Miles Terry was appointed foreman.

The following compose the petit juries:

The first three days were taken up in the trials of the misdemeanors cases and more were disposed of than at any court for years. The Sheriff and his deputies had executed all the papers that it was possible to execute. Judge Riddell did not take any illegal excuses for continuances. The juries are made up of good men and are doing their duty well. Altogether this is the best court this county has had for years.

No felonies have as yet been tried, but we think several will be disposed of next week.

The law is now being enforced in Breathitt county and the people all over the county are beginning to see the good results, which are bound to result from the execution of the law.

A Large Meeting.

Last Sunday was a red letter day on Lower Quicksand. In spite of the rain people came in crowds. The occasion in the afternoon was the dedication of a fine, new organ, at the mouth of Quicksand. The organ was purchased of Mr. Endicott, and is a beauty to look at and its fine, rich tones are very pleasing to the ear. Everybody was in good humor. Mrs. "Shug" Frazier and Miss Hattie Kraul presided at the instrument. There was special music. Several of the Sunday school children sang several fine songs. Solos were sung by Miss Kraul and Mr. Preston. The theme of the sermon by Rev. Edwin T. Preston was "Music." It was listened to with close attention by the large audience. The organ will be a great help in the work there.

As usual, there will be services at 10 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. every Sunday, as follows: Hounshell school house and at Seymour Chapman school house. There will be preaching following Sunday school by Rev. Edwin T. Preston, of the Soul Winner's Society, who has charge of the work in that field.

Death called for Aunt Lottie Sawyers last Wednesday night. She had been in bad health for some time. She leaves four children, three sons and one daughter, to mourn her loss. Death is the door into the spirit land where graves are not found and funerals have not been introduced.

Jere McDaniel of Miller Branch, gave the boys and girls an entertainment with an old fashioned farmer's supper Saturday night. The affair was quite pleasant. Among those that partook of the festivities were Misses Sarah Riley and Martha Neeley, William Mosely, John Woods, Elihue McIntosh, Beverly Baker, and Milard McIntosh, of Buffalo, Sambo Deaton and James Baker, the master musician. The music was sweet. The boys engaged in the old fashioned Kentucky hoe-down. Bard Gabbard, of Buffalo, was the prize winner.

This week has been a busy one for the officials in this part of the county. Squire Herald had summoned to meet him at the Burton & Riley mill, Saturday, quite a number of our citizens to testify in regard to the selling of whisky by a certain woman. No evidence was obtained sufficient to sustain the action of violation. She says she wants the same protection that is allowed to others of her neighbors. She also says that no effort as yet has been made to prohibit a certain firm from handling whisky and brandy for the purpose of making money; that to prohibit all the rest without restriction to the above mentioned firm is inconsistent, and that if the county officials will rule them to a sufficient bond to keep the peace and not violate the law by selling spirituous liquors, that she will, for the satisfaction of all the good citizens of the county, take and place on record an oath that she will not sell any intoxicating liquors for the next four years, beginning June 1st, 1906. The best element of Crockettville ask the chief justice of the county to place all that are selling liquor under a bond sufficiently large enough to prohibit the sale.
