MOSBY.

When John S. Mosby, a young Virginia lawyer, at the outbreak of the civil war enlisted as a private, he had absolutely no military training. By his audacity, resourcefulness and tireless love of adventure, he became one of the south's most effective cavaliers. He and Fitz Lee were "Jeb" Stuart's two favorites.

As a scout and a raider, operating in the northern tier of Virginia, Mosby made his name hated and feared by northern generals. Whether at the head of his picked body of horsemen, the "Partisan Rangers," or a battalion of Virginia cavalry, he was always on the move, always preparing surprises. If he was hard pressed or in serious danger he disbanded his men, to meet them again at a given place.

It was Mosby's boast that he held receipts for over 6,000 Federal dollars taken by himself and his troopers. He destroyed and captured millions of dollars' worth of supplies. In one raid he captured two Federal paymasters with $168,000 in money, cut Sheridan's railroad communications, burned a large quantity of rolling stock and bagged a northern brigadier general.

In the north, Mosby was branded as a lawless and barbarous guerilla and accused of robbery and murder. Custer threatened to hang him and all his men if captured. From the nature of his methods as a leader of irregulars, it was inevitable that he should be denounced as little better than a bandit, but severe retaliation was the order on both sides, and cavalry raiders, north and south, were not over nice in their regard for property. Even at their worst, Mosby's war methods were mild compared with what Europe has experienced in the last twenty-two months.—New York World.

CELEBRATES CENTENNIAL.

Bro. Adrian C. Humphreys, Past Master of Lewis Lodge No. 191, and the writer attended the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of Hopkinsville Lodge No. 37, at Hopkinsville, Ky., on Monday, May 22. This celebration was opened by a day of thanksgiving and religious services on Sunday, May 21, the lodge attending the Christian Church in a body, where Rev. Bro. J. N. Jessup, a member of No. 37, delivered an able sermon on one hundred years of Masonry. On the morning of Monday, May 22, the members of No. 37 and visiting brethren from some five or six adjoining counties assembled in the city's beautiful new Peace Park, and, headed by the Third Regiment band, paraded the principal thoroughfares of the city and were then conveyed in automobiles to the Pennyroyal Fair Grounds, where good fellowship, barbecued meats, excellent cakes, pies and everything else that goes to make up a good dinner, and some oratory intermingled, thus making the day one long to be remembered by those who were fortunate enough to attend.

Mr. Chas. M. Meacham, ex-Mayor of Hopkinsville, presided as master of ceremonies, and took occasion to outline something of the progress of Hopkinsville Lodge since its institution. Bro. L. K. Wood, who was recently raised by the writer in Clinton Lodge No. 82, delivered a masterly address of welcome to the visitors. Bro. Adrian C. Humphreys delivered a splendid address, taking for his subject, "Our Duty to Our Masonic Wards After They Have Left the Home." Bro. John D. Shaw, of Cadiz Lodge No. 121, closed the services with a beautiful tribute to the progress of Masonry, not only in Kentucky, but throughout the Union.

After the services at the Fair Grounds a party composed of John D. Shaw, W. Rob. Shaw, Ross A. Rogers, Dr. Sanders, Geo. M. Clark, Hunter Wood, J. J. Metcalfe and the writer, accompanied Bro. A. M. Henry on a beautiful automobile ride through the southern part of Christian county, or the "Pearl of the Pennyroyal," to his beautiful country home, where his estimable wife and daughter had prepared an excellent dinner, and with it that hospitality with which every Kentuckian is so familiar.

At 8 p. m. Hopkinsville Lodge was opened in the Master Mason's degree by its Master, Bro. Edwin Walpole, after which the writer was requested to preside, and, assisted by Bro. A. C. Humphreys and the officers of No. 37, conferred the Master Mason's degree upon one candidate. The communication was featured by a record-breaking attendance, with some ten or twelve neighboring lodges represented in good numbers. The celebration was quite a success, and the committee in charge deserve great praise for their untiring efforts and well-laid plans to make all visitors feel at home, and made the members of No. 37 proud of their lodge, its officers and their city.

Hopkinsville is the old home of Bro. Adrian C. Humphreys, and he had the pleasure of seeing and greeting many of the friends of his boyhood days, and all were gratified at his progress in Masonry as well as his success in his chosen profession of law. The writer also had the pleasure of meeting many friends that he had not seen for thirty years. I want to thank Bro. R. A. Rogers, Mrs. Rogers, Misses Fannie and Nora Rogers, Bro. E. C. Frye, Mrs. Frye, Bro. A. M. Henry, Mrs. Henry and Bro. George M. Clark for courtesies extended the writer while in Hopkinsville.—Grand Master T. J. Adams in Masonic Home Journal.

Phil Brown Interviewed.

Chicago, June 5.—Phil H. Brown, of Hopkinsville, Ky., a half delegate-at-large from that state, was a caller at the Fairbanks headquarters Friday. "I am for Fairbanks for president first, last and all the time," said Brown. "His interest in the colored people, to which race I belong, would not permit me to be otherwise."

Brown reports a remarkable sentiment for Fairbanks among the colored voters of Kentucky.

FEES THAT ARE FEES

Sheriff and County Attorney of Fayette Get $36,000 Each.

By an agreed judgement entered in the Fayette county court Friday the L. V. Harkness $4,000,000 estate will pay back taxes to the county of $100,000; to the schools of the county $36,250 and to the State $103,750.

In addition to this $240,000, it will pay a penalty of twenty per cent., or $48,000, of which the State will receive $12,000 and Sheriff Thomas C. Bradley $36,000. Out of the sheriff's share must be paid the costs of the action and the fees of his attorneys, among whom is George C. Geas, assistant revenue collector.

Of the $240,000, fifteen per cent or $36,000, goes to County Attorney Hogan Yancey. The total amount of which the estate must pay over within thirty days is $288,000.

One of the big results of the compromise which is not written in the judgment is the elimination of the suit of Walton Byars, of Louisville, revenue agent for the State-at-large, who sued for five years taxes on securities which he valued at $177,082,000.

Mr. Byars' suit is not mentioned in the settlement, but it places him in the attitude of claiming taxes that already have been settled, and it is said that his case can have no standing in court. However, he has pending an independent suit against Harry S. Harkness individually for five years back taxes on securities which he values at four million dollars.

BAPTIST REVIVAL

Dr. Jenkins Will Arrive From the South To-night.

The revival at the First Baptist church began Sunday with preaching by the pastor, Rev. C. M. Thompson. Last night the service was mostly a song service by Mr. and Mrs. Butler, the singers. Rev. M. A. Jenkins will arrive to-night, probably in time to preach. If not, Dr. Thompson will take charge of the meeting and there will be two services daily.

Camden To Breed Herefords.

Woodford county is fast becoming the Herefordshire of America. In addition to Col. E. H. Taylor, Jr., of Frankfort, who owns the finest herd of Hereford cattle in the world at his farm in Woodford, former Senator J. N. Camden has decided to go in for Hereford breeding and has wired to the agent who represents Col. Taylor in England, home of the breed to purchase him some of the best thoroughbred stock to be found there. It is understood he will secure six cows to start with.

His Verdict.

At the meeting of the Afro-American Debating club the question of capital punishment for murder occupied the attention of the orators for the evening. One speaker had a great deal to say about the sanity of persons who thus took the law into their own hands. The last speaker however, after a stirring harangue, concluded with great feeling: "Ah dis agrees wif capital punishment an' all dis heah talk 'bout sanity. Any pusion 'at c'mits murder ain't in a sanitary condition."

Death at State Hospital.

John McLary, of Allen county, a patient at the Western State Hospital for the past twenty years, died at the institution Saturday of chronic endocarditis. He was 54 years old. Interment in the hospital burying ground.

Death Follows Operation.

Farmers to Be Given Welcome in Louisville This Week.

Entertainment for a large representation of farmers from Western Kentucky, who will stop over in Louisville for a day or so on their way back home after a visit to the agricultural districts in the eastern section of the State, is being planned on an elaborate scale by the special committee of the Louisville Board of Trade.

It is quite probable, that the Bourbon Stockyards will be visited for an inspection of the live stock markets, and then it is said to be almost certain that they will be taken around many fine farms in Jefferson county.

The object of the trip into Eastern Kentucky is to bring the agricultural men together to form acquaintances and for an exchange of ideas on practical and profitable farming. On what will be known as "The Farmers' Special," they will leave Hopkinsville June 6, and on the run to Louisville will pick up farmers and agricultural agents all along the route.—Farmers Home Journal.

DR. WAITE'S POLITENESS.

Dr. A. W. Waite has been sentenced to the chair the week of July 10. When Justice Shearn concluded the sentence Waite delivered a short speech, in which he expressed appreciation of the manner in which his trial was conducted, and his thanks to the court, the prosecutors and to his own attorney. Dr. Waite said he was very sorry for his crimes and for the trouble and suffering he had caused others. He declared that he hoped by surrendering his body for punishment he would compensate in some small degree for the deaths of his victims.

BEAVERS DAM A STREAM

Reappearance of Little Water Animals After Many Years.

The beaver, an animal that was supposed to have become extinct many years ago, has suddenly made its appearance in Hancock county by damming up Blackford creek, a stream of considerable size. Where they came from is a mystery, as one has not been seen in that section of the country in the last fifty years. But for the curiosity of a ten-year-old boy their discovery might not have been made for years.

Joe Wiles, a merchant and farmer, of the Chambers neighborhood, rented from his brother-in-law, Ira Chambers, a farm in the Blackford bottoms, which is seven miles south of Hawesville. Mr. Wiles decided to put the bottom land in corn and accordingly set to work to plow up the field. With him went his ten-year-old boy, who, hearing the roaring made by the water running over something, determined to investigate.

Quiet slipping thru the dense undergrowth, he made his way to the creek bank, thence up the creek a few hundred feet to the dam. Hurrying back to his father, he told an excited story of what he had seen, claiming to his father that someone had put a dam in the creek. Mr. Wiles decided to see what the boy had found, when to his astonishment he discovered a perfect dam across the creek five or six feet high and about forty feet long.

Willows had been cut along the creek by these industrious little fellows, woven together and plastered with mud in such a manner as to make the dam water-tight. A mason could not have done a better job with a trowel. The work is all new work, which shows that they have not been there any great length of time.

A drainage district has recently been established in this bottoms, but, as the new ditch will not go near the old creek at that place, the little beavers will not be disturbed, but will be watched with much interest.

Chipmunk is a Hermit. Evidently the chipmunk has no partner and will spend the winter in his subterranean retreat alone. I think this is an established chipmunk custom, rendered necessary, it may be, by the scant supply of air in such close quarters, three feet underground, and maybe under three or more feet of snow in addition. At any rate, the chipmunk, male and female, is a hermit, and there is no co-operation or true sociability among them. They are wonderfully provident and industrious, beginning to store up their winter food in midsummer, or as early as the farmer does his.—John Burroughs in Harper's Magazine.
