

WHEN THE ROLL IS CALLED

The Members Are Expected To Be There Sunday.

AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Two Services Will Be Held, One For Men in the Afternoon.

To-morrow at the Ninth street Christian church is to be a laymen's day. The services are to be not only for but by the pew. Lawyers, teachers, bankers, merchants, farmers, school girls and boys and college students are some of the classes that will be represented on the programs of the day. Especially in the service of the afternoon are men to be at the fore. It is to be for men and boys only. Every item of the program is expected to strike a distinctly masculine chord. The great business of the religion of Christ is to be considered as a man's business and in a man's way. Business men will think of it and speak of it as it appears to them and as they think it ought to be conducted and supported.

The proper appeal to the boy will not be wanting in this great meeting. The Jim Young Co. of the Boys' Brigade will take conspicuous part in it under direction of Commandant H. H. Perkins and Capt. C. H. Tandy.

As already announced, the church will be called to-morrow—the fames of women and girls in the morning at 10:45 o'clock and those of men and boys at 2:30 p. m. The roll is too long to be called at a single service. The first name will be called at each service sharply upon the minute for its beginning. The weather will not cause either postponement or delay of these meetings.

All are heartily invited to the morning service—only men and boys to that of the afternoon. Any male friends of members of the Ninth Street church who may be inclined to meet with the men and boys will be most welcome.

The cards of announcement which have been sent out to members of the church are to be used as tickets of admission. Women and girls are requested to bring their cards to the door-keepers in the morning and the men and boys to bring theirs in the afternoon. This will enable the church officers to know how many and who attend the roll call.

KENTUCKIAN:
I see accounts of so many cases of persons burning to death that I am constrained to offer what I know to be a perfect remedy, and one that is always at hand.

The instant that one finds fire in the clothing is beyond control the remedy is to drop on the floor or ground, as the case may be, and begin to roll over. This will not only smother the fire and put it out but will save the person from inhaling the flames which are so deadly. To run is fatal. To look for a wrap of any kind takes time which gives the fire a chance to get such a start as to either prove fatal, or end in badly burning the victim.

I heard of this plan many years ago and remembered it, thinking possibly at some time I might need it; and sure enough my cotton blanket bath robe caught fire. When I found the fire was beyond control I dropped to the floor and smothered the fire without the slightest burn. I believe all parents should teach this to their children and every school should impress it on the students.

HOGS GO HIGHER.

Nearing $10 and May Jump to $11.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 25.—Contrary even to the expectations of the most optimistic stockmen hogs at the Bourbon stockyards yesterday advanced from $9.55 to $9.75 a hundred pounds. The receipts were light and the scarcity of "top" hogs, the ones that brought the highest prices, was soon evident, and the prices jumped accordingly. "Top" hogs are the only ones wanted by the packers, and the demand is far beyond the supply. It is said that even larger advances are to be expected within the next two or three days, and $10, the high-water mark in this market, is not now considered to be the point where prices will stop.

Stockmen declare that if the supply does not increase shortly $11 hogs will be a reality before the spring supply is ready for the market.

Here's The $10 Hog.

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 25.—The $10 hog reached Buffalo yesterday, heavy and mediums selling at the stock yards at $10 to $10.05.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 25.—Hogs reached $9.75 here yesterday, $9.75 in St. Louis and $9.85 in Cincinnati.

GETS TRANSPORTATION

He is Trying to Get to His Home in Cuba. Tells Story of His Rambling

A young foreigner, evidently a Spaniard, arrived here from Madisonville Wednesday and applied at the police office for aid, giving his name as Antonio Maceo, and claiming to be a son of Gen. Maceo, the Cuban patriot. He was 22 years old, of dark complexion, slenderly built and spoke the English language brokenly. He stated to Chief of Police Roper, that he was trying to get back to Cuba and wanted some help to that end. He was given transportation as far as Clarksville, and left on the 3:45 train for that point.

He told the story of his ramblings in this country, and said that he had been employed at the Elks Home in Philadelphia, for some time, and the Elks treated him all right. He said that he had eight brothers, all of whom had scattered since his father was killed in the historic and bloody struggle of Cuba for independence. One of these brothers, he said, was in a military school in this country.

Young Maceo had a photograph of his father, of whom he spoke very feelingly, and said that he was surrounded and assassinated, and not killed in a fair fight.

He said that if he could get to Mobile, Alabama, that he would have no trouble in securing transportation to Cuba.

SHAMEFUL ATTACK.

Joint Military Committee Indulges in Denunciation, but Offers No Proof.

Frankfort, Feb. 21.—Senator E. M. Taylor, chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs, Wednesday presented a report of a State Guard investigation. The report of the committee says it was embarrassed by the failure of the State Examiner to have inspected the report of the Adjutant General. The committee began by setting out that $389,000 had been spent on the State Guard in two years, $189,000 of it for active militia, practically for the "night rider" trouble. One item was $10,000 to a Hopkinsville liveryman for horse hire.

The report goes into much detail as to conditions in the First, or Louisville, Regiment. It declares that Col. W. B. Haldeman was a great success as head of the Louisville regiment, and recites testimony to show that the examination was made difficult so that no excuse could be gotten to remove him from that position. It attacks the appointment of Col. Grinstead to succeed him. Col. Haldeman and his officers were forced out of office, concludes the report, in order that the Louisville regiment might be made a part of the Louisville Republican political machine. It closed with a denunciation of the Governor and the Republican administration.

The conclusions of the committee have drawn from the testimony are: First—That in many instances the Governor violated the Constitution and the laws enacted in conformity thereto by sending the State militia to various counties in the State without the request of the civil authorities of the county and without the civil officers having been first informed of the need of such militia and asked to request them and having failed to do so.

Second—That the Governor violated the Constitution and laws of the State in refusing to place the militia of the State when ordered out, under the control of the civil authorities and in assuming to control them as Commander-in-Chief, holding them responsible to orders from him and to orders from no other person or authority.

Third—The militia while on active duty were at least in one particular instance, that of the raid on the lodge at Wallonia, Ky., guilty of most outrageous conduct, and the Governor, Adjutant General and officer commanding the militia deserve the severest criticism for not investigating said outrage and punishing the perpetrators.

Fourth—A large amount of money belonging to the State has been extravagantly expended in the active service of the militia without any practical benefit to the State, and the only result a deficit in the State treasury.

Fifth—The First Kentucky regiment was in excellent condition under the command of Col. Haldeman. Col. Haldeman and other officers in command of the regiment were practically forced to resign in order that Republicans might be appointed in their places, and the First Kentucky made a part and parcel of the Republican machine of the city of Louisville, and the regiment today is in a wholly disorganized condition.

Sixth—It is recommended that a committee of three hold-over Senators be appointed for the purpose of examining into the laws governing the militia of the State and of submitting to the next General Assembly a report embodying a systematic
