Hotel Parlor Scene of Harris-Paris Wedding.

The following account of the marriage of Mr. Guy H. Paris, son of the late Newton W. Paris, of Louisville, is clipped from a Duluth exchange:

"In the presence of eighty guests, Miss Edna Z. Harris, daughter of Mrs. Clara A. Harris of 4107 East Superior street, and G. H. Paris were married at 8 o'clock Saturday night in the Spalding hotel parlor by Rev. A. W. Ryan of St. Paul's Episcopal church. The bridal party stood in the bay window which was decorated with green vines over white draperies, and lighted by a cathedral candle in the center and candelabras holding seven candles at the sides. Michaud's orchestra, with Miss Elizabeth Halden, one of the bride's piano pupils, at the piano, played the nuptial music and at the reception which followed the ceremony. James Gray, Joe Jonosky, Percy Oreck and Arthur Ringsred, also pupils of the bride, held the white satin ribbons which formed the aisle for the wedding party.

The bride wore a gown of white point de'esprit trimmed with Irish lace. The short skirt was trimmed with many flounces. Her veil, which was shirred in cap effect, was held by a wreath of lilies of the valley and her shower bouquet was of lilies of the valley, white sweet peas and green hair fern. She was given in marriage by Henry Cleveland.

Miss Carolyn Bartholdi, the maid of honor, was gowned in peach bloom taffeta with drapery of white chiffon and carried pink sweet peas. Helen Halden carried the ring in a white rosebud. Mr. Johnston was the best man.

The out-of-town guests were Mrs. Joseph Halderman, of Chicago, aunt of the bride, and Jno. Vida, of Chisholm.

At the reception Mrs. Harris was assisted by Mrs. N. F. Huggins, William Carlson, Mrs. Halderman and Mrs. Odin Halden. Mrs. Harris was gowned in white crepe de chine and wore pink Killarney roses. Mrs. Halderman's gown was of black lace over white satin. Mrs. Huggins wore a gown of black chiffon, Mrs. Carlson wore shadow lace combined with blue and white marquisette and Mrs. Halden's gown was of blue crepe de chine trimmed with hand-made lace.

A group of the bride's pupils served. They were Miss Etta Bartholdi, Miss Erna Bartholdi, Miss Ruth Olson and Miss Mildred Sanders.

The guests registered in the bride's register which was Dr. Ryan's gift to the couple. Telegrams were received from the bride's uncle, Joseph Halderman, and from out-of-town friends.

After the refreshments, dancing was enjoyed in the hotel ball room. When the bride and bridegroom entered they were showered with rice.

Mr. and Mrs. Paris left for a week's stay in Minneapolis. They will be at home after Oct. 1st, at 321 East First street. The bride is going away suit with blue velvet with hat to match. The groom is a grandson of Zeke Hughes, of this county, and is related to many of our best people. He is employed by the Western Union Telegraph Co., at Duluth, Minn. His widowed mother lives at Mena, Ark.

GERMAN SUBMARINE

Drops Anchor At Newport 17 Days From Wilhelmshaven. Subsea Fighter Brings Mail.

Newport, R. I. Oct. 10.—Seventeen days from Wilhelmshaven the imperial German submarine U-53 dropped anchor at Newport harbor this afternoon.

Almost before the officers of the American fleet through which the stranger had nosed its way had recovered from their surprise, she delivered a message for the German ambassador, weighed anchor and left the harbor, submerging just inside the three-mile limit. The submarine flew the German naval flag and carried a gun on her forward deck, while eight torpedoes easily visible under her decks showed she was ready to fight.

Lieutenant-Captain Hans Rose said the submarine came to Newport simply to mail to Count von Bernstorff.

The submarine was within American waters less than three hours, assuming she went to sea when submerged outside the harbor. Within that time the German commander paid a visit to Rear Admiral Knight and received from him the official courtesy of a visit.

While the formalities were being exchanged, the British and French patrol fleet off the coast was doubtless being warned of her presence.

Captain Rose's first question was, "Have you heard from the Bremen?" and seemed disappointed when told "no."

The Associated Press correspondent who had been watching for weeks for the Bremen went out by motor boat to the submarine. Captain Rose demanded his credentials and then entrusted to him a letter for Ambassador Bernstorff to be mailed. The correspondence was contained in one bulky envelope, which should be at the German embassy tomorrow morning.

The submarine anchored in the outer harbor two miles down the bay. No one came ashore, but a representative of the Associated Press was allowed to go aboard and learn the vessel's story.

The U-53, in command of Lieut. Capt. Hans Rose, appeared spick and span upon her arrival here and looked as if she had been out only for maneuvers. Her commander reported that he had not sighted any hostile craft on his voyage over, adding that the boat was plentifully supplied with provisions and fuel and that nothing would be taken aboard her.

The Record Of President Wilson And The Democratic Congress.

Around 20,000,000 happy fire-sides the fathers of America will gather this night with their unbroken family circle, with their children upon their knees and their wives by their side, happy and prosperous. Contrast this with the fathers, husbands and brothers of the Old World dying in the ditches, with the gloom and mourning in broken family circles, where hunger crouches and disease treads. If this be "evil and vacillating," God prosper it and teach it to the rulers of the Old World.

CHOATE'S TRIBUTE TO PRESIDENT WILSON

Republican's Praise of President Endorsed by Noted Editor.

Joseph H. Choate, an ambassador to Great Britain in the McKinley and Roosevelt administrations, an ex-president of the American Bar Association, and long a leader of the American bar, and a leading Republican, writing in the Review of Reviews for January, 1915, paid high tribute to Wilson's administration's policies growing out of the war. He said:

"If we can maintain our neutrality and keep out of this war and at the same time prove ourselves friendly to all the nations engaged in it—as I think we shall under the wise and prudent conduct of President Wilson—United States will, I believe, not only be called into consultation by the warring nations, when they are no longer able to keep up the fight, but will practically be able to dictate the terms of peace between them, one of which must, if possible, be an effectual guarantee against any future outbreak of the horrible spirit of militarism which has caused the present war.

"And I am encouraged in this belief by reading the recent message of President Wilson and the annual reports of the Secretaries of War and of the Navy, which, taken together, appear to show a steadfast determination on the part of our Federal Government to have us prepared always for effectual self-defense, which is a necessary condition of our national existence.

"Of course, the end of this war will see us by far the most powerful nation in the world, and if the policy pointed out by Secretary Daniels is pursued, we shall perhaps in the fullness of time become ourselves the mistress of the seas without incurring hostility or attack from any nation, and shall be the great factor of preserving universal peace."

Commenting editorially on Mr. Choate's letter, the editor of the Review of Reviews says:

Surely, there is no more approved friend of international peace in our country than the Hon. Joseph H. Choate. Read then, what he writes in this number of the Review on our need of efficient means of national defense. He is in perfect agreement with what President Wilson has set forth in his message to Congress of December 8. For our part, President Wilson's words seem statesmanlike and noble. They are wholly compatible with strict and efficient attention to the business of getting the best results out of the vast expenditures for army and navy that are met by taxpayers."

Princeton Presbytery

Princeton Presbytery of the Cumberland Presbyterian church met at Rose Creek near Nebo Ky., Oct. 3 1916.

Eight ministers answered roll call and twenty five churches were represented. Mrs. L. M. Woolly of Leitchfield Presbytery and Rev. J. M. Cook of Owensboro Presbytery were with us. Beside the regular routine of business we had splendid preaching and one young man, W. H. Wallace was ordained to the full work of the ministry. We had a good Presbytery. The good people of Rose Creek made us welcome and treated us royally.

School Fair at Seminary A Day of Success.

One of the most successful days the people of old Crittenden have ever experienced, was the day of the Division Fair held at Seminary last Saturday.

The weather was ideal. The roads were fine with one exception and that was the dust.

There was a large crowd present and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves.

About 12 o'clock a delicious dinner was served. The people showed much gratitude and hospitality.

The exhibits were splendid. The work was good and well displayed. The first prize on general exhibit was awarded to Weston and second prize to Post Oak. Chinning the bar—Oakland, Seminary and Hoods Creek tied and Dempsey won second.

The schools represented and the number of ribbons won by each are as follows:

|             | First | Second |
|-------------|-------|--------|
| Weston      | 17    | 4      |
| Hoods Creek | 9     | 13     |
| Oakland     | 7     | 7      |
| Post Oak    | 5     | 7      |
| Seminary    | 4     | 3      |
| Baker       | 4     | 3      |
| Applegate   | 2     | 7      |
| Dempsey     | 1     | 1      |

Box Supper

A box supper was given Friday night Sept. 29th by the school at New Salem for the benefit of the library and $30.80 was realized. One cake brought $25.00, it having been baked by Miss Opal Davidson, a neighborhood belle, with her own hands which caused some of the young America's to bid up lively for the honor of sitting with the fair cake baker and taking a slice from her own dainty fingers. Miss Myrtle Morrill teaches this school and is pleasing the patrons.

Clippings From Pensacola Paper.

In looking over a Pensacola, Florida paper the editor's eyes happened to fall on an advertisement which attracted his attention, and on reading it he found that a Marion boy was "behind the guns" in the big Pensacola Business College. The ad ran thus: Announcement Extraordinary! Learn Salesmanship at the Pensacola Business Institute. The first class will be under the direct supervision of Prof. O. H. Little a graduate of the Bowling Green Business University, Bowling Green, Ky. Mr. Little is well prepared to handle this subject having had special training under the personal supervision of Prof. Jas. Knox of Cleveland, Ohio. For further information call or phone 897. Pensacola Business Institute."

Prof. O. H. Little is none other than "Oscar" whom we all know and love. He was "bred in old Kentucky" in the bailiwick of Crittenden and is adding new honors to our county's name abroad. We congratulate Florida on securing one of Kentucky's bright young men to head her Business Institute.

Hopkins County Officers Must Make Restitution, Rules Judge Henderson.

Madisonville, Ky., Oct. 11.—County Attorney G. W. Sybert and former County Judge R. B. Bradley Thursday were ordered, in a decision handed down by Circuit Judge Henderson, to pay back to the fiscal court of Hopkins county, $2,600, the amount of salaries claimed to have been illegally paid these officers, with interest from August 24, 1914, until paid. Sybert is to pay back $1,200, and Bradley, $1,400. Similar suits against former County Judge Mills, Sheriff J. B. Stanley and Superintendent of Schools A. J. Fox have been tried and decided against the defendants and affirmed by the Court of Appeals, the sums against each of these ranging from $1,400 to $1,800.

The suits were filed by a number of citizens, through G. W. Latrip. The salaries of the county officials were raised after their election, which was claimed illegal, the courts so ruling. In the cases of former Clerk Mills and former Sheriff Stanley, fees were collected, it was claimed, that should not have been allowed.

School Fair

The school fair in Division 4, will be held at Piney Fork on Oct. 21.

Come one, Come all. Let's make this a great day for the schools of our division.

Mary Towery, Secy.

Marion Boy In The Lime Light

The Madisonville Hustler has the following to say of the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Hearin former Marion people. "E. L. Hearin, a well known young man of Madisonville, who about two years ago secured a minor position with the Cumberland Telephone Company, of Madisonville is one of the boys who has made good and who is going to make better. At the time he entered the service of the company he was about eighteen years of age.

While in this position he applied himself assiduously to his work. He went in determined to win out. He is sober, moral, truthful, reliable and industrious a christian gentleman, and gifted with the idea of sticking to his business. Less than two months ago he was promoted to the office at Evansville and before he had been there six weeks he received another promotion with headquarters at Jeffersonville, Ind. He was in town Sunday to visit his home folks and left last night to enter on the discharge of his new duties where his friends will know that he will discharge his every obligation. The world needs more young men like Ellis Hearin. There is a place for every one of them."

People Should Be More Careful.

The Illinois Central Railroad Company in doing all it can to educate the people who cross its tracks over any of the thoroughfares of our country to be more careful and before they undertake to cross the tracks they should "stop, look and listen.

There are too many serious accidents happening all over the country and nearly all of them are brought about by the carelessness of the people who cross these railroad tracks.

If the people will only educate themselves to the importance of looking out for trains before they cross the tracks, it will only be a short time until there will be no accidents along railroad tracks.

We have paid some attention to these things for several years and it is a very rare occasion that death or a serious accident would occur along the railroad tracks if the people would only "stop, look and listen" before they undertake to cross.

The railroad company understands this and the people had just as well understand it; if they are not more careful, more deaths and more accidents than ever will continue to occur.

We know our roads are getting better and the facilities are much greater for travel than they used to be, and people take less precautions, but the fact remains, they must take more care or there will be more accidents. If the people will be as careful as the railroads are, serious accidents will very seldom occur.—Messenger.
