SPECIAL TO WOMEN

The most economical, cleansing and germicidal of all antiseptics is

Paxtine

A soluble Antiseptic Powder to be dissolved in water as needed.

As a medicinal antiseptic for douches in treating catarrh, inflammation or ulceration of nose, throat, and that caused by feminine ills it has no equal. For ten years the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. has recommended Paxtine in their private correspondence with women, which proves its superiority. Women who have been cured say it is "worth its weight in gold." At druggists. 50c. large box, or by mail, The Paxton Toilet Co., Boston, Mass.

ALFALFA SILAGE FOR STEERS

Animals at California Experiment Station Made Satisfactory Gains and Brought Profit.

California experiment station made silage out of their first cutting of alfalfa last summer. The field was foul with weeds, there being much foxtail which was nearly ripe, with heads already hard. It was decided that the cutting was practically valueless for hay, and therefore the crop was put into the silo.

The steers were fed on rolled barley, alfalfa hay, and the alfalfa silage. In two months they made a satisfactory gain, and were sold at a profit of about $5 per head.

The silage as fed out was about half foxtail, but it was always eaten up clean. The experiment shows that silage may be made from weedy alfalfa which would make but inferior hay, that such silage will be eaten without waste, and that it can be used as a supplementary food for fattening on alfalfa hay and barley.

It is suggested that where the first cutting of alfalfa containing foxtail is to be used for silage, the work should be done before the foxtail boards become hard.

Life Need Not Be Monotonous.

It is sometimes said that to the young the future all looks glowing and glorious, while as age creeps on the expectation of anything more than a repeated monotony dies gradually away. It certainly would not be thus were life's experience read aright, each year brings to each life some new joy or sorrow, some fresh idea or experience. If these are incorporated into our lives so that we discover their meaning and learn their lessons, each year will find our characters firmer and stronger, our thoughts clearer and deeper, our hearts fuller and richer, and our expectations purer indeed, but also larger and more trustworthy. Only those with shallow minds or deadened energies or selfish hearts talk of the monotony of life.

Words in Italics in Bible.

Words in the Bible printed in Italics indicate that the words so printed do not rightly form a part of the original text, but were adopted by the translators to make the sense of the original clear. As used in the Bible Italics have no relation to the common practice of using them for the purpose of emphasizing certain words. In the early history of printing those portions of a book not properly belonging to the main work, such as introductions, prefaces, indexes and foot notes, were printed in Italics, the text itself being in Roman.

TWO CLASSES OF THINKERS

Bodies That Have Been Alluded to as the Tender-Minded and the Tough.

Professor James of Harvard went to divide philosophers into two classes, the tender-minded and the tough-minded. At times he varied the phraseology by referring to them as the thick and the thin; at other times as the tenderfooted and the Rocky mountain tough.

The tender-minded are, according to Professor James, the philosophers of a speculative turn, the rationalists, "going by principles;" the tough-minded are the empiricists, "going by facts." Further, the tender-minded are intellectualistic, idealistic, optimistic and dogmatic; the tough-minded are materialistic, pessimistic and skeptical.

If we are to believe James, there is little love lost between these two classes of thinkers. "The tough think of the tenders as sentimentalists and softheads. The tender feel the tough to be unrefined, callous or brutal."

The tender-minded spin their fine cobwebs of theory, but the tough-minded look abroad "on the colossal universe of concrete facts, the awful bewilderingments, the surprises and cruelties and the wildness things show," and at least face all that, if they can't explain it.

LEARNING TO BE INCREASED

Or Shall the World More Widely Diffuse the Knowledge Already Gained?

Two purposes were prescribed for the Smithsonian institution by its founder—"the increase and diffusion of knowledge." Which of these aims is the more important?

Shall we stop finding out new things until every living man knows about the old things—or shall we devote ourselves to investigating the universe and not bother ourselves about whether anyone knows or cares? Doubtless either of these extremes would be foolish; but which way shall we tend?

This question is suggested by a series of communications addressed to the editor of Science. In one of these the charge is made that the western universities, as distinguished from the eastern, neglect scientific research, and even discourage it, while university extension work is encouraged and rewarded. In other words, the diffusion of knowledge is favored rather than its increase.

The reason, we are told, is that the more popular work means popular approval, followed by legislative appropriations.—Literary Digest.

POOR SPORT.

"Look here!" cried the angry farmer. "What do you mean by fishing in this creek? Don't you see the property's poster?"

"Yes," replied the discouraged angler. "If I had been posted myself, I never would have tried to catch any fish here."

NOT WORTH QUARRELING OVER.

"Dubbs and his wife never have any arguments about money matters."

"How fortunate."

"Yes. Mrs. Dubbs says that a mere trifle like Dubbs' salary should not be allowed to come between them, so she takes it all."

ONE SELDOM CALLED.

"What sort of place do you intend to visit this summer?"

"I want altitude. I'm going to a hotel that is built on a bluff."

"My friend, the average summer hotel is not only built on a bluff, but is run that way."

UNDESERVED CENSURE.

"I dare say you haven't worked in years," remarked the hard-featured housewife.

"You do me a great injustice, mum," said the tattered tourist. "I'm recuperating right now from a sentence of six months at hard labor."

NO DOUBT OF IT.

"Was there running water in the house you looked at?"

"Sure. Every floor in it was leaking."

CAUGHT AT IT.

"What's become of Bill?"

"Oh, he opened a store."

"Doing well?"

"No; doin' time."

Here's The Best

EVERY CONTESTANT A WINNER
AND NOBODY CAN LOSE

Trip To Mammoth Cave
Will Not Cost A Cent

The Kentuckian has put on a subscription campaign which began July 19, which every contestant will be a prize winner, in which the contestants can work together and help each other and all unite in a common purpose. The plan is a simple one and the proposition is that every lady or girl who secures a club of 20 subscribers to the Kentuckian at $2 for a year's subscription, or a larger number of shorter term ones to make $40, will be given a FREE TRIP to MAMMOTH CAVE, all expenses paid, occupying two days.

Trips to the Cave are always fascinating, especially to the young, and everybody desires at some time to see this greatest of all caverns, the one thing above all else that makes Kentucky a mecca for tourists the world over. Even those who have seen the Cave before find something attractive in visits again and again. The Cave is so vast, its wonders so great and its attractions so numerous that one never tires of inspecting its miles and miles of underground passages.

There is not a neighborhood in Christian or adjoining counties in which some young lady cannot in one day secure 20 subscribers who will pay for a year's subscription to the Kentuckian and the deed is done, and this wonder of the world may be visited without its costing her one cent. The rules of the contest will be easily understood and capable of no understanding.

Subscriptions May Be Sent In at Any Time
From Now Until September 15.

They may be for a year or fractional parts of a year to make up $40 in each club. They may be for one year or more than one, not to exceed 5 years to any one subscriber.

Voluntary renewals in the office cannot be credited to clubs. The young ladies may secure rewards but must bring or send subscriptions in themselves.

Should any girl fail to collect a full club, she may transfer her strength to some friend, or by paying the amount necessary to complete the cost of the trip in cash, she may go on the same basis as the others.

The Contest Began Monday, July 19th And Will Close September 15th.

There will be no restrictions or limitations as to the territory. Get subscribers anywhere in or out of the county.

Only such payments on subscriptions as are made on or after July 19 will be included in clubs.

The contest will be conducted by the Business Manager of The Kentuckian and the names of those who desire to enter the contest for the trips offered will be given every possible assistance in getting up clubs.

In former contests many girls who did effective work in securing subscribers failed to secure awards, because others got more subscribers. This time every dollar collected represents a fixed value and every girl who gets up a club will be sure of the trip. The more the merrier. We would like to take 100 girls on this great outing.

WHO WILL BE THE FIRST?
ALL FOR A RECEIPT BOOK NOW AND GET BUSY. SEE IF YOU CANNOT CINCH THE TRIP BY ONE DAY'S WORK.
