FARMER'S INSTITUTE BEST EVER

Enthusiastic Crowd Attends All the Lectures Which Were Delivered by Those Who Know

ELECTION FOR ENSUING YEAR.

On Wednesday, Nov. 24th., there was held in Marion, Ky., a Farmer's Institute, and the Record-Press is glad to note that there was a large and enthusiastic crowd in Marion on that day. Farmers were here from adjoining counties and attended all the exercises. Crittenden county farmers were more in evidence at this meeting than any heretofore. The speakers were E. C. Martindale, of Wilkinson, Ind.; D. S. Kelsey, of Hartford, Conn.; and Miss Margaret Penick, of Charleston, Iowa.

The first speaker of the day was Mr. Kelsey who spoke in the court house in the morning on "Soils and Fertilizers." Close attention was given to this talk, by all present, as it was one of the best ever given here. Mr. Martindale appeared about half-past eleven and took the floor. He first held an election for the ensuing year. Mr. W. B. Yandell, President; Joe Dean, Vice President; Lester Terry, Secretary; delegates to State Institute at Frankfort, Jeff Clement and Joe Dean with Will Taylor and W. B. Yandell alternates.

Mr. Martindale then gave a short talk on "Soil Fertility," which attracted very close attention. Adjournment was taken for dinner. Re-convened at one o'clock when Mr. Kelsey spoke on "Alfalfa and Clovers." At about this same hour Miss Penick spoke in the school auditorium on "Home Economics." The room was nearly full. Storms were fully appreciated by her audience.

At the close of Mr. Kelsey's address Mr. Martindale again addressed a crowded court house on "Live Stock and Soil Fertility." He held his audience and laid a great deal of stress on the Dupl Purpose Cow. At the close the chairman asked Mr. Jake Crider, of Fredonia, for a few remarks on "Alfalfa" and then took a crack at Mr. Martindale

BENNETT AND GRAHAM NUPTIALS

Our Efficient County Attorney Robs Dycsburg of One of Its Most Promising Young Ladies.

Mr. Trice Bennett, our efficient County Attorney, has recently manifested much interest in our little town. His frequent visits were much appreciated by our good citizens, feeling that his efforts were for the betterment of our unfortunate people, but we did not realize that he had another motive in view--that of robbing us of one of our sweetest and prettiest young ladies--Mrs. Ida Lou Graham. But, our loss is his gain and we hope he may realize that fact.

Ida Lou is a lady of sweet, refined nature, worthy of the love and kindness of a good husband, and we have no reason to doubt that she will find this in Mr. Bennett, as he comes to us well recommended. Their courtship has been quietly progressing, but in the end came as a surprise to their many friends. They were quietly married at the residence of Dr. J. M. Graves in Dycsburg, on Dec. 4th at 1:30 p. m.

Only a few friends and relatives were present to witness the solemn and impressive ceremony performed by Brother Chandler, of Marion, Ky.

After congratulations from each one present, they left for Louisville, Ky., for a short honeymoon. The bride looked her best in a brown travelling suit and the groom in his conventional black. Notwithstanding the limited time for preparation Mrs. and Dr. J. M. Graves made themselves equal to the occasion by decorating the parlor with lovely pot flowers and lighted candles and colored lamps, and as the bridal party approached with Mr. Lon Graves and sister in law, Mrs. Decker presided at the piano rendering the Flower Song in its sweetest, saddest tones. All looked beautiful in the gloaming.

The bride is a cousin of Mrs. Graves--they both being nieces of the late S. H. Cassidy--who was one of our most substantial citizens. We trust the future for this young couple may be filled with roses of brilliant hue and they may have a long life of happiness and prosperity. We trust also that Mr. Bennett will come again with his efforts to help our people out of their many tribulations. But for his cool, calm and thoughtful consideration our little town, recently was about to be engulfed in a miniature war, therefore we place him in the helm of Wilson the 2nd, and Mrs. Graham whose marriage to Z. C. Graham a few years ago, was only the victim to the companionship of a young, thoughtless school boy, not yet through sowing his wild oats, but his fond parents gave her all the luxuries of a palatial home in Grahamville, Ky., and she endeared herself to them as a dutiful daughter. The young blood will arouse from its lethargy all too late to realize that the little treasure has flown to the strong arm of an older and wiser protector. In this is also the portrayal of the gentle and confiding little Kentucky woman, who simply bore her heart aches in her quiet boudoir--so unlike the new popular woman suffragist, loud in condemning the faithlessness of man.

Now, who can doubt, that the cool thoughtful deliberate minds of these two young people embarking on life's stormy sea, will find the sweet refuge in a peaceful, contented home where our dear Savior will reign supreme and guide, guard and direct. --Is the wish of the writers. Two of her best friends.

Telephone Announcement.

It may be of interest to the Telephone users of Marion and vicinity to know that the Home Company has entered into a contract by which its Marion Exchange is now connected with the long distance system of the Cumberland Tel. and Tel. Co. and its associated companies. Connection may now be had to and from the Marion Exchange stations of the Home company, and all points on the lines of the Bell system. Where the lines of both the Bell and Independent companies reach the same point the sender of the message may select the line he prefers to use and so notify the operators by calling for Cumberland line if he wishes to use the Bell service.

I'm Going, Are You?

The music and play lovers of Marion are promised a rare treat Friday evening, Dec. 16th, when Miss Lena Holtzelaw, assisted by the High School Orchestra and other members of the High School will give a Novelty Entertainment at the School Auditorium. This is a new, feature in entertainment for Marion but it promises to be a very pleasing one.

An important attraction on the program will be the play, "Who is Who?" The plot of the play is well developed and has enough mystery about it to make it intensely interesting from first to last. If you like good plays don't fail to see and hear, "Who is Who."

The music will be furnished by the Marion High School Orchestra and it goes without saying that the people of Marion will show their appreciation of this deserving group of talented young people by attending the Novelty Entertainment, Friday night.

Col. Zoo Zoo and his Zo Bo band will arrive in time to take an important part on the program. This is Col. Zoo Zoo's first appearance in Marion but he comes with a reputation second to none. His music is the kind that always pleases; the kind that drives away the blues and leaves a pleasant taste in a feller's ear."

In short this is what the Novelty Entertainment Co. offers: A splendid play, clever actors, good music, an extraordinary Zo Bo band, new readings, catchy songs, charming costumes and five dollar bills to those who do not laugh.

School Auditorium, Friday night, Dec. 17th.

Family Re-Union.

Last Saturday, Dec. 4th Mrs. Sarah Ann Lamb, 70 years of age, relict of John L. Lamb who died 10 years ago, had a family re-union, the first in twenty-four years at which all of her children were present. Those who were there to enjoy the day were: Robt. M. Lamb, of Detroit, Tex.; Annie Dean, wife of J. N. Dean, of Deanwood, T. Edgar Lamb, of Orienta, Okla.; Ada Lamb, wife of Frank Lamb, of Iron Hill; Herbert Lamb, merchant, of Grayne, Ky.; Eva Dean, wife of Ed F. Dean, of Sugar Grove; Preston P. Lamb, who is heart whole and fancy free still making his home with his mother at the old Lamb place, Agness Drennan, wife of Wm Dave Drennan. There are about 30 grand children all of whom were present excepting the children of Robt. and Edgar who did not bring their little folks from Oklahoma.

It was a happy occasion and one never to be forgotten. It is not probable that all will ever be together again in this world.

DECLAMATORY CONTEST HELD

Saturday Night, Dec. 4th, at Rosebud Church in Division 3. Eight Schools Represented

TWO MEDALS WERE AWARDED

The declamatory contest of division No. 3 was held Saturday night last at Rosebud church. There were eight schools represented, namely: Walnut Grove, Applegate, Heath, Baker, Seminary, Hoods Creek, Post Oak and Oakland.

The contestant from Walnut Grove gave "Our Hired Girl." This was well given by the little fellow and was awarded the silver medal.

Next speaker was Herman Writtenberry, of Applegate, delivered "What the Clock Saw." This speech showed that the speaker had been well trained, also freedom of speech. He is one of those fellows who can smile at defeat and try again.

Next speaker was from Heath, "The Arab's Farewell to His Steed," which was splendidly given, one of which the school should be proud of.

Fourth, Miss Mae Newcom, of Baker, "Whispering Bill." Miss Newcom is a very smooth, enthusiastic speaker and should feel congratulated though she did not receive the medal.

Fifth speaker, Miss Dewey Powell, "Our Hired Girl." This declamation seemed popular, as it was delivered by two of the contestants. Nevertheless it was appreciated each time by the attentive audience.

Sixth, Hoods Creek, was represented by Miss Mary Quartermou, "College Oil Cans." Mary Quartermou in her usual enthusiastic mood and delivered her speech without a visible error. This speech received a most hearty applause by the audience, and has created quite a public sentiment. Mary will ever be remembered by the Hoods Creek pupils and community.

Seventh, Post Oak, Miss Fritts "Writing Letters." A speech short but well given. She, as well as the rest, seemed to be free while on the floor. The judges considered this the star
