MCKAY-GRADY.

This (Wednesday) morning at 6 o'clock the union of Rev. S. A. McKay and Miss Gertrude Grady will be solemnized at the Methodist Church. The ushers will be Dr. R. Y. Hindmad, Jo Coffey, Frank Hill and Dr. C. S. Grady, brother of the intended bride. Rev. S. G. Shelly will officiate and Miss Lina Rosenfield will preside at the organ. The excellent traits and high standing of the contracting parties were published in the News two weeks ago. The intended bride has already received a number of handsome and useful presents.

Pierce Rodgers, a young man twenty-five or thirty years of age, whose home is on Short Creek, below Milltown, this county, is in trouble. Last Thursday he rode into Columbia, visited the Bank and presented to Mr. W. A. Coffey, assistant cashier, a check for seventy-five dollars for payment. The name signed to the check was that of Mr. J. R. Tutt, a prominent merchant, and the instrument stated that it was given for one mule. Mr. Coffey believing that a forgery had been perpetrated, told Rodgers to wait a moment, that he had to step out, but would be right back. Rodgers seeing that he was caught, left the bank and was mounting his horse, but was quickly stopped by Jo Coffey, Jr., who engaged him until authorities arrived. Upon being questioned he could give no reliable statement as to how he came in possession of his check, and he was lodged in jail. The examining trial came on last Saturday, resulting in Rodgers being held over and he was again remanded to jail. A short time ago the same man, so Mr. Curt Bell says, presented a check to Russell & Murrell for the same amount having to it Mr. J. R. Tutt's name. Rodgers is evidently a beginner, but doubtless has concluded by this time that forging checks is bad business.

The directors of the First National Bank, which is to be started at this place, met last Saturday and purchased of Russell & Murrell the lot between W. F. Jeffries & Son and Reed & Miller for $1,500. Mr. E. H. Hughes was chosen cashier of the institution, and a committee consisting of J. O. Russell, H. N. Miller, Brack Massie, J. P. Beard and E. H. Hughes was appointed to contract the building and to buy the fixtures. The work is to commence at once. It is to be a brick building attractively finished.

The season has now arrived when dealers in fancy horses will frequently be seen upon the Columbia market. Coffey Bros. are picking up some good ones and in a very short time will have a string of "eye catchers." Mr. J. B. Coffey is the principal buyer, and as a judge of high class horses, his reputation extends over the State. This firm has done much in the way of stimulating farmers to raise and handle better stock.

The following is crop outlook in Kentucky: Wheat is better than it has been for ten years. While tobacco beds were sown late plants are coming up nicely. Grass is two or three weeks ahead of usual condition at first of April. The severe freezes in February destroyed part of the peach crop but apples and other fruit will be plentiful. Altogether the outlook is favorable for a bountiful year.

Mr. S. D. Barbee, who a few weeks ago became part owner of the Columbia Roller Mill, sold his interest to Mr. W. R. Myers last week, and the latter gentleman and his two sons are now the proprietors of the enterprise. We do not know the consideration in Mr. Barbee's transfer, but we have been told he came out whole. In the deal Mr. Barbee takes the mill residence next to the bridge at $800.

The winds and sunshine have aided more in making good roads in the last few days than all the plans of the good road advocates in the last five years. Yet we cannot rely upon the sunshine and breezes for ideal highways, nor depend upon drouths to carry us over the rapid streams in winter.

At the sale of W. J. Winfrey, deceased, on Damron's creek, on the 3d inst., property sold as follows: One pair 2-year old mules, $154.50; one work horse $61.50; one mare $32.50; one hundred and twenty-five barrels of corn at $2.25 to 2.35. A lot of stock hogs sold well.

The plans and specifications for the Methodist School were received last week. It is a beauty, and we trust, a joy forever, and when erected on Arbor Vitae Hill will be one of the most attractive buildings in the town. The contract will be let at an early day and pushed to completion.

Mr. Nathan Bailey, an old citizen of the South, who resided in the Carmel neighborhood, died a few days ago. He was a victim of cancer, and a great sufferer before the end came. He was a brother of Mr. Rufus Bailey and leaves many relatives and friends in the county.

TRIBUTE TO MR. GEO. YATES.

BRADFORDSVILLE, KY., APRIL 3, 1904.

Will you give me space to tell your readers of my father's death and funeral. It will save many letters. He died Sunday night March 29th at 9 o'clock. He was rational to the end and died just as easy as could be, not even hard breathing. His respiration grew faint and weaker until they ceased entirely. He had been confined for months and grew very anxious to go before the time came. He often talked of his future prospect and the loved ones on the other side. He was evidently ready to die. The friends that knew him best loved him most and had the most confidence in his christian character. He had many friends in and around Bradfordsville. There were more than fifty persons called at his house the day he lay a corpse to see him, and the next day, Tuesday, at the funeral the concourse of people was very large and the procession that followed to the cemetery, two and a half or three miles, was between one half and three fourth mile long. The Bank, the stores and shops all closed for the funeral even the large flouring mill cease to grind while the procession passed. Brother Joo. W. Campbell, our pastor, preached his funeral, six of his church brethren were pall bearers. R. E. Creel, of Lebanon and H. T. Gastin, of Bradfordsville, buried him. Our home is all broken up of course. My mother in her affliction has lost more than all the rest of us, for he has been her stay in life for nearly sixty years and no woman ever had a truer or better husband, none more attentive than he. He was 82 years, three months and six days old, and had been a member of the Baptist church 66 years, born and reared in Adair county, Ky. He leaves only one child living (myself), six grandchildren, five great grand children. Burksville paper please copy.
