Hopkinsville Tobacco Market.

(Reported by J. H. Eggleton, of Cummings & Eggleton Co., (incorporated); buyer on order of dealer in and handler of leaf tobacco.)

July 21st, 1898.—The market opened up this week with a decided advance over previous week. While at times it showed somewhat irregular, it was the impression of buyers and warehousemen that it was the best market for several weeks on all grades of Italian, Bremen, and wrapping kinds. Orders were especially good on all the French grades, of which would call the attention of our farmers to that fact, and it is to be hoped they will aim to make nothing else but good wrapper in 1898. The offering was again light. There is quite a contrast to the same time last year, when we were selling three days and now only part of two.

Some Matrimonial Misfits.

Last Sunday at the home of an uncle of the bride in Barbourville, Mr. Levy Van Bevers, a popular young merchant of Pineville, Ky., and Miss Kate Kellums, of Ferns-dale, were united in marriage.

Monday Mr. Van Bevers stated to his wife that he would go to Louisville to accept a position which had been tendered him by a Louisville firm. He bought a ticket for Mobile, Ala., and it is stated that he has gone to that place to enlist in the United States army.

Somewhat along the same line, the following matrimonial items were sent from Owensboro yesterday:

"Emma Morris, a good-looking young white woman, arrived here yesterday afternoon from Wanamaker, Webster county, on foot, dusty and travel stained, accompanied by a young man she said was Will David Holmes, of McLean county. They were in search of a preacher to marry them. Holmes left her on a corner, saying he was going for a license. He has not been seen since.

Rufus McCarty, aged thirty-five, said to be a married man, is under arrest at Rockport, Ind., with Dora Lewis, fourteen years, with whom he eloped from this city last night."

Better Opinion of Dudes.

One of the rough riders from the far west came into the war department on crutches and was warmly received everywhere. When somebody asked him in a contemptuous way, how he got along with the dudes in his regiment, he replied: "I used to despise dudes before I went to war, but now I like them. You never can tell what a man amounts to by the way he wears his clothes. In our regiment the worse the dude the better the fighter."—Washington Special.

MARK TWAIN'S STORY.

Scotch-Irish Minister's Misplaced Christening Address.

The following anecdote is related by Mark Twain. It is about a Scotch Irish minister who thought he was called to preach the Gospel, while he knew that he had the gift of oratory and he never missed opportunity to display it. An opportunity was afforded on occasion of a christening. There was a considerable audience, made up of the relative, friends and neighbors of the parent. The preacher began by saying: "We have met together, my friends on a very interesting occasion—the christening of this little child—but I can see a look of disappointment on your faces. Is it because this infant is so small? We must bear in mind that this globe upon which we live is made up of small things, infinitesimal objects, we might say. Little drops of water make the mighty ocean; the mountains which rear their hoary heads toward heaven and are often lost in the clouds are made up of little grains of sand. Besides, my friends, we must take into consideration the possibilities in life of this little speck of humanity. He may become a great astronomer and read the heavens as an open book. He may discover new stars which may be coupled with that of Newton and many other great discoverers. He may become a distinguished statesman and orator, and the strength of his intellect and eloquence may control the destinies of nations and his name be engraved upon monuments erected to perpetuate his memory by his admiring and grateful countrymen. He may become an author and a poet, and his name may yet appear among those now entombed at Westminster. He may become a great warrior and lead armies to battle and victory; his prowess and valor may change the map of Europe. Methinks I hear the plaudits of the people at the mention of his deeds and name. He may become—er—er—he—might—er—"

"Turning to the mother:
"What is his name?"
"The mother—'What is the baby's name?"
"Yes, what is his name?"
"The mother—'It's name is Mary Ann.'"—[Brooklyn Eagle.

RELIABILITY

is a quality some newspapers have lost sight of in these days of "yellow" journalism. They care little for truth and a great deal for temporary sensation.

It is not so with THE CHICAGO RECORD. The success of THE RECORD rests upon its reliability. It prints the news—all the news—and tells the truth about it.

It is the only American newspaper outside New York city that has its own exclusive dispatch boat service and its own staff correspondents and artists at the front in both hemispheres.

It is the best illustrated daily newspaper in the world. Its war news service is unapproachably the best. Says the Urbana (Ill.) Daily Courier:

"We read the war news in the other papers, then we turn to THE CHICAGO RECORD to see how much of it is true."

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison street, Chicago.
