

ADVOCATE.

OF THE WEEK.

The Optic is a new paper, published at Kuttawa, Lyon county, by W. F. Story.

Sidney Lewis, the slayer of his father, Judge Lewis, of Pineville, Ky., has been captured and returned to Harlan county, Ky., for trial.

The residence and barn of Mrs. Chimneyworth, near Somerset, was destroyed by fire Tuesday morning. Loss $1,500, with small insurance.

And now it is a Winger Trust that has been formed. Even the poor washerwomen can't escape. The capital stock will be $2,500,000 and is almost entirely held in Rhode Island.

I. N. Massie has offered to donate an eligible lot on which to erect a parsonage for the Christian Church. The address of the church have the matter under consideration. — [Winchester Democrat.

George Howe, a conductor on the Cincinnati Southern, met with a fatal accident Tuesday afternoon. He was struck by the water pipe of a tank and knocked under the moving train. Both legs were crushed from the thigh to the ankle.

Ernest J. F. Barton, an artist sixty-three years old, was found dead in his studio, in Providence, R. I., by his son on Wednesday morning. He sat with his face buried in a sponge saturated with chloroform. He had been slightly demented for some time.

The citizens of Georgetown have presented to the County Court a petition praying that the Court will rescind the order changing the town clock from standard to sun time. The petition must lay over till March Court, and in the meantime the petitioner will have to bear the charge till then.

Capt. B. A. Tracy, of Clark county, made an assignment to Judge Jas. H. French for the benefit of his creditors. His assets are reported to be about $15,000, and his liabilities $20,000. He is one of the most prominent farmers in the county, and is also a prominent official in the new Tobacco Growers' Association.

Will S. Alley, a stockholder of the Monon Railroad Company, has filed at Chicago a suit against the road's President, Dr. W. L. Breyfogle, in which he alleges that Dr. Breyfogle and "Napoleon" Ives are in collusion to wreck the road for their individual profit. He also asks that a receiver be appointed at once to take charge of the company's affairs.

The Italian bark Nicolone from Cotte, France, reports having picked up on January 30, in latitude 15, 40 n.; longitude 52, 57 w., six men in charge of the chief officer of the British bark Caribou. She was bound from Brazil for Ghent, with a cargo of phosphate of lime, and was abandoned January 21 in a sinking condition. The captain and six men, who left the ship in a life-boat, have not been heard from.

Chancellor S. A. Key, of Chattanooga, delivered an opinion refusing to grant an injunction against Rev. G. D. Olden, the pastor of the Shiloh Baptist church, colored, holding church service. The Chancellor entered at some length into all phases of the case, and took the ground that courts of law should not interfere in ecclesiastical matters such as figure in the application for an injunction. Shiloh is a wealthy church, and the leading colored congregation in the city.

The steamer Sherlock struck a pier of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway bridge Tuesday night at Cincinnati, went to pieces and sank. She had about thirty passengers and a crew of over half a hundred men. Most of the passengers were rescued from the floating wreck, and nearly all of the crew succeeded in getting ashore. Two of the registered passengers are known to have perished. It is claimed by one of the cabin boys that both the mate and engineer were drunk.

When Elder J. S. Sweeney stepped from the train at Maysville, Saturday night, James Hefflin and W. B. Stockdale, two well-known detectives, the him, and Hefflin bet Stockdale the cigars that the stranger was a Democratic candidate for Governor. The detectives followed him to the Central Hotel, and one of them slipped around and enquired of the clerk the name of the gentleman, and were astonished to find that he was a minister and not a politician. — [Kentuckian-Citizen.

This story comes from Scottsburg, Ind.: For some time David Thoruell, a shoemaker, has been afflicted with what was thought to be an aggravated case of tuberculosis. He had gradually lost his flesh and strength, until he was compelled to seek his bed. He coughed incessantly, and at length his family and friends concluded that the end was drawing near. A few nights since he was seized with a spasmodic coughing spell, and before he stopped he coughed up a wooden particle resembling a shoe peg. An improvement in his condition was at once noted, and now it is believed that he will immediately regain his health.

Miss Mary Dally was married in 1856 to Frederick Dally. Her husband was killed in the war, in 1868 she was granted a pension. In 1869 she married William Skyles, and her pension as Widow Dally ceased. Skyles died in 1873, but he being a disabled soldier, his widow drew a pension till 1876, when it was found that his first wife was still living, and that Mrs. Dally's marriage was void, which fact cut off her pension granted on the strength of being Skyles' widow. She now files a petition in Goshen, Ind., asking the court to annul the marriage with Skyles, in order that she may be restored to the roll as the widow of Dally.

In the heat of political campaigns one expects party leaders to resort to every device to score a point, and so we look for sectional harangues from New England to the Northwest, depicting the horrors of the rebellion, and describing the unregenerate character of traitors. But since 1888 there has been no cessation in the efforts of men like Chandler, Frye, Blair, Hoar and Lodge to "fire the Northern heart," and keep the Southern States out of the Union. But now that Congress is about to adjourn, and Republican leaders are casting about for some winning issue for 1892, there are indications that at last it is evident, even to the most bigoted, the war is over even on the hustings, and that there is not even a faint hope of another victory in the folds of the bloody shirt.

One evidence of a growing belief in the Republican party, that to fight successfully a political campaign in 1892, it must turn about and face the future instead of the past, is contained in the following paragraphs from the Detroit Tribune, one of the leading newspapers of the Northwest: "This much being understood at the start, the Tribune may doubtless be permitted to express its candid belief that there is no further profit to the Republican party in training its campaign guns upon the incidents in the past history of the country and the subjects of much contemporaneous Republican oratory enumerated below: "(1) The war of the Rebellion. The war is over.

"(2) The Solid South. The unfortunate condition of things in that section does not properly give license to demagogic appeals to prejudice in the North.

"(3) The Bloody Shirt. The day of this garment's usefulness as a political argument has gone by.

"(4) The Golden Club. The bugaboo of British gold in American elections has been seen so often that it frightens anybody now. One argument for the protective tariff is worth 100 columns of invective against the free-trade campaign fund.

"(5) The Rebels in Congress. Every one of these men was restored to the full privilege of citizenship with the sanction of the Republican party, expressed in its national platform, and given effect by the acts of its representatives in the national legislature. But a great many Republican orators do not know the history of the Republican party."

There is sound sense in all this, and it will be a fortunate thing for the whole country, North and South alike, when these statements are accepted without question. What we need today is such a condition of public mind as invites not an appeal to prejudice, but to reason; a condition which requires not mere harangues on historical questions, but a debate of current issues.

Even "Bloody Kansas" recognizes the wisdom of abandoning the oil line of battle, and is preparing to remove the political disabilities of the old rebels of '61. Truly the world "do move." — [Courier-Journal.

The Beast.

From an awkward situation, it is usually the good natured man who "comes out ahead." An equable and placid demeanor is always compatible with dignity. The New York Tribune tells the following story of Agostino Depretis, the late Premier of Italy, who was addicted to loud snoring: "He once lodged at Casale at a second-rate inn, in a room next that of an ex-official, who had gone there for the purpose of applying for employment.

Being disturbed during the night by the loud snoring of his neighbor, this man threw his boots at the wall, and then proceeded to complain in rather insolent terms, loud enough to penetrate into the next room. Signor Depretis apologized, and, in order to be no longer a disturbance, lighted his candle and began to read a book. The next morning the Minister sent a waiter to make his excuses to his neighbor.

"Who is the beast?" asked the ex-official.

"The beast" is the Minister, Signor Depretis," replied the waiter. The poor ex-official almost had an apoplectic fit. He, in turn, sent innumerable excuses to Signor Depretis, who received him afterward, told him that he should be employed as he desired, "more especially," he continued, "because last night you caused me to read an interesting book that I had never found time to look into before."

The First Step.

Perhaps you are run down, can't eat, can't sleep, can't think, can't do anything to your satisfaction, and you wonder what ails you. You should heed the warning, you are taking the first step into nervous prostration. You need a nerve tonic and in Electric Bitters you will find the exact remedy for restoring your nervous system to its normal, healthy condition. Surprising results follow the use of this great nerve tonic and alternative. Your appetite returns, good digestion is restored, and the liver and kidneys resume healthy action. Try a bottle. Price 50c. at W. S. Lloyd's drug store.

These principles, however, although believed to be correct, do not necessarily preclude the idea of improvement from parents not of registered or pedigree stock. There are numerous instances of unusually fine milking qualities to be found in cows of the so-called native cattle that cannot be traced back to any ancestral stock. With such a dam and a male from a family of superior milkers, an improvement is not only possible but probable. At the least, it may be expected that the best traits of the mother will reappear in her offspring. Through careful selection and breeding for a series of years, not only is a great improvement in cattle possible, but it is in this way that some distinct and valuable breeds have been formed.

The report of the Agricultural Department show that the increase of the number of farm animals since 1870 has kept pace with the growth of population, with the single exception of sheep. In 1870, with 38,000,000 of population, we had 40,853,000; on January 1, 1891, with 63,000,000 of population, according to the census, and probably more than 65,000,000 in fact, the number of sheep in the country is put down at 43,431,000. All these years the votaries of protection have been trying to hold the farmers to the support of protection, and in a measure succeeding, by telling them what wonderful things a high tariff on wool would do for the industry of sheep raising. All the time, however, the number of sheep, in proportion to population, has been declining. In 1870 there were nearly three million more sheep than inhabitants; in 1890 twenty millions less. Is it any wonder that the farmers should be revolting against Republican rule? — [Courier Journal.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with neuralgia and rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, O., had five large fever sores on his leg, doctor said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by W. S. Lloyd.

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from kidney and liver trouble. John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best kidney and liver medicine; made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters if just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; I found new strength, good appetite and felt just like I had a new lease on life; Only 50c. a bottle at W. S. Lloyd's drugstore."

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, of Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use, and after taking ten bottles found herself sound and well, now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at W. S. Lloyd's drug store; large bottles 50c. and $1.00.

MEDICAL.

No Money Required of Responsible Parties to Commence Treatment

C. H. BOGMAN, M. D. The well-known SURGEON and SPECIALIST of Cincinnati, O., formerly ASSISTANT PHYSICIAN of the PHILADELPHIA GENERAL HOSPITAL, and PHYSICIAN-IN-CHIEF of the OHIO MEDICAL INSTITUTE, has for thirty years devoted his attention to the treatment of CHRONIC, NERVOUS, FEMALE AND SURGICAL DISEASES, such as Bronchitis, Catarrh, Cough, Rheumatism, all diseases of the Stomach, Bowels, Rectum, Liver, Kidneys, Bladder, Sexual Organs, Heart, Nerves and Brain; diseases of the Eye and Ear, Deformities, etc.

HE WILL BE AT THE COMMERCIAL HOTEL, MT. STERLING, KY., Saturday, March 14th, 1891, One Day Only. Returning Every Fourth Week Thereafter.

CONSULTATION AND EXAMINATION IS FREE, and he will promptly tell you all about your disease and the prospects of a cure. He undertakes no incurable cases. LADIES afflicted with any of the ills peculiar to their sex may consult him with perfect confidence, and the assurance of certain relief and permanent cure. Their cases will receive that kind and considerate attention which all will appreciate. His treatment always proves satisfactory; local treatment is seldom necessary. Ovarian Tumors, in their earlier stages, cured without pain or instrumental interference. Sterility is usually the result of carelessness or ignorance. It can be remedied. Epilepsy or Fits cured by a never failing treatment. Deafness, many cases can be cured. Cancer permanently removed from the most delicate organs by our own peculiar method; little or no pain; no loss of blood; the only positive cure. Stricture, Varicocele, Hydrocele, Spermatorrhea, and all unnatural discharges permanently cured.

MEN of all ages who suffer from indiscretions and excesses will benefit by our constant and treatment. If they observe certain sediments in the urine, or irritation of the urinary organs, they should consult us without delay. We restore all such cases. The doctor treats, with unfailing success, all forms of Rectal Disease, such as Piles, Fistula, Discharge and Elevation of the Bowel, by a method of his own discovery, without pain or detention from business. He guarantees all cases. Early interference is considered the best of judgment in all cases, and saves time, money, and health. The success attained in the treatment of the cases which he makes his specialty is truly phenomenal. Wonderful Cures have been effected in old and difficult cases which have baffled the efforts of all others. As his rooms are usually crowded it is better to call early in the day to avoid being delayed.

Persons consulting him should bring from two to four ounces of their urine in a clean bottle for examination. Patients treated by mail or express, but when possible personal consultation is preferable. List of questions sent on application. All Consultations, Correspondence, and Cases Strictly Confidential. Treatment sent C. O. D. to any part of the United States and Canada. Address with postage for reply.
