THOMAS JEFFERSON AS A SURVEYOR

The "Page of Presidents" is a Dignified High Tone Proposition—$15.00 Gold Prize.

While Colonel Roosevelt was president, he attended a good roads convention at Charlottesville, Va. With other visitors he was driven to Monticello, Jefferson's old home. In driving up the mountain, the road which is S shaped, a team can be driven up as fast and with as much ease as it can be going down the mountain. Colonel Roosevelt noticed this, and asked "I wonder who surveyed this road?" When told Thomas Jefferson did himself, he said, "well Tommy was a 'bully' surveyor."

The Kentuckian's "Page of Presidents" is easy sailing both ways. Interesting to the readers and of indispensible value to the advertiser, as it is one time the advertiser will be told his advertisement is read. Investigate the merits and place an ad on the page and be pleased one time.

If you wish an ad that people will not only read, but will tell you they read it, then place one on the "Page of Presidents." If our man fails to call, telephone The Kentuckian office and he will be sent to see you to explain the merits of this high tone page.

After Mr. Taft was elected the students of Yale banqueted him—not one could name his cabinet.

Don't forget the Kentuckian's $15 gold prize.

Christianity and the War.

The new emphasis on religion in Europe is well known. Each potentate claims God on his side, troops pray before entering battle, it is reported that hundreds of thousands of Testaments are being thumb-marked in the trenches, revivals are on in France and Bulgaria, liquor and luxury have been tabooed, and the simple life, which is psychologically related to the religious life, has been made the rule.

It is difficult, if not impossible, to define the underlying cause of so subtle a thing as a world-wide spiritual renaissance. Perhaps the coming of the war and the revival at the same time are only a colossal coincidence. On the other hand, there is ground for the theory that the horrors and desolation of war have solemnized the world and have had the effect of driving the people back upon divine security.

At any rate the renaissance is on and missionary Christendom is faced with the greatest opportunity in its history.—From "The World's New Turning to Christianity," by Willard Price, in the American Review of Reviews for June, 1916.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S STORM.

A heavy rain storm visited this section Friday night but no damage of consequence has been reported, except a stable struck by lightning and burned down on Will Wood's farm, near Cerulean. The loss was about $500. The lightning struck a barn on W. L. Gore's farm, near town, but did not set it on fire or do serious damage.

STORM AT MORGANFIELD

Bud Norton Caught in Barn Wreck, May Die, Buildings Unroofed, Trees Uprooted.

Morganfield, Ky., June 2.—All wire communications with this city were broken off at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the severe electrical storm that swept the place, accompanied by hail and a high wind. Such damages as have been reported by messengers seem to indicate extensive property losses in the surrounding districts.

"Bud" Norton, brother of George Norton, farmer near here, was caught in the timber of a barn when it collapsed in the wind and it is feared that his skull may have been fractured.

The largest single property loss so far reported was the wrecking of one end of the tippie building and a side of the boiler room of the Hercules Coal company, when the company's smoke stack blew over onto them. The warehouse belonging to Lee Redford was also razed by the wind.

Trees by the hundred suffered during the storm. In one instance a cherry tree a foot in diameter was uprooted and borne a distance of 80 feet. Three chimneys, on the homes of William Dyer, J. G. Taylor and John Sugg, were scattered over the roofs and the home of Mrs. Kate Greenwell was unroofed. The accompanying hail shattered window glasses in many instances.

Planters' Association.

Paducah, Ky., June 5.—Reorganization of the Planters' Protective Association, which disbanded about a year ago, is to be effected in a short time, according to W. R. Nagel, president of the People's Warehouse Company of Paducah. At a meeting of prominent tobacco men held in Clarksville, Tenn., this action was decided on, and members will be enlisted at once. A committee was named to secure members, and it is intended to elect officers next fall. Improvement in conditions generally and the favorable outlook for tobacco are the reasons for reorganization. Business men throughout the dark tobacco district realize that the organization is a great advantage to the growers and they are lending encouragement to the movement.

Suggesting Pain and Disease.

Grown people often aggravate the little aches and pains of children by making too much of them. It would be better if they would turn the mind of a child off from most of his troubles and ailments. The principle applies just as well to youth as it does to childhood. It will be granted that when a child has a serious complaint, it ought to be discovered early. But the best way for the parent to discover or it is to learn the signs of serious disturbances so that he can read them without asking the child whether he "feels bad." A parent ought to be able to tell when a child has a fever or when he is not being properly nourished, or when he has a long-continued pain due to malfunction of any kind. The less said to the child about these things, the better, unless his case is unusual. The child's health should be in the keeping of parent, teacher, and medical inspector. He should follow, as a matter of habit, a healthful regime in respect to food, exercise, cleanliness, etc., and then his thoughts should be kept on optimistic and constructive instead of gloomy and introspective matters.—Mother's Magazine.
