AN IMPORTANT DECISION BY THE UNITED STATES COMMISSIONER OF AGRICULTURE ON BLEACHING FLOUR.

Dr. Wiley the United States Chemist, after having analyzed samples of bleached flour from all parts of the country, found by careful analysis that flour bleached by the Electrical process was an adulteration under the Pure Food Law, and Sec. Wilson, Com'r. of Agriculture has so ruled. All mills using the Electrical method of bleaching flour have been notified to discontinue the practice. That on and after June 2, 1909, a heavy penalty will be imposed on any one selling or offering for sale bleached flour.

Prof. Ladd, Com'r. of Agriculture of North Dakota in his investigation and analysis of bleached flour found traces of poison and in his experiments in feeding rabbits, bread made from flour heavily bleached, it killed them like strichnine.

Mills and Flour dealers who are stocked up heavily on this bleached flour will endeavor to dump same on the market at any old price between now and June 2nd. Flour buyers should keep their eyes open and not get caught.

For the information of the public we will state that flour in its natural, and wholesome state has a creamy tint, while flour bleached by the Electrical process has a dead chalky appearance.

After officials of our government, having analyzed bleached flour, and for the protection of its citizens, decided it to be an adulteration and unsafe to be used, then why should anyone jeopardize his health by the use of same in order to save a few pennies?

For the information of their customers and to all whom it may concern, the Marion Milling Co., states that they have never had a bleacher in its mill. Hence they positively guarantee their flour not bleached and to be as pure and wholesome as flour can be made and the quality as high as any in the country.

They also desire to thank all the people of our town and county for their loyal support and patronage they have given them in the past and it shall be their earnest endeavor by honest methods and fair dealing to continue to merit their patronage confidence and good will. Again thanking you,

Will be inspected once a week and paid for within ten days after inspection. You will observe that prices in this sale are made upon lengths, it is therefore requested and urged that in stripping and tying your tobacco, you will be careful to tie the tobacco of the same length in hands to itself and keep each length separate when you deliver it, as prices will be determined by the length regardless of color or quality. Under this sale the tobacco is to be tied in three classes, leaf, lugs and trash. The more care you take in preparing your tobacco for delivery the better prices you will receive. We will see to it that the buyers deal fairly with the growers and we will expect and require the growers to deal fairly and honestly with the buyers.

Hoping to see 1908 crop of tobacco to market in good condition and that prosperity and contentment may speedily come to our county and her people we beg to remain,

Your servants,

THE ASSOCIATION COMMITTEE.

WHEEZER OR SNEEZER?

Have You Heard of Hyomei for Catarrh, Asthma and Hay Fever?

If you wheeze or sneeze, hawk or spit, snuffle or blow, something is the matter with the membrane of your respiratory tract, and you need Hyomei.

And you need Hyomei because it will cure you of any catarrhal or inflammatory condition that exists.

It isn't a stomach medicine, or spray, or douche, but a very pleasant, healing, antiseptic balsam, from the eucalyptus forests of Australia. You breathe this balsamic air through a small, hard rubber inhaler, and it reaches every nook, corner and crevice of the membrane, and promptly kills the catarrh germs.

Haynes & Taylor will sell you a complete Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mey) outfit for $1.00, on the money back plan.

The use of Hyomei cured Mr. Cutler of catarrh in 1904. He has strongly endorsed the use of Hyomei in many instances, and we are glad to go on record regarding this marvelous catarrh cure, and endorse it. —Mrs. A. Cutler, 201 Post Ave., Battle Creek, Mich.

'O, Why Should The Spirit Of Mortal Be Proud?'

O, why should the spirit of mortal be proud?

Like a swift fleeting meteor, a fast flying cloud,

A flash of the lightning, a break of the wave,

He passes from life to his rest in the grave,

The leaves of the oak and the willow shall fade,

Be scattered around and together be laid;

And the young and the old, and the low and the high,

Shall moulder to dust and together shall lie.

The infant the mother attended and loved,

The mother that infant's affection who proved;

The husband that mother and infant who blessed—Each, all are away in their dwelling of rest.

The hand of the king that the scepter hath borne,

The brow of the priest that the mitre hath worn

The eye of the sage and the heart of the brave,

Are hidden and lost in the depth of the grave.

The peasant whose lot was to sow and to reap,

The herdsman who climbed with his goats up the steep,

The beggar who wandered in search of his bread,

Have faded away like the grass that we tread.

So the multitude goes, like the flower or weed

That withers away to let others succeed.

So the multitude comes—even those we behold—

To repeat every tale that has often been told.

For we are the same our fathers have been;

We see the same sights our fathers have seen;

We drink the same stream, we view the same sun,

And run the same course our fathers have run.

The thoughts we are thinking our fathers would think;

From the death we are shrinking our fathers would shrink;

To the life we are clinging they also would cling,

But it speeds from us all like a bird on the wing.

They loved—but the story we cannot unfold.

They scorned—but the heart of the haughty is cold;

They grieved—but no wail from their slumber will come,

They joyed—but the tongue of their gladness is done.

They died—aye, they died—and we things that we are now,

That walk on the turf that lies o'er their brow,

And make in their dwellings a transient abode,

Meet the things that they met on their pilgrim road.

Yes, hope and despondency, pleasures and pain,

Are mingled together in sunshine and rain;

And the smile and the tear, the song and the dirge

Still follow each other like surges upon surge.

'Tis the wink of an eye, 'tis the draft of a breath,

From the blossom of health to the paleness of death,

From the gilded saloon to the shelter and the shroud,

O, why should the spirit of mortal be proud?

Interesting.

Was a woman ever known to blow out the gas or to be bounced by a man who wanted to borrow money to pay a freight bill? Does she ever get her puckets picked or lose money on a little "game"? If she has a roll of money with her, does she ever flash it when she wants to buy a cake of chewing gum? Isn't it a fact that she is wiser than the men and more to be trusted? Instead of a woman's having a man along to "protect" her the daily papers prove that every man who goes away from home should have a woman to act as a guardian and keep him from making a bigger fool of himself than he naturally is. —Acheson Globe.

GOOD ENOUGH FOR ANYBODY.

The Ten Business Commandments, as outlined by the Interstate Sand Company, Cleveland.

Thou shalt not wait for something to turn up, but shall pull off the coat, and go to work that thou mayest prosper in thy affairs and make the word "failure" spell "success."

Thou shalt not be content to go about thy business looking a bum, for thou shouldst know that thy personal appearance is better than a letter of recommendation.

III.

Thou shalt not try to make excuses nor shalt thou say to those who chide thee, "I didn't think."

IV.

Thou shalt not wait to be told what thou shalt do, nor in what manner thou shalt do it, for thou mayest thy days be long in the job which fortune hath given thee.

V.

Thy shalt not fail to maintain thine own integrity, nor shalt thou be guilty of anything that will lessen thy good respect for thyself.

VI.

Thou shalt not forget the other fellow's job nor his salary, nor his position he hath gained by his own hard labor.

VII.

Thou shalt not fail to live within thy income, nor shalt thou contract any debts when thou canst not see thy way clear to pay them.

VIII.

Thou shalt not fail to blow thine own horn, for he who is afraid to blow his own horn at the proper occasion findeth nobody standing ready to blow it for him.

IX.

Thou shalt not hesitate to say "No" when thou meanest "No," nor shalt thou fail to remember that there are occasions when it is unsafe to bind thyself to a hasty judgement.

X.

Thou shalt give every man a square deal. This is the last and great commandment, and there is no other like unto it. Upon this commandment dependeth all the law and the profits of the business world.
