I want to say after a two months visit at my old home in Adair and adjoining counties, and that I have now arrived back home and I want to thank my friends for their courteous treatment while visiting them. I say my friends from fact they treated me that way.

And I want to say I had a nice time while at the Casey county fair and that the people up there treated me fine.

After leaving Columbia I stopped off at Athertonville and visited Wallace Beard, wife and little son and sure had a nice time while there.

And also met Mr. J. N. White while there. I visited Hodgenville the birth place of Abraham Lincoln where I visited the Lincoln memorial a wonderful building built of granite that it may last through ages and keep for all time the log house in which the president was born.

The next place I visited was the Mammoth cave in which I spent three hours in its dark depths. There are four different routes which the guides show.

But one was enough for me, climbing up and down floating on the under ground river, going down to a level of 360 feet below the entrance and then climbing to a point a hundred feet, was trip enough for me and I felt willing to take their word for the rest.

I visited a man by the name of Jasser Grimes an old relative of mine.

The next stop I made was at Clarksville Tenn., there I visited E. L. Henson, wife and little son where I enjoyed myself and had a nice time.

The next stop I made was at Tina Mo., where I found folks all well and everything good.

With best wishes to all.

Red Cross Peace Program Detailed

National Leader to Address Chapter Delegates at the State Meeting

DOCTOR LIVINGSTON FARRAND, Chairman of the Central Committee of the American Red Cross, will visit Lexington, Ky., Indianapolis, Ind., and Cleveland, Ohio, the three states of the Lake Division, on October 20, 21 and 22. Chapter chairmen and delegates have been invited by division headquarters to attend these meetings and hear, at first hand, the far-reaching plan for Red Cross peace-time service.

With its war-time task not fully performed, the Red Cross is concentrating overseas on relieving after-war conditions, and in caring for men still in service.

The traditional responsibility of preparedness to offer relief in times of famine, fire and floods, will be part of the new peace-time service. In addition, the Red Cross chapters are continuing their organization to include the Public Health, Nursing, Educational Classes in Dietetics, Home Care of the Sick, and First Aid.

Home Service to civilian families and community work through the Junior Red Cross organization.

The development of Community Health Centers, completely organized, where the official and volunteer agencies can be co-ordinated and brought into harmonious relations for protecting and promoting community health efficiency, is the big offering of the Red Cross to the people in American communities in carrying out its plan for peace-time service. Chapters are to supplement and not supplant the efforts of established and effective agencies.

In Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, the details of the health center plan will be given to chapter delegates and the public by Doctor Farrand and other National Headquarters officials, at the state meeting just announced.

Red Cross Helps Returned Soldiers In Compensation

MANY returned soldiers do not yet understand that the government furnishes compensation for mental disabilities as well as for physical. The Lake Division headquarters of the Red Cross, Cleveland, reports that 3,999 men in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky are being treated for mental disabilities—shell shock and other ailments—either incurred during the period of service or resulting from military service.

In any part of the country a properly established claim for help of this sort will be met promptly. The simplest way of getting such a claim established is through the Home Service department of the Red Cross. Application may be made at any Red Cross office, chapter or branch, and it will be referred to the proper bureau.

PREPAREDNESS for disaster relief on a scale never before possible is being undertaken by the American Red Cross as one of the important features of its peace program. Support of this program will be asked in the Third Red Cross Roll Call, November 2-11.

Statistics show that since 1900, disasters of peace-time have brought personal injury to 1,500,000 persons, at the same time destroying property valued at over $1,000,000. During 1917 alone, eighty disasters were aided by the Red Cross.

This situation demands a preparedness for emergency relief and that is what the Red Cross is to supply. Red Cross chapters everywhere will create disaster preparedness committees that will make surveys locating food, hospital supplies, clothing, buildings for housing refugees, and will also canvass for physicians, nurses and social workers prepared to respond instantly to emergency calls.

In the case of great disasters where the resources of the division in which it occurs is over-taxed, the entire relief strength of the Red Cross in the country may be mobilized through national headquarters.

Red Cross chapters, division offices and the national office are planning to put disaster relief on such a sound basis that it will become nation-wide in scope, and will assure for all emergencies a swift mobilization and application of whatever funds, supplies and experienced workers may be needed.

TINY FARMERETTE BOOSTS FARM HOME

This is Virginia, in her overalls and blue denim shirt, dressed up like a real farmerette. Virginia has a happy home now, out in the country. But there was a time when she knew what it was to be without a home.

She was taken, a homeless waif, to the Kentucky Children's Home Society in Louisville. There she was given medical care and brought to health, and given the best of care that the attendants at the home could give her until a real home with a family was found for her.

Now Virginia is one of the many little school girls of the state who is going to help build a home for the homeless. When Virginia was in the Children's Home she had to spend most of her time in a little room crowded with other waifs. There was no big, sunny playground, and the schoolroom was crowded and poorly lighted and ventilated. There was not the proper amount of hospital equipment to care for the younger babies who came in. And the furniture and surroundings were cheerless, while Virginia waited for foster parents to take her away.

Under the plan of the school children of the state, all the children who have homes will be given an opportunity to help build a home for the Kentucky children who have none. It will be a fine, modern institution on a farm near St. Matthews, thoroughly equipped with hospital wards, kindergartens and schoolrooms, and with clean, airy bedrooms and baths.

And, best of all, there will be a big playground on the farm, with lots of fresh air and sunshine; and there will be cows and chickens, and fresh milk and eggs and vegetables for the kiddies in the new home. That is what the $300,000 will be used for, the fund that the school children of the state will raise in the last week of October. It is a "Children's Crusade," and the grown-up children will be allowed to get in on it and help, too.

We have all helped the French and the Belgian children. Now for the Kentucky children.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS. In Belgium.

Hunger, disease and exposure were not all that Belgian children were subjected to, for enemy shells constantly dropped into what little of their country the invader did not hold. In this picture Red Cross nurses are seen taking some of the fifty babies from the American Red Cross nursery at La Fenne into a bomb-proof structure as the Germans opened fire from the un-
