DEMOCRATIC TICKET

For President. WOODROW WILSON, of New Jersey. For Vice President. THOS. R. MARSHALL, of Indiana.

There will be no Progressive party ticket in Kansas this year. This was made known when it was announced that the ten presidential electors chosen at the State convention last month would not file their declarations.

Consul J. R. Sillman has arrived in Eagle Pass from Saltillo, coming by way of Monclova, owing to the cessation of railroad traffic between Monterey and Nuevo Laredo. He expects to remain there for several days. Mr. Sillman is the last American consul to leave Mexico.

Lieut. Immelmann, the famous German aviator, is reported killed. Immelmann had destroyed more of the entente allies' aeroplanes than any other German aviator except Captain Boelke, reported killed last week. Immelmann's score was 15, Boelke's 18.

The warmest race ever staged for the Republican nomination for Congress in the First District is promised in the coming primary election. Ex-Mayor Thomas N. Hazelip, of Paducah, aspires to the nomination and is being opposed by former Postmaster G. P. Thomas, of Cadiz.

An interpretation of the suffrage plank of the Democratic platform was sought from President Wilson by Mrs. D. E. Hooker, of Richmond, Va., acting as spokesman for the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage and the Virginia State Federation of Labor. She left the White House with the report that the President stated the plank meant the question should be decided by the States, not by Federal action, and still held to his refusal to urge the passage of the Susan B. Anthony suffrage amendment to the Constitution.

The second meeting of the First District Press Association will be held in Paducah, on Friday, June 30, at the Palmer House, and a big attendance is in prospect. The program committee, at its last meeting, announced five speakers for the occasion. W. O. Wear, veteran editor, will speak on "Forty Years in the Newspaper Business, and Why I Chose It As a Profession." O. J. Jennings, will talk on "How This Organization Can Help a Publisher Through Co-operative Buying." Ben F. Briggs, of Mayfield, will tell of "The Printer of Yesterday and Today," while John Lawrence will discourse on "What Matter Should Be Charged and What Published Free." The other speaker will be Mrs. Helen B. Walcott on "Home Economics."

Vote In 1912.

In the 1912 presidential election the voting for the candidates of the three parties stood as follows:

ELECTORAL VOTE.

Democratic..... 435 Republican..... 8 Progressive..... 88

POPULAR VOTE.

Democratic..... 6,286,214 Republican..... 3,486,922 Progressive..... 4,126,020

ACTOR OF THE OLD SCHOOL

Impressive, Not to Say Stilted, Dignity Was Chief Stock in Trade of One Thespian.

Everyone is familiar with the lament for the good old actors of a better day. Well, we had some of them (in the Booth-Barrett company)—the palmy-daisies. One, a most likable chap, whom I shall call Brown, was quite without pose, and made no pretense of taking his art too seriously. I believe he had been a bricklayer, and so he was cast for all the kings. He played the king of France in "Lear," and so always left the theater early. He once said to me: "Ed, how does the darned old play end, anyway?"

Brown also played King Louis in "Richelieu." Perhaps he was cast for these royal personages because he walked and talked in a most uncommon way. No one could accuse him of "crooking the pregnant hinges of the knee" for any purpose whatsoever. He did not walk; he stalked. One night in Salt Lake City we had a drunken man in the gallery who was inclined to be both talkative and critical. You may remember the scene where the king turns from Julie and says, "Speak to her, Baradas; I am not marble." Our inebriated critic leaned well forward, and in a voice audible to everyone in the theater, murmured, "Marble? No, d—n you, you're wood."—Edwin Milton Royle, in Harper's Magazine.

LION SOOTHED BY PERFUME

Angry Animal Gets a Whiff of Attar of Roses, and Almost at Once Becomes Peaceful.

A new method has been discovered for curbing the temper of lions. It is simple and safe, and, according to Charles Smith, boss of a Chicago menagerie, it is highly effective. It consists merely of permitting a lion to whiff attar of roses.

Smith gave a demonstration at the Coliseum, when he sprinkled the perfume over a handkerchief and entered the cage of King Leo. Leo was sleeping, but when the cage door was opened he prepared to spring. Smith dangled the handkerchief in front of the lion's nose, and Leo sniffed heavily. Then he buried his nose in the cloth. He seemed more contented than when sleeping, and permitted Smith to brush his mane and head and pat him on the back. Smith said he had been experimenting with perfume with the lions for several months, and is convinced that the aroma has a remarkably peaceful and soothing effect on wild beasts.

ENOUGH FOR BOTH.

Him—Darling, I would ask you to be my wife, but I'm afraid my income of only two thousand dollars a year would not be sufficient for us to get along on.

Her—Oh, yes it would. I can dress on fifteen hundred dollars a year, and we would have all the rest for our living and household expenses.

INHERITANCE.

Knicker—Jones has an awful memory.

Bocker—No wonder; his mother couldn't remember how to swim and his father was a witness in a lawsuit.

PREPAREDNESS.

Stella—In case of war, how many of your relatives would go?

Bella—Well, there are seventeen men to whom I have promised to be a sister.

ITS KIND.

"What would you suggest as selections for this concert for the coal workers?"

"Some songs in a minor key."

GETTING TOGETHER.

Harduppe—That fellow Flubdub must have money.

Borrowwell—So must I. Introduce me.—Town Topics.

TWO DOLLARS, PLEASE.

"What would you recommend for somnambulism, doctor?"

"Well, you might try insomnia."—Boston Evening Transcript.

DIVISION OF LABOR.

First Baby—Is your dad going to march for preparedness?

Second Baby—Yes, he walks while I prepare to yell.

Effect of One Bottle.

Crandall, Tex.—"After my last spell of sickness," writes Mrs. Belle Teal, of this city, "I remained very ill, and stayed in bed for eight weeks. I couldn't get up, all this time, and though my doctor came to see me every day, he didn't do me a y good. I had taken but one bottle of Cardui, when I was up, going everywhere, and soon I was doing all my house-work." Cardui helps when other medicines have failed, because it contains ingredients not found in any other medicine. Pure, safe, reliable, gentle-acting—Cardui is the ideal medicinal tonic for weak, sick women. Try it.—Advertisement.

LIVED AND DIED CONTEMNED

Doubtful if the Marquis of Clanricarde Had Even One Sincere Friend or Real Mourner.

There died in London the other day a very old and very rich man, respected for his age and honored for his riches, and hated for his rigid rule of the 57,000 acres he owned in Ireland. A great landlord he was—"a hand to get money and a safe to keep it"—and his experience on earth was of the sort that makes enormous land holdings an uncomfortable investment, in the British isles and elsewhere.

The marquis of Clanricarde left behind him more enemies than friends. The children and children's children of tenants on his estate were born with a dread of his name. He represented the type of landlordism which is now passing, and which will not come again.

Poor people turned into the road, dispossessed of even the miserable property that had been allowed to them in return for lives of drudgery; tenants persecuted on evidence that never would stand in court; happy and peaceable men and women driven to the desperation of want—all of that and more could take place on 57,000 acres in Clanricarde's day. Lord Clanricarde fought the Irish evicted-tenants bill in 1907—and was hated again.

It will take generations, perhaps centuries, for England to bury that past.

Fifty-seven thousand acres; 57,000 curses.—Boston Journal.

AT RENO, NEV.

He—Grace has promised to marry me in the fall.

She—But Grace is already married.

He—But she won't be in the fall.

FIRE HATCHES CROW'S EGGS.

Discovering a crow's nest atop a hemlock tree, Fritz Helmer climbed skyward 60 feet and got the three eggs in the nest. He placed the eggs in the pocket of his coat and on reaching home hung the coat near the open fireplace, in which large chunks of wood are burned all night in sour weather.

In the morning he heard a peculiar noise emanating from his coat, and on investigation found two young crows in his pocket. The third egg did not hatch out.—Winsted (Conn.) Dispatch Philadelphia Inquirer.

NOT ALWAYS.

Mrs. Slummer—My poor woman, does your husband always drink like this?

Mrs. O'Grady—No, mum. Sometimes he gets out of work.

HIS VILE DISPOSITION.

"Fine day, Mr. Gloom, and—"

"Well, you didn't make it, did you?" snapped J. Fuller Gloom. "Then, what are you bragging about it for?"—Judge.

TOUCH OF ROMANCE.

"I hear an organ grinder has located in Plunkville."

"Yep. We got a Latin quarter now."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

BIRD CARRIES AWAY DOLLAR

Swift Flier Makes Snappy Catch and Sails Away With University Man's Money.

"I'll bet you this dollar bill I can hit that blackbird over there," said Herbert Hill, a freshman at Rollands university, to a crowd of fellows as the bird fearlessly flittered near the group as if challenging the young men to capture it.

"Take you," said another, and Hill crumpled up the bill into a ball and hurled it at the blackbird.

Hill missed. The bird flew a few feet and then circled back, seized the dollar in its bill and disappeared through the park into a tree far away. Hill could not pay the bet. Somewhere inside a blackbird's nest or under a tree the bill eventually may be found.—San Bernardino (Cal.) Dispatch to Los Angeles Times.

Promoting Mental Hygiene.

Wide extension of the work of the national committee for mental hygiene has been made possible by a gift of $22,800 by the Rockefeller Foundation, announced at the recent annual meeting. Societies for mental hygiene are active in eleven states, including Illinois, and are being organized in seven others. Two state surveys of the care of the insane have been made during the last year and are about to be undertaken in seven other states.

In his report as medical director, Dr. Thomas W. Salmon showed that those charged with the care of the insane nowadays not only permit but welcome such expert studies. Doctor Salmon foresaw the day when no insane will be confined in county almshouses, jails and poor farms. The declining number of persons in almshouses, he held, is due in large measure to the increasing provision of hospitals for the insane and the feeble-minded. He laid emphasis on securing psychopathic hospitals in which the earliest and most efficient treatment can be provided for acute and recoverable cases of mental disease.

Third in Aviation Death Toll.

Aeronautics—that branch of it embraced by the aeroplane—claimed 197 lives in the year 1915, according to statistics recently compiled. These figures do not include the number of aviators who met death as the direct result of war.

The American loss of lives was fourteen, three of whom were passengers. The deaths reported in other countries were: Argentina, three; Belgium, five; Bulgaria, two; Chile, one; Denmark, two; England, 28; France, 29; Germany, eight; Italy, six; Sweden, three; Japan, five; Spain, 1.

Russian Capital Well Defended.

At Peterhof, fifteen miles west of Petrograd, the main road to the Russian capital has been prepared for fighting. Gun emplacements and trenches have been constructed in woods and gardens along the roadside, and platforms, reached by ladders of spikes driven into trunks of trees, have been built among the branches, so that machine-gun fire may sweep long stretches of the road.

Will Sloan's Liniment Relieve Pain?

Try it and see—one application will prove more than a column of claims. James S. Ferguson, Phila., Pa. writes: "I have had wonderful relief since I used Sloan's Liniment on my knees. Think after all these years of pain one application gave relief. Many thanks for what your remedy has done for me." Don't keep on suffering, apply Sloan's Liniment where your pain is and notice how quick you get relief. Penetrates without rubbing. Buy it at any Drug Store. 25c.—Advertisement.

8 PER CENT. INVESTMENTS

For persons having money to invest we can get 8 per cent. secured by first mortgage on Christian county farm lands. This beats 3 per cent. nearly three to one, and just as well secured.
