.

Washerwoman, However, Had an Idea of the Situation.

Nell is a girl who lives up on Capitol hill. On Mondays a woman comes to Nell's house to wash clothes. The woman's name is Nell, too. The other day Nell, the girl, was in the sitting room reading when the telephone rang. Nell, the washerwoman, answered the ring. Nell, the girl, then heard Nell, the washerwoman, say:

"Yes, this is Nell."
Silence.
"How's that?"
Silence.

"What! Am I mad because you kissed me last night. Look here, man, you're too fresh. Who are you, anyway. I never kissed—"

Just then the telephone receiver was wildly snatched from her hand. Nell, the girl, blushing furiously, had grabbed it. She hung it on the hook. "He wanted me," she said. "He always tries to tease me that way. I never kissed him in my life."

As she disappeared up the stairs the washerwoman smiled and said:

"That's a big one."—Denver Post.

Astigmatism from Reading in Bed. Astigmatism, which is a condition where the refractive powers differ in the different meridians of the eye, is in most cases hereditary, but it is often acquired, says a writer in Health. The error of acquired astigmatism often takes place during and after a severe illness, and can be avoided by proper precautions. The whole system is in a weakened condition, and the person so afflicted, being confined to the house, will resort to reading to pass away the time, and this is often practiced while in a reclining position. There can be nothing more injurious than this practice. Reading under these conditions overburdens the muscles, and the action of these muscles upon the form of the eye causes an irregularity in the curvature of the cornea which is known as astigmatism. This is detrimental to distant vision and makes reading and near work difficult.

A Cane in Defense. "If you want to keep off hold-up men," said an old detective to the observer, "carry a cane. A hold-up man is more afraid of a cane than he is of a revolver. He's deathly afraid that the man carrying it will jab it in his face or eyes or get the end of it in his mouth. On this account they're just as much afraid of a small, light stick as they are of a heavy one.

"There are so many different ways of using a cane that a man doesn't know just which way to guard against it. And any man can use it. Nine men out of ten who carry revolvers couldn't hit the side of a barn with them, and the 'hold-ups' know it, but it doesn't take any skill or practice to learn to slambang away with a walking stick."

Character. Character is consolidated habit, and habit forms itself by repeated action. Habits are like paths, beaten hard by the multitude of light footsteps which go to and fro. The daily restraint or indulgence of the nature in the business, in the home, in the imagination, which is the inner laboratory of life, creates the character, which, whether it be here or there, settles the destiny. Men forget what life is for. Their consciousness takes in only the flimsy, transient, passing show. They forget that experience is the only all important factor. That character is worth more than all else the world can possibly yield—the very object of all materials, of circumstances.—Western Catholic.

Our Government Cemetery in Mexico. "Though very few people are aware of the fact," said an army officer the other day, "the United States government owns and maintains a national cemetery in Mexico. It is located at San Cosme, near the City of Mexico, and was purchased and established in the year 1850 for the purpose of interring the remains of the soldiers of the United States who died or were killed in that vicinity during the war with Mexico and also for the purpose of interring the bodies of citizens of the United States who have died in that vicinity since that period."—Washington Star.
