AN INCREASINGLY USEFUL MINERAL.

Production of Fluorspar Now a Considerable Industry According to the United States Geological Survey.

Fluorspar, one of the lesser minerals and one of which many people have probably never heard has come to occupy a comparatively important place in everyday affairs. It is used in the manufacture of glass, of enameled and sanitary ware, in refining antimony and lead, in the production of aluminum, and as a flux in blast furnaces and in the manufacture of steel in basic open-earth furnaces. The production of open-earth steel alone in 1910 was over 15,000,000 long tons. The production of fluorspar, according to Ernest F. Burchard, of the United States Geological Survey, in a report on fluorspar and cryolite just issued, increased from 18,450 short tons in 1900, valued at $94,500, to 69,427 tons in 1910, valued at $430,196. There was an increase in 1910 of 37 percent in quantity 47 percent in value over 1909.

The deposits which have been exploited are in Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee and New Hampshire. Illinois is much the heaviest producer.

There was also imported in 1910, according to Mr. Burchard, 42,488 short tons, valued at $135,152. Mr. Burchard's report contains, in addition to the statistics of the industry, a discussion of the methods of mining and milling fluorspar as well as a description of recently discovered high grade deposits in New Mexico.

Seventy-first Anniversary.

A great day that has already come on the 19th day of Sept. 1911 at the home of Mrs. Sarah E. Hurley in Livingston county near Old Cave Springs church, was celebrated the 71st anniversary of her age together with her children and grandchildren not a few. The following are the names of her sons and daughters, Wm. M. Hurley age 49, Geo. Hurley, 45, Thorton Hurley 41, Cora, Carrie, Burnett, Lizzie Oscar, all married except Oscar, Will Oscar? All have children so to speak, from this family of boys and girls there are 24 grandchildren that think grandma is not old because she don't look old when all the children come home. All of the grandchildren were present but three, Clara who was teaching school Howard and Mary were going to school and taking care of the home near Crittenden Springs.

Geo. and Thorton Hurley live in Eldorado Ills., Burnett Hurley at Equality, Ills, Corah and brother in Livingston county, Oscar and mother live together at present. To say this was an enjoyable day is using very mild terms. To spread all of the good things to eat was out of the question so they occupied the yard and so they spread and so they eat they all talked and they all eat, they all eat and they all talked. Mutton, lamb, goat, pork, chicken and ham, all kinds of pies all kinds of cake, all kinds of preserves, all kinds of jelly and jam. Such like and so on. There was one sad thought which in spite of all crept in some of their minds, notwithstanding grandma looks good and young, she will not be here 71 years longer after this wonderful passover. Goodbye. God be with you until we meet again. R. M. F. (means a Rough Made Fellow.)

appearing Rapidly.

The work of grading the Oak Grove hill two miles from town on the Salem road, is progressing nicely and the top is being dragged down into the flats on either side in a way that is showing, and it certainly means much to that end of the county to be able to get to town without climbing that hill going and coming and to have the hill and bottoms all rocked and graded before winter.

I. C. Railroad Enjoined.
New Depot Wanted.

A large force of men were sent here a week ago to work on the old direct used as a depot. After a few days of preliminary work, it was apparent to those watching the matter that the I. C. Railroad Co., was only going to repair the old instead of building the promised new station. Accordingly the city, county and health officers got together and got out an injunction and had the work stopped. Supt. Wagner came here on the first train, after he was notified, and a committee of about one hundred citizens met him at the station. Several talks were made and Mr. Wagner left saying he would report all to headquarters and do the best he could for us, which we think means that we will get a new depot, modern and up-to-date, which is only what "the best freight and passenger station on the O. V. line" deserves.
