Palmer and Rosedale Items
Palmer, La. Feb. 10, 1911. The Editor-Press
Marion, Ky.

The output and shipment of Fluor Spar from the Fluorvite mines has again broken any previous record. For the months of January and February the shipments of the various grades were 9700 tons.

Mr. Britton, the assistant superintendent, at present, of the Fluorvite mines, will take charge of the Rosedale mine, so far as mining is concerned and the head of Fluorvite will likely retire from Rosedale, the change taking place on Monday, March 20th.

The receivers of the Fluorvite Fluor Spar and Lead Company, Messrs McClanahan of Danville Illinois, and myself of St. Louis Missouri, make bi-monthly visits to the property here, generally a day or two before the fortnightly paydays, on the tenth and twentieth of each month.

There are hundreds of the Fluorvite mines scattered throughout the coal fields of the Ohio Valley, most of them in Kentucky. Mr. Britton is the manager of the Fluorvite mines and is in charge of the Fluorvite mines. He is a very capable and energetic man and is doing a very good job of the Fluorvite mines.

The Rosedale mine was started in 1908 and has since that time been producing a large amount of Fluor Spar. It is a very rich mine and is doing a very good job of the Fluorvite mines.

three years and has never reached farther than Salem Kentucky. He stated over the phone yesterday that he would just love to come over, some people can love most anything but if anybody can love certain sections of the Illinois side of the Ohio river they are simply doped. As the old farmer said about the camel "there ain't any such animal."

Probably I had better stop this letter before I get into trouble but I would really "love" to know how Press Maxwell's hens are taking it this season. X.Y.Z.

YOUR HOME MERCHANT NEEDS THE FARM TRADE!

A Farmer Tells Of What Happened to One Farmer And What The Mail Order House Did For Him

A COMMON EXAMPLE.

The following was written to Gar Horn by a western merchant with the request that we print it in the hope that merchants reading this paper would cut it out and send it to the editor of their home paper, with the request that he reproduce it for the benefit of the farmers:

"Sometime in January, Mr. B. B. Thomason, farmer, had the misfortune of having his barn and all its contents, consisting of a hack-wagon, harness, implements, saddles and feed burned. A subscription list was circulated and the farmers gave of feed and other things, and the merchants of the little town responded liberally.

Now, Mr. Thomason, being a regular patron of a Chicago Catalogue House, wrote a letter to them, relating the above circumstances and asking them for a donation. Their reply was: 'No, we do not help our patrons in that way.'

"Brother farmers! Think of those who helped you to get a start in the world. Was it catalogue houses, or was it your home people?

"If bad luck overtakes you and you need help, would you ask the catalogue houses? If you did you would get nothing except a frown. Now brother farmer, spend your money at home and you will have a chance to get it back again. But if you send it to catalogue houses it is lost to you and your county.

You have made Catalogue Houses rich and they have never done anything for you except sell you goods at a big profit. Now brother farmers, show me good reason for sending your money off, making any corporation rich, and I will pull off the harness and kick myself for being a farmers' friend.

"Now brother farmers, let us reason together and see how we do when we want something and haven't the money. We go to our home merchant and get it and he waits on us from one to twenty-four months for the money and sometimes the merchant has to go to the bank to borrow money to keep us in supplies.

"But when we get some cash we send it to a catalogue house and then we send our money to the catalogue house and make them rich. I wonder why we don't make our home merchants rich, they help to build our churches, pay our preachers, and support our schools, but they haven't the money they the catalogue houses have for they never will for we are going to send it to a catalogue house as long as we can get a dollar."

It's not right and you know it.

Call, who met here a short time ago, after a separation of 35 years, made a unique matrimonial record by being married for the second time yesterday. Call is 61 and his wife 55.

A PARTY SCANDAL.

The way the Democratic executive committee is handling the primary election matter is getting to be almost a party scandal. Three meetings have been held and still the candidates who have not already quit the field do not know when the primaries will close. At the first meeting the primary was called for May 27, for only a part of the offices and the statement was made that the candidates would not be held up. At the second meeting, the primary was extended to the senatorial race, and the candidates assessed $18,000. At the third but little was done except to increase these assessments 25 per cent and leave the poor candidates in suspense, although it is less than one hundred days until the election. What is the purpose of all this juggling? Is it to force off the track all but a few candidates and re-establish the same sort of machine rule that wrecked the party four years ago? Has the object lesson to the south of us been so soon forgotten? Can not wisdom come from experience? It seems not.—Hopkinsville, Kentucky.

A New Madrid county (Mo.) farmer experimented with 33 acres of sun-flowers last season, and after losing about a third of his crop owing to bad weather, he harvested and shipped out 27,676 pounds of seed, which he sold for $1,103. He says he paid out but $5 for help, hence his crop netted him $80 per acre, less the rent paid.
