Say, Miss Mattie give us the news from that part.—Well, I guess the petition is about to start to try and put the corporation out of business for there have been men asked if they would sign it. To tell the truth about the matter there has been a dissatisfaction ever since the election, but this is not business, if we get beat in our undertaking in a thing like this lets say let the majority rule this is fair and right. Now lets go to business and let well enough alone. While elections have gone contrary to our wishes and some republicans flip into office in the place of our choice but if he gets the votes I want him to have the place. So I think this trying to cause dissatisfaction in our town is carrying the thing a little too far, and we believe there are enough voters in town who want protection that this will go to the wall. It takes a two-thirds majority and this cannot be got. So lets drop this squabbling and all will be well.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

ROOSEVELT MAY SEEK POLE

Portland, Me. Feb. 14.—That former President Roosevelt may lead the Antarctic expedition to be sent from the United States was the statement made today by Prof. Donald B. McMillan the scientific member of Commander Peary's successful North Pole party.

THE BEST HOUR OF LIFE is when you do some great deed or discover some wonderful fact. This hour came to J. R. Pitt, of Rocky Mt., N. C., when he was suffering intensely, as he says, "from the worst cold I ever had, I then proved to my great satisfaction, what a wonderful cold and cough cure Dr. King's New Discovery is. For after taking one bottle, I was entirely cured. You can't say anything too good of a medicine like that." Its the surest and best remedy for diseased lungs, hemorrhages, la grippe, asthma, hay fever, any throat or lung trouble, 50c. $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Chas. C. Davis.

The explorer seemed to be in perfect health but disgusted at being met by the representatives of the newspapers. He said that he wanted to be left in peace and declined absolutely to be interviewed.

STRONG APPEAL FOR IMPROVEMENTS.

EDITOR OF MT. VERNON SIGNAL:—We are very much pleased to know that the people of this county are agitating the questions of good roads and better schools. It is a long, long time since the greatest teacher of men asked the question: "Am I my brother's keeper?" with a reply: "No man liveth unto himself." Parents and teachers are awakening to the fact that there is never a physical ailment, never a mental defect, never a social evil that threatens the life of any child in the community that does not threaten the lives of all the children.

It is this awakening and the realization that we do not live unto ourselves and that love abounds for all children that has given rise to the associations of mothers and teachers and all over the country Mother's Clubs are now considered necessities.

We are all agreed that the home is the substructure of national life and that school life is but the broadening of home life—the second step is the preparation for citizenship. For many years there has been a tendency to transfer the education of children more and more from the home to the school. At the tender age of four the child in the larger cities now enters the kindergarten. The qualification of the teacher, the growth of the child and the obligation of the mother recall to her that it is still her privilege and her duty to see that not only her children but that all the children are provided with good schools and made fit to attend them; that they be kept from vicious influences and protected by adequate child labor legislation. The consciousness that no child can serve two masters draws parent and teacher together and convinced that their aims are the same, they are organized for labor with and for the child.

In the largest cities joint committees of parents and teachers, whose duty it is to co-operate with the police, see that dance halls, billiard rooms and picture theatres are intelligently and carefully controlled for athletic play.

The women of our community, their exception being the only of children and the needs of youth are realizing the necessity of conspicuous attention to the children.

One day a young woman went fourth from a school building in the heart of the tenement-house region, in the lower East Side of New York. As she picked her way slowly through the crowded street it was evident that she was a person well beloved, for even the men with the push carts made way for her and the faces of the children were glad. Presently a woman stepped to her side and walked with her. Laving a respectful hand on the teacher's arm, she said: "I cannot help seeing how these children love you. They are in your school. They are such a help to me at home. Sometimes Benny he says he won't. Then he quickly stops and says, 'All right, mama. Miss K says it is right I should obey'. Do you know, lady, that when you stand on the platform in the school, and you say something, it is just like when God speaks."

The mother must visit the schools; the parents must take an interest. They should not go as a hostile critic, but as learners. They are volunteer officers and as such they can render the most effective service by helping the officer in charge. Their attitude may be defined for them by that noble woman who has been called Chicago's first citizen, Miss Jane Adams, of Hull House. In a recent article she says: "I am always diffident when I come before a body of professional teachers, realizing as I do that it is very easy for those of us who look on to bring indictments against results."

What Rockcastle has needed for many years is a display of more interest upon the part of the mothers and teachers in the training of the children. The parents should visit the school and encourage both teacher and pupil, provide for them better school buildings and more beautiful grounds.

Most respectfully,
GEORGIA McFERRON.

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.
