Two Girls' Journey.

There are two young ladies spending a few weeks in this city who have recently made a remarkable journey. They are Miss Mary Jacques, of Java Lodge, Hampshire, England, and Miss Emma Hartley, of Junction City, Texas.

The town of Junction City is nearly 200 miles from the Mexican border, the entire distance to the city of Mexico from that place being about 1,600 miles. A light wagon and a team of Texas horses were purchased, and all plans for the trip had been perfected early last September. In the wagon were stored a complete camping outfit and a small amount of provisions, it being the intention of the ladies to procure the necessary supply of eatables from people along the line of their journey. The provisions taken along were only to be used in cases of necessity. The only firearms carried were a brace of pistols.

The country lying between Junction City and Piedras Negras, where they crossed the Rio Grande River into Mexico, is a desolate, mountainous region, the only inhabitants being ranchmen, the inhabitants being at intervals of from twenty-five to fifty miles. The journey to the Rio Grande River occupied four days. It was at the Mexican border that the girls met with their first obstacle.

They found that the Mexican duties on their horses and wagons would cost them more than a new outfit. They conferred as to what would be the best thing for them to do under the circumstances, and finally they decided to dispatch their teams and wagons back to Junction City. This was done, and they crossed over the bridge to Piedras Negras on foot, and purchased another outfit in that city, and again set out on their journey of 1,400 miles overland to the Capital.

The journey to Monterey was made over mountain trails, but they were beset with no severe difficulties. They were treated with universal courtesy and respect by the natives, and were given every assistance asked for by those whom they met. They were prepared for danger and adventure, but in this they were disappointed, the most thrilling incident of their trip being the riding of a drunken soldier into their tent by mistake, the astonished but courteous Mexican quickly retired with profuse apologies for the intrusion.

In the higher altitudes they experienced some discomforts, owing to chilly nights and the scarcity of wood and coal for camping. They passed through sections of the country which had never before been penetrated or traversed by any foreigner, and the astonishment of the natives was very amusing.

Every night of the journey, which occupied nearly three months, was spent in their camp tent alone and unprotected. They traveled by the way of Monterey, Saltillo, San Luis Potosi and Pachuca. At Pachuca they spent several days visiting the mines, iron works and reducers.

They spent several days in the city of Mexico, and started to make their return journey overland, but owing to the severe weather experienced on the uplands they were compelled to abandon their team and wagon at San Luis Potosi and finish their trip by rail. But determined to enjoy the unsurpassed climate and scenery of Mexico to the utmost, they traveled a good part of the way to this city on the locomotive.—[San Francisco Examiner.]

Two Girls' Journey.

Every girl has a good figure if her father is rich.

It is not so hard for a man worth $1,000,000 to be a philosopher. It is not necessary, either.

The popular sailor hat is seen once more, but with a lower crown and a broader brim than were once worn.

The upright man does not cover as much ground as he might—[Dallas (Tex.) News.]

New York's police are to turn census enumerators. It is presumed they cannot be bulldozed.

Lawn tennis will flourish in New York this summer. The authorities have laid out 129 courts in Central Park, for which regular permits are issued.

Notwithstanding the fact that Chauncey M. Depew has an indictment hanging over his head, he will take his accustomed trip to Europe with Mrs. Depew in July.

Mrs. Wm. C. Whitney and family will occupy the Travers cottage at Newport this season, where they will entertain extensively.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes believes that body and mind are both affected by the character of food consumed. "An exclusively pork diet gives a bristly character to the beard and hair," and too much food from the sea gives the shine and motions of a fish.

Mrs. Salter, the Mayor of Argonia, Kan., besides attending to her public and social duties, has done all her housework, including washing, ironing and cooking for a family of five, and during the past year she has increased her family from five to six.

Sarah Bernhardt's tips completely astonished the bell-boys and servants of the California Hotel, says the Delmonico Wave. To the waiting maid who attended her the divine gave two twenty-dollar gold pieces, and on the garçon who served her meals she conferred four twenties. Rather a contrast to President Harrison's niggardliness.

When Mme. Patti-Nicolini was met in St. Louis she said: "I have crossed all the oceans many times, and I am rarely troubled with seasickness. My remedy? Oh, it is simple enough, as are all the remedies suggested for that awful disease. I remain in my berth from the moment of starting, and at each suggestion of sickness I take champagne and ice, interspersing the dose with peanuts."—[St. Louis Republic.]

Mollie E. Church, a colored graduate of Oberlin and now a teacher in the Public Schools of Washington, has been tendered the position of registrar of her alma mater. It is said that if she accepts she will be the first colored graduate of any leading college to become a member of its faculty. Oberlin is the place for the experiment. It was the first to open its doors for the education of the colored youth.

BREAKFAST BITES.

For the Ladies.

CHOCOLATE FROSTING.
One square of chocolate, 1 cupful of sugar, 2 cupful of sweet milk; boil until as thick as jelly. When taken from the stove add vanilla to taste. This quantity will do for a layer cake of three layers. About one-third would answer for just one loaf.

CHOCOLATE CUSTARD PIE.
Grate 2 tablespoonfuls of chocolate into 2 cupfuls of milk and let the milk come to a boil, stirring often to keep from scorching; let it boil until the chocolate is dissolved; then remove from the stove. Beat 3 eggs (save 1 white) and 2 cupful of sugar, add to the milk and bake like a custard. When the pie is cool, frost with the remaining white of egg and 2 tablespoonfuls of sugar.

LAYER CAKE.
One cupful of sugar, 2 cupful of butter, 2 cupful of sweet milk, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoonful of cream tartar, 1/2 teaspoonful of soda. Bake in three or four layers and use the chocolate frosting above for filling.

CREAM CAKE.
Two cupfuls of sugar, 4 eggs, 2 cupfuls of flour with 1 teaspoonful of cream tartar and 1/2 teaspoonful of soda sifted with it; last of all 1/2 cupful of hot water and 1 teaspoonful of vanilla. Bake in layers.

Filling.—One cupful of sweet cream beaten to a froth, 2 tablespoonfuls of sugar, 1/2 teaspoonful of vanilla.

MARBLE OR LEOPARD CAKE.
Dark Part.—One cupful of brown sugar, 1/2 cup of molasses, 1/2 cup of butter, yolks of 4 eggs, 1/2 nutmeg, 1 teaspoonful of cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoonful each cloves and allspice, 1/2 cupful of sour milk, 1/2 teaspoonful of soda, and 2 1/2 cupfuls of flour.

Light Part.—Two cupfuls of white sugar, 1/2 cupful of butter, whites of 4 eggs, 1/2 cupful of vanilla, 1 teaspoonful cream tartar, 1/2 teaspoonful soda. Put a spoonful of one and then the other in the tin.

Pumpkin and squash pies are as nice made without eggs as with them, if you use 1 tablespoonful of cornstarch for each pie.

A good soap for the hands is made by melting and straining 5 pounds of clean grease; dissolve 1 ounce of borax in 1 quart of water. Dissolve 1 pound of potash in a quart of water in a large dish. As soon as the borax and potash are dissolved pour the two together, then add the warm grease and 1 ounce of sassafras, or any perfume. Stir until soap and then turn into moulds. Let it set two or three days to get perfectly hard.

If you do not take up your carpets this fall it will be safest to dampen the edges with a strong solution of alum water. Put it on with an old varnish brush. It is sure death to moths.

INDIAN PUDDING.
Mix 4 heaping tablespoonfuls of Indian meal with 1 cup of molasses, 1 egg and a teaspoonful of salt. Pour over this 3 pints of boiling milk and stir well together. (I usually set the pudding pan on the stove, after putting in the milk, and stir it briskly till it boils, and the meal thickens; this will prevent its settling after it is in the oven.) Bake five hours. After the pudding has been in the oven an hour pour over it a cupful of sweet cream or milk. Serve with sweetened cream flavored with nutmeg. Very nice.

CORN CAKE.
One cup of sugar, 2 eggs, 1 quart of sour milk, 3/4 of a cup of butter, 2 tablespoonfuls of soda, 1 teaspoonful of salt, 1 quart of Indian meal and 1 cup of flour. Bake in a quick oven. One half of this quantity is enough for a family of six.

COLD FANCY PUDDING.
Into 1 pint of boiling milk, stir 1 1/2 tablespoonfuls cornstarch, yolks of 3 eggs beaten light, 2 heaping tablespoonfuls sugar, cook a few minutes. Put into a table dish; with the whites of the eggs make a frosting. Brown in the oven. Let this get cold, and when ready to serve put small pieces of red jelly on top. This makes a handsome and delicious dish for either dinner or tea.

TEA CAKES.
One and one-half teaspoonful sugar, one teaspoonful milk, 1/2 teaspoonful butter, 3 eggs, 3 teaspoonfuls flour and 3 teaspoonfuls baking powder. Rub butter and sugar to a cream. Beat whites and yolks of eggs separately, and mix, then the eggs and lastly the flour with which the baking powder has been sifted. Pour into well buttered square tins, frost and mark the frosting in squares with a knife, before it stiffens. It can then be cut through without disturbing the frosting.

I remain in my berth from the moment of starting, and at each suggestion of sickness I take champagne and ice, interspersing the dose with peanuts."—[St. Louis Republic.]

Two Girls' Journey.

When Mme. Patti-Nicolini was met in St. Louis she said: "I have crossed all the oceans many times, and I am rarely troubled with seasickness. My remedy? Oh, it is simple enough, as are all the remedies suggested for that awful disease. I remain in my berth from the moment of starting, and at each suggestion of sickness I take champagne and ice, interspersing the dose with peanuts."—[St. Louis Republic.]
