NOTICE.—Obituaries, memoriams, etc., not to exceed 80 words, inserted free; $1 charged for each additional eighty words.

Correspondents will please remember to always mail their items so that they will reach us on Monday. This matter is seriously important to us.

NOTWITHSTANDING the election is over, the advancing tendency of wheat continues.

It is charged that the Bryan men of Owen Co. voted from 600 to 1,000 illegal voters for Willie.

IMAGINARY McKinley Cabinet. Making is the favorite pastime of political news-gossip now.

Peun beat Thomas 438. That is the unofficial plurality. The final count may make a slight change.

SENATOR DAVID B. HILL says "The sentiment of the country was certainly against Mr. Bryan." It was; indeed it was, Davy.

As a rule there is nothing meritorious in contesting elections. Col. Breckinridge takes the best course in not contesting with Settle in the 7th district.

In the late vote is used as the basis both parties in Bath county will have an increased delegate vote in conventions; the Democrats, 9; the Republicans, 8.

THE news from all the financial centers is that gold and all other kinds of money are rushing to the banks and more is in circulation than has been for a long time.

BETWEEN 2,000 and 4,000 National Democrats supported Palmer and Buckner in Kentucky. The balance put their ballots in for Mack, as they thought would do the most good.

THE National Democrats and third money Democrats who supported McKinley were not out for "pie." It is hoped that they will neither expect nor accept "pie" from the McKinley administration.

THE most important party lesson taught by the late election is that men who are Democrats on professed principle will not tolerate any departure by the Democratic party from the time-honored principles of Democracy.

THE vote in Kentucky is so close that there is a prospect of Smith, the first Bryan elector defeating some of the lower McKinley electors. Chairman Roberts figures McKinley's plurality at 444 with the official vote of only four counties missing.

ALL the banks paid out gold today when requested, but the precious metal was not in demand. Several times it was refused by holders of small checks. There were also a number of deposits. One man brought in $5,000 early in the morning and had it deposited to his credit. It is thought that millions will soon be in circulation from the hoards in this city alone. One broker who has an opportunity to be unusually well informed estimates the private hoards of gold in Louisville alone at $5,000,000 or $6,000,000.—Louisville Courier-Journal, Nov. 5.

On last Thursday the Government got independent about receiving gold in exchange for other currency and notified all Assistant Treasurers over the country to advise in advance of large exchanges and that changes would no longer be made on gold to the Treasury and currency returned therefor.

The next course of local political contention will come in the campaign for the Democratic primary nominations next spring. By reason of the 212 county plurality, Democrats will count on the nomination being almost equivalent to an election, and aspirants will be both numerous and enthusiastic.

The heterogeneous elements that supported Bryan can never be welded together in a party of permanent, not even on the single financial question. The Populists will go back to their organization, taking a large proportion of the late Democrats, and the silver Republicans will join the party of protective tariff.

The Ky. General Assembly now has 70 Republican members, a majority on joint ballot. That will enable the Republicans to elect a Republican Senator to succeed Blackburn. Gov. Bradley will probably call an extra session, so that John Boyle will be the caucus nominee at the last session after Hunter withdrew. But the prospects are that a new caucus will be held and Hunter, Boyle, Bradley, Holt and Yerkes will all be aspirants.

The General Assembly will have 16 Republicans, 11 silver Democrats, 8 sound money Democrats in the Senate, and 52 Republicans, 32 silver Democrats and 14 sound money Democrats in the House.

The supporters of McKinley and of Bryan can not claim any virtue over each other in regard to the purchase of votes; but because Bryan workers had the most money, there were, in our belief, at least five votes bought for Bryan to each one bought for McKinley in Bath county. It is common talk that a large number of colored voters were bribed to vote for Bryan or against McKinley. Heretofore in Presidential elections the colored vote has always been practically solid for the Republican nominees. If reports are correct there was only $100 of Republican money sent into Bath county. There was no special inducement for local contributions to the McKinley fund and likely little or none were made.

The total vote on the free turnpike question was 2,177, with a majority of 495 in favor of free turnpikes. Had the subject been agitated more the vote and majority would have been much larger. We have been satisfied for a long time that the people wanted turnpikes free of toll. We have believed, and still are, in the conviction, that it is a mistaken policy and believe that experience will show that the burden will only be increased and shifted to the shoulders of the already complaining tax-payers. It has been stated recently in some of the newspapers that the total tax rate of the Ohio counties bordering on the Ohio river were $3 to $4. Free turnpikes are partially responsible for such enormous taxation. Still, our people want no toll collected at the toll-gates, and toll is supreme. We trust all will patiently wait until the county acquires the roads by due purchase and just payment.

The newspapers are crowded with mention of important industries all over the country that have resumed operation since the election. Everything now promises good times for the banks and nearly all the banks in exchange for other currency, and, singularly enough, there is scarcely anybody that wants it. Large sums of gold have been deposited in the banks all over the country, private holders no longer fearing that gold will go to a premium. The Treasury gold reserve is rapidly increasing and the Government appears not at all overburdened by the increase. These facts refute the anti-election charge that the imports of gold were for political effect. There seems now no likelihood of another raid on the Treasury gold and no necessity of another bond issue as long as there is no threat of a change to the silver 16 to 1 standard. Still, if the Republican standard is to be maintained for the retirement of the greenbacks and Treasury notes redeemable on demand. With no necessity for redemption there will be no need of the $100,000,000 gold reserve and no reason for future bond sales on that account.

KENTUCKY cast a total vote of 34,129 in the Presidential election of 1888. Cleveland's plurality over Harrison was 38,666. In 1892 there were 350,826 votes cast, and Cleveland's plurality over Harrison was 40,020. There were 23,500 Populist votes cast, and 6,424 Prohibition. In 1895 there were 357,067 votes cast, and Bradley's plurality over Hardin was 8,912. There were 16,911 Populist votes cast. In 1896 there were about 425,000 votes cast, and McKinley's plurality over Bryan is about 444.

The Democratic sound money defection undoubtedly beat Hardin, although a large majority of the sound money Democrats supported him. This year in the fusion nearly the total Populist vote was cast for Bryan. In addition Bryan received several thousand Republican silver votes. Still the Democratic 49,000 plurality of 1892 was more than overcome, showing that silverism and fusion have cost the Kentucky Democratic party its plurality and supremacy in the State. Aside from principle, and considered only as practical politics with a view to the offices, silverism and the other new departures of the Chicago platform were woeful failures. Nor do they promise anything in the future for the so-called "regular" Democratic organization. To continue the adherence of the Populists to the "regular" Democracy must go over outright to Populism. To remain on the Chicago platform will insure the alienation of the National Democrats. Without the alliance of either the Populists or the National Democrats the Democratic organization will be impotent for ensuing elections; and without the cohesive force of successful office-seeking a large proportion of the party leaders and workers will lose their enthusiasm and the party is certain to divide for its present numbers.

If the "regular" Democracy will come back to the real Democratic principles and policies as enunciated in the Indianapolis platform there is bright hope for the party's future. Otherwise we look only for decay and gradual disintegration, with the duty devolving upon the National Democrats of maintaining their organization and gradually regenerating the Democratic party of Jefferson, Jackson, Tilden and Cleveland.

CORRESPONDENCE

Forge Hill.

A. M. Ogg has been in our midst since our last report.

Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan, of Sharpshurg, are visiting relatives here.

The election passed off as expected here and everything is now quiet.

John S. Whittington fell from a horse election day and was seriously injured.

Craigs.

Uncle Johnnie Spencer departed this life Oct. 24, 1896. He died with the full triumph of the faith that his sins were pardoned. He said that four angels appeared to him and told him that he had come after him, and he told them that he would be with them. He was converted about two months before he died. He was about 75 years of age. His funeral will be preached by Rev. Robt. Alfrey, the 15th inst., at Peasicks.

Bethel.

The election passed off quietly.

Miss Maudie Trumbo, of Versailles, is at home again with her father.

Prof. J. A. Brown, of Cynthiana, has been the guest of D. S. Trumbo for a few days.

We are glad to see our village still improving. Dr. Letton is having his dwelling painted and re-modeled. Dr. Davis has purchased a lot on Main street and is having a neat two-story dwelling erected.

Sherburne.

The ladies of the Christian Church served oysters at Mrs. Gully's Saturday night.

We are well supplied with photographers at present. Mr. Poe and Mr. Diekinson are both here.

Jas. Rice, our mail-driver, took possession of the Sharpshurg & Mt. Sterling mail line Tuesday of last week. Wm. Ingram is driving this line for him.

M. T. Hendrix sold to Mr. Baugh of Lexington, 12 mules at the following prices: 2 at $90, the rest at $50. T. W. Daugherty sold to the same party 3 mules at $95, $85 and $50.

Moore's Ferry.

We are having nice weather for gathering corn.

There is some hog cholera in this vicinity reported.

B. F. Shirout, of Upper Prickly Ash, was in this vicinity the past week and bought some young cattle, the prices not known.

The election is over and McKinley carried the Forge Hill precinct. Times will be better, from the way that money was scattered.

Miss Lida Charles and her cousin, Miss Eliza Reeves, of near this place, visited Wm. Reeves, of Mt. Sterling, cousin of the former and brother of the latter, the past week.

EWINGTON.

The sick are no better.

Several sold their cattle and had to weigh up on Sunday.

There will be no school at Lane's school-house this week, as New Lane's trial is going on now.

W. T. Morgan has bought a bicycle and has the pleasure of riding to town twice a day to see his best girl.

Mr. Byron and son, of Stepstone, had two roosters, a young one and an old one. They named the old one McKinley, and the young one W. J. Bryan. His son Lee watched them fight all day and they said whichever whipped they were going to vote for his namesake, but the young one whipped and they voted for Bryan. I suppose all the Bryan men went by the roosters, but I am sorry that it didn't do any good.

Upper Prickly Ash.

Mrs. Johnson Stone visited her son, Marshall Stone, in Owingsville, last Tuesday.

Mrs. Nancy Shirout, who has been suffering with her eyes the past few weeks, is improving.

Walter Hamilton, of near Mt. Sterling, visited his grandmother, Mrs. Frances Hamilton, Saturday.

Miss Pearl Barnes visited her parents, Thomas Barnes and wife, on Pecked Oak, from Friday until Sunday.

James Barker returned from Powell county Sunday.

Where are the 30,000 Republican bolters of Iowa now?

A large crowd from Salt Lick will be here Sunday attending the singing.

The Union Sunday-school will discuss whether they will have an Xmas tree or not, next Sunday.

Welcome here are the C. & O. cars on the mine R. R. 15 or more cars wanted at the furnaces per day and will commence work on the new R. R. at once.

Politicians who are talking about 1900 are a few years ahead of the times. It is business not politics that now interests the Olympia and Bath county people, and politicians may as well get into the back-ground.

Grange City.

Sam Doggett and daughter, Miss Daisy, visited at Jake Elden's Sunday.

Ed Walton, of Nicholas Co., visited R. R. Walton and family last week.

Mrs. Lou Ragland, who has been very poorly with fever and flux for the past week, is improving.

Harvey Alfrey and W. W. McKinzie's daughter married Sunday. We wish them much joy and pleasure through life's rugged pathway.

Lydia Z., the six-year-old daughter of Squire J. H. Downey and wife, while standing near the fire, popping corn Friday morning, having her clothing caught fire, burning her so severely that death relieved her of her suffering Friday night. The friends of the deceased have our heartfelt sympathy in their bereavement.

On the 25th of Oct. death again visited the home of Robert Collier and took from him his beloved wife. She had just recovered from a severe attack of typhoid fever and pneumonia when she took the flux, which caused her death. She was buried on the 29th at the Powers burying ground, by the side of four of her children, who preceded her, the last one but a few weeks ago. Sallie Collier was 22 years old and the only daughter of Richard and Bettie Collier. The bereaved husband and one child are left to mourn her loss. They have the sympathy of all in their bereavement. Who of his age has been more unfortunate than Bob? Only 27 years old and has buried five of his family.

East Fork of Flat Creek.

Come, boys, take those Bryan badges off, cool down and finish gathering your corn.

Married, the 4th inst., at Elder R. T. D. Zimmerman's, Geo. Wm. Stewart, of Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, of Indian Creek, and Miss Edie Hendrix, daughter of D. H. Hendrix, of East Fork. May the sunlight of prosperity and happiness ever illumine their pathway and the love of their friends grow stronger as the years advance.

NATIONAL HYMN.

It's poor old Bryan, he's dead and gone;

He's gone where the silverites go-o; He's gone where the silverites go.

There's no more work for Bryan to do.

For he's gone where the silverites go.

CHORUS.

Pick up the shovel and the hoe-o-o, And hang up the fiddle and the bow.

Died, the 28th ult., of flux, Mrs. Robert Collier, aged 23. She was a member of the Methodist Church and was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Collier; interment in the Powers graveyard by the side of her four little babies, who preceded her. She leaves a husband and one child (a girl) to mourn her loss.

Died, the 5th inst., John W. Woodard, aged 81 years (better known as "Uncle Jack"). Deceased leaves 7 children, all boys, to mourn his loss. Four of his sons—Pasman, Alfred, Thomas and Sanford—all living in the West, 3 in Missouri and one in Illinois—and three in Bath county: James, Geo. M. and Samuel. Deceased was well liked by all who knew him. Interment in the Woodard graveyard. Mr. Woodard was always ready to lend a helping hand in sickness or anything else. He was a strict member of the Methodist Church and died with the good hope of going to a better world. Sarah, his wife, preceded him 21 years ago. She, I am informed, was a Christian lady and was well thought of by all who knew her. The children have the heartfelt sympathy of our community.

Sharpsburg.

It's over, and the country saved.

And the colored troops fought nobly.

The election here passed off quietly; only one fight.

B. H. Wren, of near Judy, was here Thursday on business.

Moorefield.

Dr. Kash's father is visiting him this week.

The election passed off very quietly at Union.

Everybody seems sobered down, and business resumed as usual.

A little son of Mrs. Jo Wilson had an arm broken while playing at school.

The cold wave that followed the extremely warm weather goes hard with us all.

Mrs. Stamper Dickey visited Mrs. C. W. Durham on her way home from Mt. Sterling.

A great deal of stealing is going on around us. Nearly every one who has turkeys complains of losing some.

Ed Grubbs, wife and Miss Jennie Graves visited J. B. Durham and son Charles from Friday till Sunday eve.

Jno. Shirout bought several flocks of turkeys last week at 5 cents per pound. Ladies are selling early this fall, for fear of having them stolen.

Mrs. Harrison Whaley went to Louisville last week and had a tumor removed from her neck. Miss Rue Caldwell also went and had some growth removed from near one of her eyes. Dr. and Mrs. Kash accompanied them.

Quarterly meeting at the M. E. Church Saturday and Sunday. The Presiding Elder was absent, but the pulpit was filled by Bro. Chandler. Bro. Wrightman is preaching at Sharpshurg and presiding at quarterly conference there.

Thanksgiving Day.

Washington, Nov. 4.—The President today issued the following Thanksgiving proclamation:

By the President of the United States: The people of the United States should never be unmindful of the gratitude they owe the God of nations for his watchful care which has shielded them from disaster and pointed out to them the way of peace and happiness. Nor should they ever refuse to acknowledge with contrite hearts their proneness to turn away from God's teachings and to follow with sinful pride after their own devices. To the end that these thoughts may be quickened, it is fitting that on a day specially appointed we should join together in approaching the throne of grace with praise and supplication.

Therefore, I, Grover Cleveland, President of the United States, do hereby designate and set apart Thursday, the 26th day of the present month of November, to be kept and observed as a day of thanksgiving and prayer throughout our land. On that day let all our people forego their usual work and occupation and, assembled in their accustomed places of worship, let them with one accord render thanks to the Ruler of the Universe for our preservation as a nation and deliverance from every threatened danger; for the peace that has dwelt within our boundaries; for our defence against disease and pestilence during the year that has passed; for the plentiful rewards that have followed the labor of our husbandmen; and for all the other blessings that have been vouchsafed to us.

And let us, through the mediation of Him who has taught us how to pray, implore the forgiveness of our sins and a continuation of heavenly favor.

Let us not forget on this day of thanksgiving the poor and needy, and by deeds of charity let our offerings of praise be made more acceptable in the light of the Lord.

Witness my hand and the seal of the United States, which I have caused to be hereto affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this 4th day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-six, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and twenty-first.

GROVER CLEVELAND, President.

RICHARD OLNEY, Secy. of State. (Seal.)

Watterson on the Election.

New York, Nov. 7.—The New York Herald's Paris correspondent tonight cables the following:

Paris, Nov. 7.—Mr. Henry Watterson was seen by the New York Herald correspondent this afternoon at the Hotel Domini, where he has been stopping for about a week past, en route from Geneva to the United States. In reply to a question as to what he thought of the result of the Presidential election Mr. Watterson said: "I have not had the least doubt from the beginning of the overwhelming defeat of Bryan. Having had no anxiety on the subject I experienced no excitement in the result. I got to bed on Tuesday and went to sleep. I slept soundly, confident that the morning's news would be all one way. The virtue and intelligence of the people were on trial and they have been vindicated. Conservative government was in issue and the response of universal suffrage is all that the friends of public order and national credit could desire. In this regard the victory will be of incalculable value to the prestige of the country in foreign lands, and to its material prosperity, in so far as that it may be affected by foreign investments."

"What in your judgment, Mr. Watterson, will be the effect of the election on affairs at home?"

"The business of the country has been subjected to serious and prolonged strain. This strain being already lifted, money held back from investment will begin to flow. A year of rest from political agitation, intervening between now and the meeting of Congress, is indispensable to all classes. This, I imagine, we shall have. Admonished by Cleveland's misadventures with Congress, Mr. McKinley will hardly risk an extra session, but too much must not be expected. The country has escaped from imminent peril, but the elements of disorder still exist, with their temper unquenched. On the other hand, the friends of credit and order embrace many differences of opinion, and may not be brought into concurrent action except under pressure of necessity. It may require four years more to bring the country to a sense of where its danger truly lies. I do not expect the decisive battle will be fought or won before 1900."

"But what about the deficit in our revenues, Mr. Watterson, in view of which Mr. McKinley might feel it necessary to call an extra session?"

"That," was the reply, "is likely to be secured for the time being at least by the return of public confidence and by the short crops in Europe, all tending toward the increase of prosperity of our people, and consequently to rising revenues."

I put to Mr. Watterson the question: "What are your views respecting sound money, the future of the Democrats and the parties in the United States generally?"

"That is a question not easy to answer. Much will depend on circumstances which can not be clearly foreseen. Sound money Democrats have aided the Republicans to rescue the country from the serious dangers which threatened it. Whether the alliance thus formed will last, and for how long, depends partly upon the course which the new Administration takes and partly upon the disposition of those Democrats
