WHERE THEY PLAY TODAY

Cairo at Owensboro.
Paducah at Henderson.
Vincennes at Hopkinsville.
Harrisburg at Clarksville.

The first game on the local ground with Vincennes Tuesday was won by Hopkinsville in a slow and uninteresting game. The attendance was poor and disappointing. One of Vincennes runs was a fluke home run by Adams, the ball being lost in the weeds near the left field fence. Another was due to a wild throw over second by Dayton. The local battery was Pearson and Dayton, that of the visitors Rinehart and Ashby.

Jimmy Jones, a new Mogul who played in the right field, missed one chance in his territory but hit the ball hard. He bids fair to be an improvement over Hurless who has been released.

The score was: R. H. E.
Hopkinsville.....7 12 3
Vincennes.....3 10 0

The second game of the Vincennes series was played yesterday and the third will be today.

The game at Vincennes forfeited last week by the non-arrival of the Moguls has been set aside. Their train was three hours late and it was impossible to make the connection. This corrects the table of today and with a game won again puts Hopkinsville in the lead.

Mrs. Steger's Death.

Mrs. Eliza J. Steger died Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fount Allen, near Glenellen. She was one of the oldest and most popular women of that section. Mrs. Steger was the daughter of William and Polly Radford, and was born at Longview, Ky., on November 5, 1827. In 1857 she was married to David O. Steger and to this union five children were born, only two of whom survive, E. E. Steger, of near Hopkinsville, and Mrs. Fount Allen, with whom she had resided for a number of years. Mrs. Steger was a consistent member of the Locust Grove Baptist church. Funeral services were held by Rev. H. E. Gabby Saturday

Col. Sprouse's Success.

Col. O. G. Sprouse spent Sunday with his family here. He reports business to be very good at Hopkinsville and says he expects to have the largest department store there in the near future in the South. Col. Sprouse is one of the best merchants in the country and while his wonderful success in Kentucky has been no surprise to those who know his ability, competitors there are alarmed at his business-getting powers.—Robertson County News.

Bob Taylor Lives,

In the two bright and beautiful books just issued, "Lectures and Best Literary Productions," and "Life and Career" of Senator Robert Love Taylor, handsomely illustrated, you cannot hear again his voice or see the humorous curl of his lips, that convulsed a continent with laughter, but, within the covers of these volumes, are the pictures woven of his wondrous words, and, laughing through their sunny pages, are all of the inimitable stories which he told to the multitudes. In "Life and Career," pens of genius have traced his romantic life from its morning in "Happy Valley," through his young and roseate dreams, through stress and storm, through cheering throngs, and on into the waiting shadows, loved and laurel crowned.

We expect to sell millions of these books. First edition going fast.

Ralph Henry Barbour has a reputation for writing delightful romances, so when we say that he has excelled all his former efforts in his latest novel, "Lady Laughter"—published complete in the June Lippincott's—we realize that we are making a strong statement. But it's all true. "Lady Laughter" is both clever and funny. As for the heroine—well, the only reason there are so many bachelors in the world is because there aren't more girls like Betty. We appreciate her at once, and feel annoyed because the hero doesn't. He does later on, though. The scenes are laid in the Berkshires—that picturesque region so popular with summer pleasure-seekers.

There's an usually fine collection of short stories in this number. "The Middle-man," by E. F. Benson, amusingly describes how a "middle-man" skilfully "plucked" two unsuspecting victims, only to be even more skilfully plucked in turn. "Mr. Winkler's Signs," by Hattie C. Vaughn, is a humorous tale of a man's superstitions and how they got him into trouble. "A Lion with a Forked Tail," by Edith Robinson, is a modern exemplification of the old saw, pride goeth before a fall.
