

THE ADVOCATE.

Answer to Mr. Hoffman.

[From the Carlisle Mercury.]

CARLISLE, KY., Oct. 12, 1891.

Having read the attack upon the Hurst Home Insurance Company also upon the Fleming Company by A. Hoffman, of Mt. Sterling, we print the following, which we deem a sufficient reply to all he has said.

HURST INSURANCE CO.

F. A. HERBERT, President.

W. H. SQUIRES, Director.

ROBERT BARR, Secretary.

CERTIFICATES.

To whom it may concern:

Some ten or twelve years ago, W. S. Quaintance originated a plan of insurance of which I became a member. Being elected Secretary and Treasurer at the organization of the company and continuing in that capacity ever since, I am prepared to say it is the cheapest and most reliable insurance I have any knowledge of. DAVID WILSON, Sept. 1, '85. Flemingsburg, Ky.

To whom it may concern:

Being a citizen of Fleming county and a member of the Farmers' Home Mutual Insurance Company of Fleming and also a member of the Mason County Company, and being well pleased with the plan of insurance, I take pleasure in recommending the same to the people.

ISAAC VARNASELL,

Sept. '85. Flemingsburg, Ky.

To whom it may concern:

Some twelve years ago W. S. Quaintance submitted to me his plan of mutual insurance. I was pleased with the plan and gave him my interest in getting up and organizing a company in my county, and also assisted him in drawing up a charter for said company, and am happy to say it has proved a success—being reliable and cheap. L. W. ANDREWS, Sept. 1, '85. Flemingsburg, Ky.

To whom it may concern:

Some twelve years ago W. S. Quaintance solicited me to become a member of his plan of insurance, but having just gotten loose from a bogus company after sustaining considerable loss I declined to take a membership, but, upon reflection, being so pleased with the simplicity and fairness of the plan, I became a member or stockholder to the amount of $3,800, hence, I can say cheerfully to the people, as I have often said to him, it is the best insurance in the world, the old Aetna not excepted. It cannot break; the Aetna may. E. A. ROBERTSON, Sept. 1, '85. Tilton, Ky.

To whom it may concern:

In 1864 I originated the Farmers' Home Mutual Insurance. The plan was suggested to me while soliciting aid for a neighbor who lost his house and all it contained by fire in daylight, reducing to ashes in one hour the labor and toil of himself and wife for fifteen years. I am grateful that after a trial of over ten years my plan of insurance has proven quite a success, costing the stockholders 20 cents per annum on $100, being less than one-third the cost of insurance per annum in the old companies. Practically this plan of insurance is a joint stock association for the mutual protection of each member against loss by fire, wind or lightning, organized with the understanding if there is nothing lost there is nothing to pay.

W. S. QUAINANCE,

Sept. 1, '85. Flemingsburg, Ky.

FLEMINGSBURG, KY., Mar. 23, '91.

We the undersigned officers of the Farmers' Home Mutual Insurance Company, of Fleming county, hereby certify that during fifteen years it has not cost the insured over 20 cents per annum on an average on the $100, and during the last two years it cost 10 cents on the $100 insured.

WM. S. QUAINANCE, President,

C. H. HURST, Solicitor.

The St. Louis Republic says:

"Fritz in Ireland" was presented at the Olympic last evening before a large audience in which the number of ladies and young people was particularly noticeable. Everybody seemed to appreciate the play and the singing and acting of the enthusiastic young comedian, J. K. Emmett. He was assisted by a competent company that brought out new charms in the old play and did full credit to the new features added this season. Emmett has a good voice and ability as an actor, with that personal magnetism essential to all successful players. His appearance pleased the audience and they took an interest in Fritz, who was fully capable of holding that interest until the final act. The children in the play are by no means the least worthy of notice. Master Chas. Havilsoon, a boy of about 14 years, is possessed of a remarkable soprano voice, and his singing received fre- quencoes. Baby Spencer, as Lena, is a charming, fair-haired little tot, full of entrancing accomplishments, and Miss Laura Howe, as Lena grown up, is a beautiful young girl, with plenty of sweet, girlish charms to make amends for the fact that she is a novice at acting. Sidney Price made a very aristocratic-looking Lord Seaton, and the other actors were good. The play is full of contrasts. It is idyllic and sensational by turns, but always interesting. The discovery that Fritz is really Irish boy, after all his conquests, is truly gratifying to Hibernian spectators, though Lena remains German, to the evident satisfaction of the Teutonic onlookers." Opera House, Friday eve, Oct. 30. Reserved seats on sale at W. S. Lloyd's drug store.

Success is Certain.

There is no field of labor in which a natural taste and fitness for one's position is of such positive importance as in that of a physician.

He deals at once with essential life and inanimate matter. By the means of one he influences the other. To see all and to know what it means, to know what to do and how to do it effectually, requires more than books can tell or men can teach.

It requires a natural qualification. A sound medical education is invaluable, but if one's innate perception and judgment are not of the very best he cannot reap the adequate results of experience through the proper application of what he has been taught. It is in this natural fitness that Dr. Bogman's professional success lies.

Having nursed it in infancy, played it in childhood, learned it in later years, and practiced it since his early manhood with unequalled facilities research and observation, his success is certain. No case is too severe, none of too long standing, none too difficult. If in his judgment the case is incurable, he expresses an opinion with the same positive assurance that he would promise a cure in a curable case. He has won a host of friends by his candid, honorable and successful treatment. If you are afflicted you will do well to call on him at the National Hotel Saturday, October 31st, his sixteenth regular visit.

MRS. E. M. JORDAN.

The following would indicate that there is still hope for the paralyzed. Frank Cornelius, Purcell, Indian Territory, says: "I induced Mr. Pinson, whose wife had paralysis in the face, to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. To their great surprise before the bottle had all been used she was a great deal better. Her face had been drawn to one side, but the Pain Balm relieved all pain and soreness, and the mouth assumed its natural shape." It is also unequalled for rheumatism, lame back, sprains, swellings and lameness. 50 cent bottles for sale by T. G. Julian.
