Rules and Regulations Governing the Rally

- School pupils taking part in the contests must be in school age and must have entered school by August 24 and have been in regular attendance since that time.
- The regular rules governing all athletic events will be used on this occasion.
- The first winner in each event counts three points, the second two and the third one, in deciding which Educational Division and sub-district has won the greatest number of points; though no second and third prizes are offered.
- No admission will be charged for entrance to the Fair grounds or to the addresses of the day or evening. Everything is free.
- The Fair Association has given all stand privileges to the two Columbia schools.
- The judges for the various events are to be selected by Profs. Moss & Wilson from the town of Columbia, and from the faculty and pupils of the two schools. The decisions of these judges are final.
- We urge that every rural teacher drill their children at school to march in the order that they wish them to march at the county rally, at Columbia. Train children to march in line and pay strict attention to orders.
- The district winning first school pennant, given by Russell & Co., will march in front, the School winning second pennant given by W. I. Ingram will have second place in line of march. Other rural schools will occupy any convenient position in line of march. The Columbia Schools will march in the rear.
- Let teachers from each district report the number of students and patrons present from their sub-district, and the number of miles from school house to Columbia, by 9:30 Friday morning of the rally, at the County Superintendents office. We urge the rural teachers to be exact in reporting the mileage and number present from their sub-district.
- Only school pupils are wanted in the line of march.
- Place of delivering premiums will be announced on the morning of the Rally.

Fun for the Twins.

Chester and Clarence Irvin, 19-year-old twins, of Edwards, Miss., are the cause of confusion everywhere they go because of their absolute similarity. They are exactly the same height, exactly the same breadth, dress in the same way, have the same expression and carriage, and, too, they are related in such a way that when one suffers from headache or other ailments, the other twin is similarly affected.

In school when one of the boys had been naughty and was kept in during the noon hour the guilty boy would go over to where his brother was sitting and get "mixed up" with the other twin. When the noon hour came the teacher would not know which was which, and no one else in the building would know but Chester and Clarence; but, of course, Chester was generally the guilty twin and would not own up that he was Chester. Clarence would say he was Clarence and was innocent and Chester would still contend that he was Clarence. The teacher was unable, therefore, to administer the punishment, and the boys were laughed out of school.

The climax came the other day when a show came to town and Chester made an engagement to take a young lady to the Opera house that night. Clarence knew of the engagement, and just for fun thought he would get ready before Chester and escort the girl.

Chester got ready at last, and hurried around to the young lady's residence to find she and his brother had gone. She was sorely perplexed when Chester arrived at the Opera house ten minutes later and told her that she had been tricked by his brother.

The President's Triumph.

Any policy is entitled to be judged by its results; and by that test the President's Mexican policy is splendidly vindicated. A vagrant war item records that one Victoriano Huerta is marooned in London, presumably awaiting a chance to get into Spain. Little noticed amid bigger distractions, the Constitutionalists took peaceful possessions of the Mexican capital.

The future, perhaps, is anybody's guess; but Huerta is out, and a Government that has some show to restore settled conditions is in, and only a few American lives have been lost. The President and the Secretary of State were rather lonesome in adhering to the policy that has issued in this bloodless fashion; but when they look across at Europe they are entitled to deep satisfaction.

The country is horrified by the European slaughter. Everybody is horrified by war after it begins; yet only a few months ago we heard a great deal about the merits of taking a strong stand with Mexico, asserting our national dignity and the rest of the rigmarole that meant rows of American youths dead or wounded in a trivial cause.--Saturday Evening Post.

The Master Hand.

Fortunately for the country, a master hand is at the helmet at Washington. He realizes what neutrality should be, and he will see that it is observed. His wisdom, proven in so many ways--in the repeal of the Panama Canal tolls exemption law, irritating to foreign nations; in the handling of the dangerous Mexican problem; in the pushing through of the Federal currency law, which now prevents any financial stress--the wisdom we may feel sure is still supreme and still for the noble uses of the best interests of the country, no matter what demands may be made upon it.

The few little critics of President Wilson cannot yet resign themselves to a cessation of their snapping at his heels, no matter what he does. They are not significant save as of obedience to partisan orders. The greater critics of recent times have honorably and patriotically admitted their mistake and are giving the President that support in his foreign policy he so richly deserves.

As for the people, who are beyond and above all newspapers and politicians in the power and majesty of their will--they have learned to trust Woodrow Wilson. They trust him now in this delicate problem of neutrality. They know that the master hand is at the helm.--Boston Post (Ind.)

Immediate Cause of War

Every boy and girl should know the cause of the present European war. While the growing hatred between the countries involved dates back many, many years, the immediate cause, or events, which served to plunge several countries into war are these:

It was the assassination of Francis Ferdinand, crown prince of Austria, and his consort, at Sarajevo, Bosnia, on June 28, by a Servian student, Gavrilo Princip, that plunged the continent of Europe into war.

At the root of the matter lies the immemorial feud between Slav and Teuton. Involved also are the pledges of the triple alliance between Germany, Austria Hungary and Italy, on one side, and between Great Britain, France and Russia, comprising the triple entente, on the other. Just what are these alliances, and how brought about?

In 1879 Germany and Austria formed an alliance for protection against Russia. In 1886, Bismarck strengthened this alliance by the inclusion of Italy. Austria and Germany pledged mutual assistance if attacked by Russia, Italy and Germany if attacked by France. This is the much discussed tripple alliance.

The triple entente is the product of the dual alliance between France and Russia in 1887, and informal understanding between England and France in 1904, and England and Russia in 1907. It was designed by Edward VII to balance the tripple alliance.

In addition to the above factors of the war, we must not overlook the 40 years of hatred between France and Germany, dating from the war of 1870; the growing English jealousy of German naval and commercial growth and ambition of Russia to complete the dismemberment of Turkey and to make of the Black sea a Russian lake.

Study these facts, and when anyone asks what it is all about you will be able to tell them.

Cured by Suggestion.

Mental healing has long been practiced, but Dr. Berillion, of Paris, asserts that psychotherapia is the medicine of the future. He does not put his patients into an hypnotic trance, but places them in an environment which creates the appetite for sleep and invites them to repose on a bed and think of nothing. Then he leaves them. They gradually succumb to the tick-tack of a metronome.

When the patient is in an hypnotic slumber, if its desired that he should be cured of excessive indulgence in alcohol, the psychotherapist suggests to him that he cannot raise a glass of absinthe to his lips, and repeats the suggestion until the prohibition is so engraved on his brain that if he would he could not do so.

Dr. Berillion is frequently consulted by those who wish to be cured of unhappy love passion. Through hypnotism they obtain their release.

Avoid Sedative Cough Medicines.

If you want to contribute directly to the occurrence of capillary bronchitis and pneumonia use cough medicines that contain codeine, morphine, heroin and other sedatives when you have a cough or cold. Any expectorant like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is what is needed. That cleans out the culture beds or breeding places for the germs of pneumonia and other germ diseases. That is why pneumonia never results from a cold when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. It has a world wide reputation for its cures. It contains no morphine or other sedative. The folly of keeping low producing cows should be so apparent that such cows would be shunned as thieves and robbers.

The way to secure a good dairy herd is to breed it and produce it on the farm rather than to depend upon purchases every season.
