ANNOUNCEMENTS

We are authorized to announce HON. DAVID H. KINCHELOE, of Hopkins county, as a candidate for Congress from the Second district, subject to action of the democratic primary August, 1914.

For Congress.

We are authorized to announce J. W. HENSON as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress for the Second Congressional District, subject to the action of the primary to be held in August, 1914.

The Ohio State Grange has endorsed Bryan for their President in 1916.

Editor John G. Pulliam has been elected Mayor of Harrodsburg by the City Council.

Mott Ayers has sold his interest in the Fulton Leader and retired from the newspaper business.

Mayor D. W. Gattin, of Madisonville, was re-elected and his salary raised from $75 to $600 a year.

The women's egg boycott at Kansas City has reduced prices from 40 cents to 32 cents a dozen for the cold storage eggs.

Custom officers at Juarez, Mexico, removed an expensive aigrette from the French hat of Mrs. Mars Cassidy, wife of a race horse man.

A namesake of the Kentuckian has been started in the mountains to be called the Jackson Kentuckian. Ryland C. Muick is the editor.

The rebel military commander at Juarez, Mexico, has issued an order fixing the death penalty for the sale or purchase of intoxicating liquors.

The Federal grand jury at Kansas City completed its investigation of Florida land companies by returning indictments against six officials of two companies.

In a special report the Department of Agriculture experts declared the shortage of eggs was due to bad weather last spring, which delayed the growth of pullets.

Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of Chicago schools, was defeated by a man, Jno. D. Shoop. She was elected on the first vote, but refused to accept because the vote was not unanimous.

There are only five third class cities in Kentucky—Owensboro, Henderson, Bowling Green, Frankfort and Middlesboro. The latter city has about 2000 less population than Hopkinsville. All of them are Democratic except Middlesboro.

EXCUSE MADE FOR THE BOY

Court Attendant Satisfied That the Ends of Justice Were Being Duly Observed.

A new court attendant was being drilled for his duties in general sessions not long ago. It was his first day in court. There came to the witness chair a dull-looking boy.

"Hold up your right hand," ordered the clerk.

The boy raised his left hand. "Hold up your right hand," commanded the judge. The boy did not understand. It was plainly a case of the obstruction of justice, and the attendant hurried to the witness stand. Then after a minute he leaned over the bench.

"It's all right, judge," he said in a raucous whisper, "de boy gimme his woid he's left-handed."—New York Evening Post.

New Zealand Moose Increasing. Moose in New Zealand are multiplying at a great rate. Moose liberated some years ago in George sound and the west coast of the country are affording ample proof of this.

ADORE CLERGYMEN.

The clergyman should be adored at a distance. He is but human, and a nearer relationship often furnishes too close a view of his purely human failings. Like the author and artist, when married he is a stay-at-home husband, and even the housemaid loses respect for the man who is turned out of the dining room in order that the breakfast table may be cleared, and is at the mercy of every domestic inconvenience. He forfeits the mystery and unfamiliarity which are valuable aids to love.—From "The Ideal Lover," in the Strand Magazine.

FOOLING THE WIVES.

"I gotta get home quick. My wife will give me fits for being late for dinner without an excuse."

"You ought to lay your plans better. My wife doesn't know yet that the baseball season is over."

ECONOMIC DEFENSE.

"Why don't women dress sensibly?"

"If they did, half the industries of the world would go to smash."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

NO RARA AVIS.

"How did she take her divorce?"

"Fine. She's the kind of woman that'll take anything she can get."—St. Louis Republic.

THE COMPROMISE.

"Will you corroborate my asseverations?"

"Naw, I can't do that, but I'll stand by what ye say."

BROUGHT ON TROUBLE.

"That fellow certainly is a dub."

"For why?"

"I told him I bossed my wife, and he went and told my wife."

THAT'S SURE.

"The aviator has done one thing."

"What's that?"

"Solved the problem of plane living and high thinking."

NOT ENTIRELY DISLIKED.

"Nobody likes Dobson."

"Oh, yes, somebody does."

"Who?"

"Dobson."—Boston Transcript.

"THE DIVORCE QUESTION" BY WM. ANTHONY MCGUIRE.

The Catholic Church's firm stand on the subject of Divorce is ardently championed in the "Divorce Question" which will be presented at Holland's Opera House Wednesday night, Dec. 17, by the National Play Co.

The author, William Anthony McGuire, shows a thorough knowledge of his subject and has staged a most realistic picture of those who strive to defy society and in an admirable manner presents his side of the question long discussed.

His belief is that divorces do not remedy marital woes inasmuch as the children's future should be taken into consideration and in his intensely interesting human drama illustrates by the absence of a father's guiding hand—a mother's tender care which is the child's inheritance by right, the moral and physical ruin brought upon the children by practical abandonment and neglect.—Advertisement.

Origin of The Thimble.

The modern thimble dates from 1684, when the goldsmith Nicholas Benschoten, of Amsterdam, sent one as a birthday present to a lady friend with the dedication: "To my froww van Renselaer, this little object which I have invented and executed as a protecting covering for her industrious fingers."

The invention proved such a success that all who saw it tried to obtain similar ones, and the goldsmith had enough to do to supply them. An Englishman named John Loing took one specimen home with him and copied it by thousand.

At first thimbles were rather costly and only well-to-do people could afford them, but afterward when made of lead and other common metals by machinery they became very cheap.

The Dutch fingerhat (finger hood) became in England the "thumb bell," from its bell-like shape. It was originally worn on the thumb, says the Ave Maria, to parry the thrust of the needle pointing through the stuff, and not, as at present, to impel it.

Fashion in thimbles is very luxurious in the east. Wealthy Chinese ladies have thimbles carved out of mother of pearl, and sometimes the top is a single precious stone. Thimbles with an agate or cynx mounted in gold are often seen, as well as thimbles incrustated with rubies. The queen of Siam is possessed of a thimble in the form of a lotus bud, with her name exquisitely worked in tiny diamonds around the margin.—Catholic Telegraph.

Worth Knowing.

The war records of our Presidents were as follows:

Revolutionary War—Washington, Monroe and Jackson.

War of 1812-15—Jackson, W. H. Harrison, Tyler, Taylor and Buchanan.

Black Hawk War—Lincoln, Mexican War—Taylor, Pierce and Grant.

Civil War—Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, Benjamin Harrison and McKinley.

War with Spain—Roosevelt.

Singularly Productive Tree.

Perhaps the most productive of all trees is the carnamba tree, similar to the palm which flourishes along the Rio Grande. When it is young it produces vinegar, while the roots have a taste similar to sarsaparilla. The branches give forth nuts which when roasted can be used as coffee. The tree's wood is serviceable to make musical instruments. Lastly there is a wax extracted from it that is used to make candles.

Gave Himself Away.

The unaccustomed gentleman attended the church service. And after it was over the pastor hastened down to shake hands. "I liked your sermon immensely!" said the new attendee, having been nudged by his wife. "I am more than pleased," beamed the parson. "Which part did you like best?" "That part where I dreamed I had a million dollars!" said the new member ere his wife had a chance to nudge him again.

Speechless For Thanks.

Mena, Ark.—"I find Cardui to be all you represent," writes Mrs. H. B. York, of this city. "I suffered from womanly ailments, for nearly two years, before I tried Cardui. I have been so relieved since taking it. I cannot say enough in its praise. It has done me a world of good, and I recommend Cardui to all women." Cardui is over 50 years old, and the demand is greater today than ever. Cardui is the standard tonic medicine for women of every age. Would you like to be well and strong? Then take Cardui. Its record shows that it will help you. Begin today. Why wait? Advertisement.

Lectures Nearly Over.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 10.—Next week will close the activities of farmers' institute workers for the year 1913. Institutes will be held at Cadiz and Prestonsburg on December 15 and 16, at Pembroke and Pikeville on December 17 and 18 and at Ekton and Greenup on December 19 and 20.
