ANNOUNCEMENTS

We are authorized to announce HON. DAVID H. KINCHELOE, of Hopkins county, as a candidate for Congress from the Second district, subject to action of the democratic primary August, 1914.

For Congress.

We are authorized to announce J. W. HENSON as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress for the Second Congressional District, subject to the action of the primary to be held in August, 1914.

James Henson, circuit clerk of Webster county, who skated out of a window at Dixon Nov. 17, died at Henderson Nov. 24, of concussion of the brain. He was on second-story skating rink.

Lieut. Hugh Kelly, U. S. A., of Louisville, Ky., (a son of Col. R. M. Kelly) and Lieut. E. L. Ellington, of North Carolina, fell from an army aeroplane at San Diego, Cal., and were killed Monday. The same day at Phantilly, France, M. Carbon fell from a monoplane and was killed. The fatalities in the army and navy now number 15 and the deaths over the world in five years have been 369, of which 199 have been this year.

The December American Magazine.

The most interesting contribution to the December American Magazine is a wonderful Christmas story entitled "Miracle Mary" by John A. Moroso, a New York newspaper man, in which moving pictures turn out to be the means of proving an innocent man's alibi—thus saving him from a long term in the penitentiary for a crime which he did not commit. David Warfield, the celebrated actor, writes in the same number an interesting account of his life. Peter Clark Macfarlane writes another article in his series entitled "These Who Have Come Back"—stories of men and women who, disgraced or failures at forty, have recovered their powers and become useful, respected members of society. This month Mr. Macfarlane's article is entitled "The Madonna From Whitechapel," and is the account of a lost woman who saved herself. Fiction of remarkable vitality and interest is contributed by Arthur Johnson, Hugh S. Fulton, Frank Barkley Conley, Henry Wallace Phil lips and Inez Haynes Gilmore. Humorous contributions are contributed by George Fitch, Stephen Leacock and James Montgomery Flagg. "Interesting People" department and "The Interpreter's House" are up to their usual standard of excellence.

Just Half in Bed.

Cyle, Ky—Mrs. I. A. Decker: "I recommend Cardui, the woman's tonic, to any woman in need of a remedy. For five years, I was unable to do my own work. Half my time was spent in bed. At last I tried Cardui. Now I am well and happy and can do my own work."

Don't suffer pain, headache, backache, and other womanly miseries, when your own druggist has on his shelf a remedy for such troubles—Cardui. Get a bottle for your shelf. As a general tonic, for weak women, Cardui has been found for 50 years to be the best thing that could take its place. Try it, it will help you.

JUST TWENTY DOLLARS EVEN

Great Detective Solved Problem, and All Physicians Had to Do Was Pay Up.

"Take a seat, doctor," invited the great detective.

"But how did you know I am a doctor?" asked his astonished visitor.

"By your sallow complexion and your general air of ill health," explained the great detective.

The doctor replaced his amazement and said, "Something has been worrying me all day. I don't know exactly what it is. That's the most worrisome part of it, and that's why I came to you. I haven't been able to sit still all day, and yet I don't know for the life of me what's the matter. Something is on my mind."

The great detective looked closely at his visitor's head, but not even a hair was there.

"No," he said. "You're wrong there. It must be somewhere else."

He pressed the tips of his fingers together until one of the nails cracked with a loud report. Then he said:

"You say you haven't been able to sit still all day?"

"No," replied the doctor, "nor in the morning, either."

"It is just possible," he said at length, "that there is a pin sticking in you somewhere."

The physician felt hastily, finally locating it just above his right knee, in the rear of his trousers, where it had been placed to hold a slight tear together.

"I owe you my gratitude," he said heartily. "I owe you—"

"Twenty dollars," said the great detective crisply.—Detroit Free Press.

KING TURKEY

ALWAYS OTHERS TO HELP

Thought for Those Who Are in Suffering at This Time of General Rejoicing.

This was the sweet, consoling word that came to a woman struggling with fresh bereavement at the Thanksgiving season. Instantly a well of thankfulness was unsealed in her own heart. All was not over, then! There was still something left to live for. Someone yet leaned on her. Someone turned to her for help and strength and comfort. It set a whole nest of singing birds caroling in the very ruins of her own happiness.

Does this not give us a hint how to comfort the sorrowful? "I don't want to be 'poor-deared!'" cried one whose best-beloved had been taken. "All I want on earth is just once more to hear him say, 'I need you!'" That comfort, alas! was nevermore to be hers, but time showed her a helpless worldful of people always saying it. It is the true soul-tonic. The solace of helping others is within the reach of every sufferer. Added to that is sometimes vouchsafed the reward hinted at in the beginning of this paragraph. Now and then someone will feel a warm throb of thankfulness toward us, and say so. It pays a thousand times for the little we are able to do out of our weakness. It is a thousand times better than sitting by life's wayside and holding out pitiful hands for beggars' alms of condolence and sympathy. Nobody wants to have anybody thankful to him, but it is a high form of happiness to know that someone is thankful for us.

For the Blessings Bestowed.

Thankfulness makes the ordinary and simple gifts of God shine with a morning luster, and exudes the rarest perfume. There are two ways to get rich—one is to increase the number of our dollars, the other is to increase the value of the few dollars we already have. Thankfulness raises the blessings we already have to higher degrees of worth, and thereby enriches us. If thankfulness does not create new roses, it paints a finer hue on those we have; if it does not load our table, it puts a delicious sweetness in our simple fare; if it does not clothe our bodies in costly raiment, it lends a sweetness of behavior to our bodies, so that we do not need such raiment to make us attractive. All other beautiful graces of Christian character are lacking in luster without the shining grace of gratitude to God for his abundant mercies and unceasing loving kindness to the children of men.

To the Discontented.

Let's be thankful, though care may be sent us to bed, For only the foolish may never know That trouble still breeds Wherever hope leads— That the fountains of joy are watered By the cleansing tears of woe.

Let's be thankful, though still There is many an ill That we long to have strength to clear away.

For contentment is shown By the foolish alone, By the weak who are merely waiting To return to their mother clay.

—S. E. KISER.

No One Too Poor to Give.

Something that rich, poor, weak, strong, young, old can give—thanks. Did you ever think of that?

Just as long as you have a heart—and may it be always—you can appreciate something and be grateful. Poor indeed is that man or woman who in this life can find nothing for which thanks can be given.

Reversible Thanksgiving

Let's be thankful for the coal that's in the cellar; If it's paid for, let's be thankful that it is; If it isn't, let's be glad the other fellow Must consider that the risk is wholly his.

Let's be thankful for the jobs at which we labor; If perchance they're not exactly what we'd like We may still be better fixed than some poor neighbor Who has just been bounced or called upon to strike.

Let's be thankful if our relatives are present To share the joy we have; but if they're not The case will then, of course, be still more pleasant, So either way we'll have a happy lot.

Let's be thankful if the grim old money question Doesn't serve to keep our turkey off the plate— In case it does, we won't have indigestion When the rich man's taking pills and blaming Fate.

—S. E. Kiser

Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving day is the day when every one says he is thankful, and wants to eat turkey to prove it. If you haven't anything else to be thankful for, you can be thankful you are not a turkey.

Thanksgiving day was first observed by the Pilgrims, who were thankful that they had five grains of corn apiece. In these extravagant times a man wouldn't be thankful if he had ten grains of corn—which shows conclusively that we are prosperous. The trusts are doing a noble work in remedying this evil condition.

People have various unreasonable reasons for being thankful on Thanksgiving day. Some men are thankful they took a wife, and some are thankful they didn't take two. Bachelor maids are thankful they are not "horrid bachelors," and a married woman is always thankful that her husband has a good wife. It is easy to be thankful if you go about it right.

But the thing people are most thankful for is their money—even though they came by it honestly. The more a man has, the more thankful he is that it isn't less, and the less a man has the less likely he is to be thankful because it isn't more. Be thankful, therefore, that you haven't too much to be thankful for. Turkey tastes all the better for coming but once a year.—Lippincott's.

Time to Banish Depression.
 You, perhaps, have had trials of the severest kind, rebuffs, bitter disappointments, trouble that has clouded life's sky, but there is a compensation in your life. The fine balance that nature shows in her great scheme does not stop with the natural world. It is continued on through evolutionary lines and finds compelling, convincing expression in our lives!

Trouble is sometimes another name for a character builder; disappointment frequently acts as a fine balance wheel. The story can be carried on in all directions of experience.
