An epidemic of coughs and colds in this neighborhood. Mrs. Yates, Mrs. Muehugh and Pate Franklin's child are under the care of the doctor. G. R. Brown was buried at Union Sunday with Masonic honors. Until recently, he was a citizen of this community. On account of failing health he moved to Crayne last year. His wife, eight children and many friends mourn his death. Elder T. C. Carter conducted the funeral services.

The Keystone mines are running full force. They have a fine show of sparr and lead. When the water is successfully handled, the Keystone is doubtless one of the best paying propositions in the district. The managers think they can manage the water with the large pumps now installed.

The Eaton mines derrick is about completed. The boiler and engine arrived Saturday and work on the 100 foot shaft will be rapidly pushed under the superintendency of James Henry. Ernest Taylor worked our road last week with a "split-log drag." This treatment is certainly a "specific" for wet weather troubles on our roads. Let other overseers try it and be convinced.

Marion Davidson and family, of Crittenden Springs, visited in this section Sunday.

The Ada-Florence has received the one hundred horse power machinery and work will be rapidly pushed on this valuable property this winter and spring.

Pilate had convictions when he heard the witnesses against Christ, but he was lacking in courage to stem the tide of the cry of the people, to "crucify Him, crucify Him." There are many Pilates yet in the world, when it comes to "content the people."

Allen Furgerson and family, Metropolis, Ill., came up on the steamer Nashville Saturday night, to visit his mother-in-law, of this place.

Paul says that faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. And we, as a people, are hoping to see our new church erected here - which is so much needed, and we believe that by the help of God and through the work our committee and the help of our beloved pastor, and the aid from other friends and churches, that we may yet see the church go up and may it be as a city set on a hill, a lamp to our pathway to lead souls on to glory and to God.

CALDWELL SPRINGS.

The roads are so very muddy that hauling is almost impossible.

We met a boy in Lyon county the other day, who was riding in a new buggy. We asked him where he bought it. He said "I purchased it of Cochran & Co., in Marion. I saw their advertisement in the Record-Press and went immediately to get it. It pays to advertise."

The smallpox scare is a thing of the past.

Mrs. Jossie Babb spent Sunday with her father, Jim Brown.

We believe the Record-Press should give each week a market report. A great many of its readers have no other means of knowing the price of anything, as they take no other paper. What say you Mr. Editor? What say you, Mr. Editor?

Sometimes we select men to fill a high position on the church, state or business world without the ability to maintain it. If they had had, this inner virtue they could have reached the highest pinnacle of fame. The eagle can perch upon the loftiest crag, and there in safety plume his wings for bolder flights through fields, above clouds and storms, in regions all his own. The scaly lizard may wriggle his way up to the dizzy peak, but he is a lizard still. The wingless wretch dare not attempt that flight unto the vast beyond, nor can he long remain on his high perch, but must descend as he ascended, or else fall and lose his worthless life. Just so the man, whom chance has raised to a position beyond his fitting. He might have spent his days in quiet seclusion among his kind not to have been exposed. Unsuspected honors came, but they would not remain.

A fool may assume kingly robes and a crown, but these only make him appear doubly a fool. Wiser and safer by far, is it to decline proffered honors than to secure them and not maintain them.

Mrs. Jordan Thurmon has partial paralysis of her right arm. She went to Fredonia Saturday to consult Dr. J. N. Bailey.

Mr. farmer, why don't you take those old tools to the shop and get them ready for spring work.

If there is farmer in Crittenden Co., who has had a square mess of eggs in the last six months, let him make it known, or forever hold his tongue.

A certain colored minister preached a funeral sermon a few days since, from this text: "A thousand foxes ran through a thicket with fire brands tied to their tails."

Jordan Thurmon and wife were visiting in these parts Sunday.

Pays Him to Stay Home.

A west side matron proudly exhibited the lock of her front door to the afternoon caller. It was an intricate looking affair, resembling a gum machine more than it did a door latch. "You turn this," explained the woman, pointing to a tiny knob inside the door, "and you have fixed the bolt so it can't be shot back with the key. To release the tumblers you've got to drop a coin in the slot outside. The only piece of money that will fit is a five dollar gold piece. The idea is my own. A locksmith downtown worked out the mechanical part of it for me. Every night at 10:30 I adjust the coin attachment. If my husband is out after that hour it costs him $5.00 to get in. He stays home evenings, as a rule." - New York Sun.

Taylorville Child Swallows Safety Pin. While paying at her home Saturday night, the 5-year-old daughter of Everett Cox; a farmer residing near Taylorville, swallowed a safety pin and was almost strangled to death. Although the pin was closed it became lodged in the child's throat. Dr. O. M. Crenshaw was summoned and after he had worked for some time managed to push the pin down and prevent the child from strangling. She will recover. - Mondays Courier Journal.
