

Kentucky to Show Corn.

M. C. Rankin, commissioner in the department of agriculture labor and statistics has been appointed vice-president for Kentucky of the National Corn Association and announces that the state will make an exhibit at the National Corn Exposition in Omaha, December 6 to 18.

Arrangements were made at a conference of Corn Association officials with Mr. Rankin in Frankfort this week and it is expected Kentucky grain will take a high place and win many of the prizes in the list worth $50,000 which is offered at the show in Omaha. Mr. Rankin has one hundred or more boys in Kentucky growing corn from pure seed. They will show this in an exhibit to be held at the Kentucky state fair grounds and then the best will go to the National show.

As is well known Kentucky stands high as a corn producing state when acreage is considered. It is the hope of Mr. Rankin and his co-workers to bring the average yield per acre up to among the best in the United States.

A Puzzler.

Little Marie attends Sunday school and has been learning her catechism. Sunday morning, as she was about to leave home, she went to her father to go through her lesson. After she had answered several questions her father asked:

"What did the Lord make on the first day?"

This she answered, as well as the question of the second day, and to the question of the third reply:

"The Lord made the sun, moon and stars." Then, before her father could continue, she looked up at him and asked:

"Daddy, if the Lord didn't make the sun, moon and stars until the third day, where did he get the light on the first day?" and Mr. Walters is still looking for the answer.

Learned by Experience.

Put a tablespoonful of vinegar into the water in which sweet potatoes are boiled to prevent discoloration.

Grate horseradish in the open air and it will not effect the eyes.

Boil cracked eggs in salted water and they will retain their contents.

If one begins at the root end to peel onions the eyes will not smart so badly.

Renovate a loaf of stale bread by encasing it in manila paper, then put it into the tin in which it was baked, set it in a cool oven and leave half a hour.

Pour boiling water over frozen eggs and leave in the water until cold.

When cutting cold bread hold the knife perpendicularly so the inside of the loaf will not be crushed and become heavy.

Slip small paper sacks over jars that have no covers.

When worn sideways put a broom into very hot soap suds until the splints are soft, lean against a flat surface until dry, then trim away the uneven edges.

When wool blankets are washed and quite dry beat well with a carpet beater, they will be light and soft.

Buy soap by the quantity a month or two before needed, take it from the wrapper and set on a shelf to dry. It will spend much better than if used at once.

To increase the durability of a hot water bottle rub it thoroughly with vaseline, let dry, then rub again. Always put in a little luke warm water washing soda dissolved in water to remove the odor.

To freshen old hickory nuts leave half an hour or less in boiling water, then crack, chop fine for icing, not so fine for cake.—National Stockman.

Vote for the Good Roads Amendment.

If there is a tobacco grower in Kentucky who is hesitating about whether or not he should vote for the good roads amendment next November, it might be profitable for him to take a few minutes time and make a little calculation of what it would be worth in cash to him in hauling his tobacco to the railroad station over a good, smooth, hard road rather than over the present hilly mud road which so many farmers are compelled to use. We know from both observation and experience that in many counties of the State, one or two hds., of tobacco is all that a good two horse team can pull over the roads they now have. And in many cases one hhd., is the limit. With the right kind of road the same team would pull four or five hds., with more ease and in almost half the time that they now pull one. In fact we know of many localities when after Christmas it is difficult to get a team to the station with an empty wagon. Figure up the number of trips you make to your town or railroad station during year, the wear and tear on teams and wagon, loss of time and many other things, and then get all your neighbors to vote for the good roads amendment in November.—Farmer Home Journal.

The Larue County Herald prints the following: A spider concealed in a bucket of blackberries came near causing the death of little Miss Caswell, daughter of Mr. Whit Caswell, of Upton, Saturday. The little girl was helping her mother preserve some of the berries, and incidentally ate a few. She got hold of one on which was the spider and failing to discover the insect, swallowed it. She soon became deathly sick and for a while it was feared that her illness would result fatally. A physician was summoned and it required considerable medical attention before she was pronounced out of danger. She has now about recovered from the effects.

The Columbia Pea Ride Fair will be held August 14. This association is composed of boys of the town, who will get out a good premium list.

Woman's Home Companion for August.

"Snsanna and Sue" begins in the August issue of Woman's Home Companion. The scene of the story is laid in a Shaker village which gives an opportunity for a novel plot. The first installment promises even greater charm than Mrs. Wiggin's famous earlier books.

Edward Everett Hale's Reminiscences are appearing exclusively in Woman's Home Companion. Now that his revered white head and kindly smile have gone forever, these reminiscences, always charming, have an added interest.

Edward Everett Hale's death is a peculiar loss to the Woman's Home Companion, to which he has contributed so constantly during the last few years. The August issue in an appreciation of Doctor Hale's life and work has some new anecdotes that are full of the charm of Doctor Hale's personality.

This issue has none of the poverty of many summer magazines. There are eight stories in it—each good and each novel.

The mother of to-day has a problem her grandmother never knew. The modern girl, after many years at school, looks with scorn at the housekeeping which her mother knows is so important. In "What Mother Can Do" the Woman's Home Companion points out a way to make the college girl "the daughter of the house" in the old-fashioned sense.

Marion Harland, in a veritable literary pilgrimage through Europe, has discovered many unpublished stories of famous men and women, which she will tell to Companion readers in her delightfully intimate way. The first of the series deals with the ever-interesting Empress Josephine at Malmaison—where she died.

The matter of diet in summer is one fraught with many difficulties. In the Woman's Home Companion for August Dr. Woods Hutchinson claims that we are apt to starve ourselves in summer. He says that we suffer from the heat because of bad physical condition and that we would feel the heat less if we ate three good meals a day.

"Suit-Case Photography," "Camp Cooking" and "Washing Fineries" are of special interest right now.

The Children's Department and the Fashion Department are both particularly good. The Embroidery pages are full of summer ideas, and Fannie Merritt Farmer supplies enough ideas for novel cool drinks to last the whole summer.

The Coming Kingdom.

Written for the News:—

"For we are not as many who corrupt the word of God, but as of sincerity, but as of God in the sight of God speak in Christ."—II Cor. II-17.

I believe the Kingdom of God is near at hand. Its establishment will occasion such sweeping radical changes in the affairs of men that the scriptures call it a "new earth" the "fire" and "storm" and melting and "shaking" which introduce the Kingdom and symbolic. Those who through false teachings are expecting a universal Holocaust will be agreeably disappointed. The "Fire symbol is employed to denote the absolute destructions of evil things—oppression, cruelty, drunkenness, leudness, gluttony, malice, deceit, blasphemy, selfishness—in a word all sin. The things which cannot be shaken and will therefore remain, are right doing, joy, peace, kindness, purity,—in a word, Love, working no ill to ones neighbor and therefore "fulfilling the law."

There is no doubt that many will cling to the evil things that are being destroyed until they will be "singed" pretty badly. Others will refuse to be separated from them and will therefore perish. But the great mass of mankind will be saved, for when the Judgments of the Lord are in the earth the inhabitants of the world will learn righteousness.

But all are not saved to the same nature or condition. All of Christ's followers of the Gospel age will be with and like him, "far above all heavens and principality and power and might and dominion and every name that is named." All other righteous people of all times will "inherit the earth," saved to the perfect human nature and conditions.

The ones who are at first to compose the visible earthly phase of the Kingdom were selected from among the Jews and the location for the world's capital designated. The Kingdom would have been established at the close of the Jewish age had not the wisdom of God foreseen the necessity for spiritual direction and authority to conduct it. There was "spiritual wickedness in high places" to be overthrown.

It was his purpose to "dwell with them" hence he proceeded to lay the cornerstone and to construct a great spiritual Temple or dwelling place. This Temple is the Christian Church. When it is brought together in the First Resurrection the earthly Kingdom will assume a tangible visible form at or near Jerusalem.

Now read numbers chapter xxxII, and Josh. xxII and see all this clearly illustrated. The 2½ Tribes is the earthly phase of the kingdom, called and developed under the Mosaic Law, coming back of the Jordan of Death to take up their earthly inheritance in Palestine. The nine and one-half Tribes is the Christian Church which never comes back but inherits the Spiritual Canaan—the heavenly Jerusalem, the Divine Nature. The half tribe of Mannasseh that never came back represents the "remnant" of the Jewish Nation that was saved under the New Covenant. It is thus made plain that the Gospel saved many more than the law. "More are the children of the desolate than of the married wife, saith the Lord."

Now these revelations are indeed Wonderful. But they are hidden from the world by a thick "vail" of unbelief. They are also hidden from Christians who do not live right. "But God hath revealed them unto us by his spirit, for the spirit reacheth all things,—yea, the deep thing of God." Geo. Acree, Cork, Ky.

In case a ewe disowns or refuses to let her lamb suck, sprinkle a little salt and aniseed over the back and shoulders of the lamb; this will often induce the mother to lick it and effect a reconciliation, and in no way harms the lamb.

Miss Nora Blankenship was the guest of Misses Dona and Anna Helm, last Sunday.

Mr. Hiram Campbell who lives near this place, has been very ill but is improving at present.

Mr. Frank Campbell, who has been at work on the Str. Rowena, for the past season, returned home last Sunday morning.

We have a twenty foot rise in the Cumberland river at this writing

Think of it, there has not been a day since the 9th of last December that the river has been too low for the steam boats from Burnside down.

The farmers are about through plowing this neighborhood, and the corn looks reasonably well, owing to the extreme wet weather we have had.

Mr. T. S. Helm and Miss Leava Dalton, of Olga, were married last Sunday. Squire Carnes officiating.

Horse shoe pitching is the game of the day at this place.

Mr. G. T. Mann, came near losing both of his cows last week. Water surrounded them on an island and they started to swim off and got hung in a bush. He got to them in time to save them.

Mr. J. E. Wooldridge, of this place, caught a nice fish last week. It would weigh about 18 pounds.

Big Elm.

Some wheat in this section is not stacked at this writing and is getting green on top the shocks.

Mr. S. A. Antle is selling a large number of buggies and harness at his place of business.

Mr. John L. Turner of this place, visited his parents at Inroad, Saturday and Sunday.

The red hot rollican flea is here.

Mr. G. W. Stevenson one of our near by farmers is mowing his meadows this week between showers.

Mr. J. L. Sullivan a prominent Attorney of Jamestown, stopped for the night at Big Elm, on the 10th, en route home from an extended business trip through Adair and Metcalfe counties.

We are having so much bad rainy weather we cannot report much visiting this week.

The katy did made its appearance here on the ninth inst., and began the dispute at once.

Mr. Vander Collins is out this week buying calves. Vander knows a good calf when he sees it.

Just as long as calves will eat a big lot of dry hay give it to them. It is the best of anything I know of to keep them in good trim. No bowel trouble is apt to overtake them while they have plenty of nice, bright hay.
