CAT FEEDS STARVING DOG

Strange Pair Live Eight Days on Dried Elk Meat Which Pussycat Furnished Companion.

Deputy Game Warden Brown is looking for the hunter who killed an elk in the foothills of the Olympics and left the greater portion of it dried in a small cabin, says the Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Brown's discovery of the elk meat deals with the wanderings of an Alredale dog.

Brown borrowed the dog from a friend when he started into the hills on a general hunt for lawbreakers, and when well up in the mountains he lost the dog. He failed to locate the animal, and later came to town, thinking it had returned to its home. When he arrived he found that the dog had not appeared, so he started out again to try to locate the animal.

Brown luckily stumbled upon a small cabin well up in the mountains, and here found the dog. Brown investigated the shack and found it well supplied with elk meat, but on the rafters was a small domestic cat that had become wild. The dog had come across the cat, which had sought refuge in the rafters of the cabin. When hungry the cat ate the dried elk meat and dropped pieces to the dog below, both living for more than eight days in this manner.

Rheumatic Pain Stopped.

The drawing of muscles, soreness, stiffness and agonizing pain of Rheumatism quickly yield to Sloan's Liniment. It stimulates circulation to the painful part. Just apply as directed to the sore spots. In a short time the pain gives way to a tingling sensation of comfort and warmth. Here's proof—"I have had wonderful relief since I used your Liniment on my knee. To think one application gave me relief. Sorry I haven't space to tell you the history. Thanking you for what your remedy has done for me."—James S. Ferguson, Philada., Pa. Sloan's Liniment kills pain 25c at Druggists.—Advertisement.

SYMPATHY FOR A BACHELOR

Never Since History of Man Began Has He Been So Marked Man He Is Today in Europe.

If single men continue to be singled out as victims for tax collectors and recruiting sergeants, the great trinity of human rights will be changed to read, "life, liberty and matrimony." For where can the bachelor find happiness in a world that marks his income as the first to be seized by a rapacious state and his precious person as the first to be exposed to the enemy's bullets?

Never since the history of man began has the bachelor been the marked man he is today, a writer in the Brooklyn Eagle asserts. In England Premier Asquith's famous promise was given to the married men, the conscription bill excepts the married men, the state supports the wives and children of enlisted married men. In France the state supports not only the legally established wives but those whom soldiers acknowledge as their "wives," the assumption being that the legal ceremony will follow when the war comes to an end. Thus even the man who promises to become married is favored by the state.

And as for taxes, the bachelor has long been the victim of his own discretion. Even Uncle Sam, who is ordinarily the least given to making invidious distinctions among his citizenry, grants the married man a $4,000 exemption on the income tax. In Europe the discrimination against the bachelor is much more marked—so marked, in fact, that bachelorhood is more of a luxury than a limousine.

HIS JEWELRY SCATTERED

"His girl is wearing his ring."
"And his uncle has his watch."

NOT QUITE CLEAR.

"Did I understand you to say that a change of climate had been recommended for you?" asked the bank president.

"Yes, sir," replied the cashier. "That is why I desire an earlier vacation than usual."

"Um-yes," mused the b. p. "By the way, who recommended the change, your physician or your attorney?"

WHAT DID HE MEAN?

Wife—And will you miss me while I am away, dear?

Husband—You bet I will.

Wife—Well, that's some consolation to me.

Husband—And to me also, dear.

Wife—But why to you?

Husband—It will be a consolation to have the pleasure of missing you.

CRUEL NECESSITY.

"Love is all in all, says this poet."

"In a fine frenzy, no doubt."

"You can't always tell. He may have written this sonnet to pay the butcher."

THE USUAL WAY.

Biggs—I hear you are financially embarrassed; is it true?

Diggs—No; my creditors seem to be a little embarrassed, but I'm not.

ITS IDEA.

"I see where they are making paper out of brewery hop refuse."

"That shows how modern invention keeps on the jump."

CYNICAL EXPLANATION.

"Truth is stranger than fiction," said the serious citizen.

"Naturally," replied Senator Sorghum. "It's so much scarcer."

APPROPRIATE REMEDY.

"Doctor, what shall I take for that run-down feeling?"

"I should recommend a pick-me-up."
