THE THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION OF THE NEW YORK WORLD IN 1917

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly. No other Newspaper in the world gives so much at so low a price.

The value and need of a newspaper in the household was never greater than at the present time. The great war in Europe is now half way into its third year, and, whether peace be at hand or yet be far off, it and the events to follow it are sure to be of absorbing interest for many a month to come.

These are world-shaking affairs, in which the United States, willing or unwilling, is compelled to take a part. No intelligent person can ignore such issues.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and the

HOPKINSVILLE KENTUCKIAN (Tri-weekly,) together for one year for $2.65. The regular subscription price of the two papers is $3.00

MARTYR'S BLOOD IN VEINS

American Descendant of Man Who Died for His Belief in England, Fighting on Flanders Front.

Something more than three and a half centuries ago Rev. John Rogers died a martyr in England for his religious beliefs. So bravely did he go to his death that his friend Bradford said:

"Valiantly did he break the ice" into a new world of thought.

Young John L. Rogers of Philadelphia is the twelfth generation from the martyr, and for two years he has been fighting with the American Legion in Flanders, writes Girard in the Philadelphia Public Ledger. In his last letter home to his father, Joseph Rogers, widely known as an editor and author, this young soldier said they had just got the news of America's entrance into the war.

"We put up the American flag and our band played 'Yankee Doodle,'" he said, and then added this:

"Tell the American boys to come on over. The water is fine."

And he is lugging upon his back 90 pounds of accoutrement while serving his gallant battery. But he declares he does it as easily as he used to carry his overcoat, so splendid has been the physical training. That is the sort of stuff martyrs' descendants are made of.

BASEBALL DISPLACES BULLET

Civilizing Influence of America's Great National Game Makes Itself Felt in Venezuela.

A company has been formed to erect a baseball grandstand at Caracas. Now that simple statement contains another proof of how American influence is permeating the far quarters of the world, diffusing the great blessings of civilization among the outlanders and doing good for all, observes the Omaha Bee.

Young men from Venezuela came to this country for education and took the game home with them. Its seed fell on fertile soil and now it is the national game. The humble citizen, who not so many years ago found his amusement as well as his occupation in trying to keep track of the lethal missiles promiscuously loosed by the contending factions of the perpetual revolution, gets his joy in listening to the crack of the home run or the smack of the swiftly driven ball into the glove of the fielder.

The technical language of the game is purely American, but what is said to the umpire is usually couched in unadulterated Venezuelan, a tongue unsurpassed for its ob-jurgatory potentiality. If we can keep them playing baseball we will probably not have to defend them soon from irate European creditors, as we have had to do several times in the past.

MADE A RUSH JOB OF IT.

"How can you say they married in haste? She is over thirty-five."

"I know, but it was the first chance she had to land a man and she took no chances on letting him escape."

NOT A PECUNIARY SUCCESS.

"They issued over a hundred invitations."

"Did they get many valuable presents?"

"No; they barely made expenses."

TIT FOR TAT.

He—I met the doctor down town and I treated him.

She—Then why don't you do as he does, make him pay for it?

AFTER A TILT.

Kid—What part of speech is woman, uncle?"

Uncle—She isn't any part of speech at all. She is the whole of it.

WHAT HE NEEDED.

"Being a poor young man, you need an economical wife."

"Not at all. What I need is a rich and liberal wife."

NOT TIME TO DIE YET.

Patient—Will I live, doctor?
Surgeon—You must! You have three more operations coming!—Life.

EASILY DONE.

"Mother, can't I have two pieces of pie today?"

"Yes, son; just cut the piece you have in two."
