LOCAL.

December came in with the breath of real winter.

Remember and attend the Band Concert Thursday night.

If you want to present a friend with a present, call on M. Cravens. He has the article.

The Fair Grounds at this place were put up at public outcry last Monday and were knocked off to J. S. Stapp for $2,700, but the bid was rejected.

Reserved tickets for the Band Entertainment will be on sale at the barber shop to-day, (Wednesday.)

Columbia is not yet full grown, several houses under course of construction and others will be started in the near future. Next Spring will open up one of the most active building booms ever experienced in the good old town. There is plenty of room for 1000 more people and all be busy and happy.

Mr. Sam Grant, who has been visiting in Missouri, returned home last week. He reports an enjoyable trip. He was highly pleased with the country, the people and the general lay of the land. Corn is selling at $1.50 per barrel, and wheat at 85 cents per bushel in that section.

Thanksgiving services were appropriately observed at Jamestown. All of the business houses were closed and services were held at the church, the sermon being preached by Eld. F. J. Barger. After religious services, dinner for the town people and all visitors was spread in the church. It was a sumptuous affair and enjoyed by all. In the afternoon Mr. O. B. Bertram and Mr. Lilburne Phelps delivered addresses.

Dr. W. F. Cartwright's residence, on Garnett's Avenue, is now receiving the finishing touch and the Doctor and his estimable family will remove to it the latter part of the week. In every particular the Doctor is highly pleased with its construction and knows of no change he would make from foundation to attic. Mr. H. C. Fesse is the carpenter who did the work.

Killing at Campbellsville.

Last Monday about one o'clock a difficulty occurred in Campbellsville, resulting in the death of Jo Smith, who lived about five miles from town. The other participant was James Shipp, who did the killing, using a revolver. The shooting occurred in front of Davis Bros. store, Smith living five minutes after being shot. We do not know all the particulars, but it is said the combat came up over an old grudge.

Thanksgiving services were held in the Presbyterian Church and the sermon was preached by Eld. W. K. Azbill, who stands at the top as a theologian. It was not our good fortune to hear the discourse, but we have heard many expressions, each one pronouncing it a most eloquent and practical address. As a man of information Mr. Azbill has but few equals, and it is not often that you hear a person who can convey knowledge more entertainingly.

Miss Hughes' Recital.

Friday evening, December, 22, at 7:30 at the Presbyterian church, will occur a pianoforte Recital by Miss Cary Hughes, pupil of Mr. C. E. Frederic Ohlenmacher, director of music in the M. & F. College. Miss Hughes will be assisted by Mr. Ohlenmacher.

The program consists of Beethoven numbers, and promises to be a rare treat as a pupils recital. The public is cordially invited to attend.

In Memory.

Clarence Ray Hays, infant son of Luther and Goldie Hays. Born Feb. 16, 1904 and died Nov. 24, 1905.

Our darling black eyed Ray
Cherub bright from heaven,
A few short months we called thee ours
Then thou back was given
To thy Father up on high.
There to grow in love and beauty.
There to live and never die.

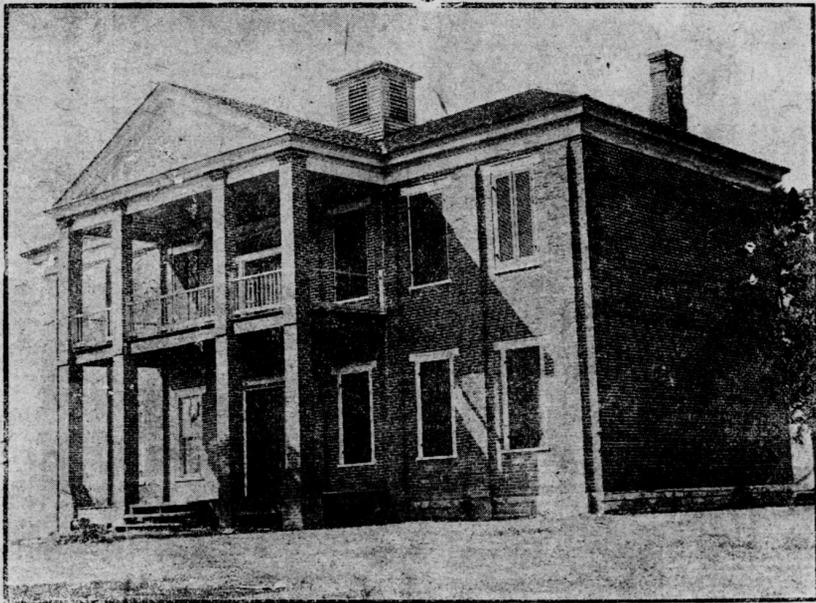

Though thou art gone, our darling Ray,
Thy loss we will not mourn,
Up to the bright fields of glory
Thy spirit pure has flown,
There in heaven's own mystic beauty
Safely folded on Jesus' breast:
There we will strive to meet thee,
And there with thee forever rest.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. L. Edrington.

ADDRESS

JNO. W. FLOWERS, - - Secretary.

I have just returned from market where I bought an extra nice lot of Christmas goods. They will be ready for inspection and sale in a few days.
M. CRAVENS.

The entertainment at the courthouse Thursday night promises to be good. Besides the band there will be outside talent interested in one of the best musical entertainments ever given in Columbia.

Neatsburg, Ky., Dec., 3, 1905.
DEAR SANTA CLAUSE:—

I will attempt to write you a few lines this evening. This is the first time I ever attempted to write to dear Santa Clause. I want you to bring me a big doll and some candy, and a dress, a right nice little organ. Be sure and come. I will go to bed at seven o'clock. I am 8 years old.

Lee Vister Royce.

Your attention is called to the advertisement of the M. & F. High School in this issue. This school, under its present management, is offering inducements in every department, and at no other time in all of its past has it been in as good position to give good service. Its effort, and attainments are commendable from every point of view and we ask you to read carefully the statement for which it asks your patronage.

Mark it down and see if we are right when we announce that there will be more students in Columbia after the holidays than was ever seen in the town at any other time. There will be more interesting classes and more real hard digging in search of knowledge and the results will be far better than heretofore, Columbia is fast coming to the front in educational advantages and the people realize it.

MISS CARRIE JOHNSON,

A Popular Young Lady, Succumbs to Appendicitis.

A STUDENT IN COLLEGE.

Last Wednesday at 1:30 in the afternoon, Miss Carrie Johnson, the sixteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Johnson, passed over the silent river of death. But few in this community knew of her sickness until the death angel had called her to the home above. She was a student of the M. & F. High School and on Friday returned to her home not feeling very well, but nothing serious was manifested until Monday. A physician was called but the fearfulness of appendicitis could not be arrested and she bravely endured till the hour above mentioned. All that medical skill and tender nursing could do was faithfully administered. Miss Carrie was a bright young lady and enjoyed the love and esteem of her school associates, who deeply sympathize with her parents in this their sad hour of trouble. Just emerging into young womanhood, with all the hopes and ambitions of accomplishment of the future, suddenly the lamp of life was extinguished, a beautiful flower plucked from time to eternity. The old must die, but the young, too, are often subjected to the sting of death. Throughout the entire community this death was deeply felt. It calls to mind how uncertain life is, and though gifted and accomplished, though the future may be bright, yet death is ever at our door. The parents, brothers and sisters truly have the sympathy of a large circle of friends. The body was buried Thursday.

Art Notes.

We have had some very kind and very intelligent answers to the question asked in last week's Art Notes.

Whatever may be the cause of a want of interest in drawing in Columbia, the people are kind and interested in answering the question.

Many say it is because Columbia people have not had the importance of drawing as a study brought to their notice.

One said, "We do not realize the many things a knowledge of drawing may be used in; the many ways in it may be helpful." Many said it was lack of information as to what the study of drawing really is.

If it is a lack of calling attention to its importance and usefulness as a study for the children of our town, we will in future do what we can to bring it before the people.

Eighty.

Last Saturday, December the 2d, was the 80th birthday of Mrs. Mary Cravens, mother of our townsmen, Mr. M. Cravens. She was given a birthday dinner at the home of Judge J. R. Sampson, of Middlesboro, her son-in-law, where she has been making her home for several years. The day was delightfully spent and duly celebrated by her children and grand children who live in that city, and Mrs. Cravens enjoyed it as truly as any one present. Mr. M. Cravens would have been present but just a few days prior to this event smallpox was discovered in Middlesboro and Pineville and it was not thought safe for making the visit. Since then Mr. Cravens has been advised that there was no danger and he regrets that he was not present to enjoy the meeting and give such evidence of love and appreciation due a mother.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. King, of Moreland, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ida Elizabeth, to Rev. Wyatt Guinne Montgomery. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride, on the morning of Dec. 5th. The bride is a daughter of Hon. B. B. King, and is an attractive and most lovable young lady, while the groom is a rising young minister and a splendid gentleman.—Interior Journal.

Mr. Montgomery was born and reared in this county and his many friends congratulate him in this step, designed to complete man's happiness in the union of two lives bound together by the strong cords of true love. He is a young minister whose gifts and talents lead to great usefulness and distinction, while the young lady possesses the true qualifications for a happy, useful helpmate. The News extends its good wishes.

Sam E. Squires made a narrow escape one day last week. He was in company with his sister, Kate, enroute to the home of Mr. Jo Thomas. Mr. Squires was riding a young horse and when near Russell's creek the animal fell, throwing the rider, but his foot hung in the stirrup. He was dragged several hundred yards, but fortunately he was not seriously hurt.
