

MT. STERLING ADVOCATE.

A WEEKLY JOURNAL, IDENTICAL IN INTEREST WITH ITS OWN PEOPLE.

VOL. V

MT. STERLING, KENTUCKY, TUESDAY, MARCH 19, 1895.

NO. 34

Henderson's GARDEN SEEDS

W.S. LLOYD'S

Drug and Book Store,
No. 9 S. Maysville St.

HENDERSON'S GARDEN SEEDS.

We have just opened a fresh stock.

Send for Catalogue.

A GREAT MAN'S CAREER ENDED.

Dr. John A. Broadus, President of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary,

With a Well Rounded Work Enters Upon His Reward.

At his home in Louisville on last Saturday morning at 3:40 o'clock Dr. John A. Broadus in the seventy second year of his age from pneumonia and organic heart trouble yielded to the inevitable. His funeral service was held at the Fourth and Walnut street Baptist church Sunday afternoon and his remains were buried in Cave Hill cemetery by the side of his co-worker, Dr. James P. Boyce. Dr. Broadus stood at the top with the greatest preachers and scholars of the world being regarded one of the greatest of men and his reputation as a scholar, preacher, teacher and author extended not only through the United States but also through Europe, everywhere among the scholars of the world was he regarded as an authority, and the loss of such a man is indeed a calamity not only to the Baptist church, the doctrines of which he was an able expounder, but to all other churches as well.

The filling of his place in the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, of which he was President, will be a difficult task. Great, humble and pure he walked with God, and for every achievement he gave Him the glory. No truer portrait of the gifted man can be given than the tribute in the Louisville Times which was written while his life was fast ebbing away.

"As gentle Izaak Walton said of the strawberry, it may truthfully be said of Dr. John A. Broadus, who is now being gathered as one of Reapers Death's richest sheaves, that the good Lord might in His omnipotence have made a better, greater man, but it is by no means assured that he ever did. Meek as Moses, wise as Solomon, patient as Job, dauntless and eloquent as Saul of Tarsus, lovable as John, the beloved disciple, upon him every god doth seem to have his seal to give the world assurance of a man. After he shall have been gathered to his fathers it will be long before his church, his city, his country shall again look upon his like. Gentler than a woman, braver than a lion, more learned than Erasmus, he walked the strait path with head bent in humble obeisance to his God, but lowered his crest to no mortal man. That a light so luminous, so radiant, so melodious must go out in the deepening of the shadows of Time, and be swallowed up in the effulgence of Eternity, can but overwhelm the finite mind with questions to which come no replies, with sorrows for which there is no earthly solace."

It was apparent twenty-four hours before, that he could not long survive. During the past year his health has not been as good as usual, and in January he spent three weeks in Florida, and returned much improved. Just at this time the extreme cold weather rached this section, and as a result of the contrast with the mild climate in which he had been sojourning, Dr. Broadus contracted a severe cold. This developed into pneumonia and also affected his heart.

At the service at the Walnut street Baptist church Sunday Dr. Wm. D. Thomas, a member of the faculty of the Baptist College at Richmond, Va., delivered the principal address. Rev. P. S. Henson, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church, Chicago, participated as the representative of the Baptists of the North. Dr. C. E. Hemphill, President of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Louisville and Dr. T. T. Eaton also delivered addresses. The Confederate Veterans' Association, of which Dr. Broadus was a member, and the students of the Baptist Theological Seminary, of which he was President, 275 in number, marched in a body to the grave.

Two-thirds of the Southern Baptist missionaries in Africa, Brazil, China, Italy, Japan and Mexico were taught by him, as were also three-fourths of the pastors in Southern Baptist pulpits.

The colored pastors and people are also sensible of their great loss. Dr. Broadus' last appearance at the General Association of Kentucky Baptists was to make a plea for colored preachers. Dr. McRidley, a colored teacher, had made a plea for his Normal school at Cadiz; the matter was about to be passed without favorable action; Dr. Broadus took the floor and said: "Let us have a collection," and although a little objection was made, he carried the day, as was his way. He went through the church and collected the money in his own hat. On another occasion at the Southern Baptist convention when he spoke of the Home Board he said of the colored people:

"Heaven help me, I shall say nothing of the race problem, or any other problem. You can't solve a problem by wholesale. You can only do it as Nehemiah did when he rebuilt the wall of Jerusalem; each do his part. The Scriptures say 'as ye have opportunity, do good toward all men'. We have an opportunity. Let us do the colored people good. Let no unkind criticism dishearten. These criticisms are very natural. You say if they were in our place they would do as we do; or if we were in their place they would say as we say. Let no ingratitude among colored people prevent our doing them good. I remember a railroad official sent me a note asking about a colored brother who wanted to found an institution. I went across the city to see and to serve that colored brother. Yet he went miles away, and in distant city denounced you and me like forty. But this shall not hinder me from helping him.

"Now, you say that some colored preachers are abominable politicians. Let not this prevent our doing them good. As to what is proper I can not lay down any law; but whatever you or I do, oh, God of Mercy, help you and me to do. One of the heaviest responsibilities, one of the heaviest duties that God Almighty ever gave you and me was to do what we could for the elevation of the colored people."

Of the many who lament his demise next to the Baptist denomination is the Confederate Association, the Conversation Club, the Polytechnic Society and the Filson Club, in each of which Dr. Broadus was an honored leader.

Water Works, Electric Light, Gas.
Mr. John P. Martin is fast arranging for the beginning of work on all these plants.

He has bought two boilers of 150 horse power each, the stand pipe and the pumps, piping, etc., is being arranged for. Machinery for the Electric Light Plant has been purchased of the Fort Wayne Electric Light Company.

All the arrangements Mr. Martin expects to effect during this weather and as soon as the freezes are over he can give his entire time here to the best advantage.

EVENT OF THE SEASON.

To be Given at the Grand Opera House, March 25 and 26.

A Fascinating and Elaborate Entertainment.

The ladies of the Baptist church have arranged for, and have now in preparation a very beautiful and unique entertainment to be given at the Grand Opera House on the nights of March 25 and 26, in the interest of their organ fund. It is a spectacular and operatic carnival of commerce in which about fifty of the young ladies of the city will be seen in artistic costumes, in spectacular drills and marches, tableaux, novelties, song specialties, etc., representing the various stores, professions, trades and industries of the city. The entertainment is a thoroughly modern affair, and is produced on a scale of magnificence that is seldom, if ever seen in a city of this size. It is entirely under professional direction, and will be an entertainment that all should attend, as it will be a beautiful affair and the cause is a most worthy one to assist.

They have obtained the services of Mr. Edward Holpeter and his two assistants, of Chicago, to produce his beautiful entertainment in their interest, and from the flattering press notices they got over the country, where they have given their entertainments, the citizens may rest assured that they will have the opportunity of witnessing an entertainment such as Mt. Sterling does not often get. Remember the dates, March 25 and 26.

Thanks! Thanks!

We certainly appreciate the kindness of our subscribers on last Monday. The renewals and new subscribers by far outnumbered any previous day or week. The results are really refreshing to us, and we are moved to say that our efforts in the publication of the ADVOCATE are being appreciated, and we are encouraged to renew our labors with increased energy. We love our country and shall unceasingly work for those principles which redound to the interest of the many, for the enforcement of our laws, thereby aiding in the protection of life, liberty and property.

Mr. Joe. Brawner, formerly with Mr. Ed. Mitchell, has gone to Paris to engage in the hardware business. Mr. Brawner is a born hardwareman, and it won't take the people of Bourbon county very long to find it out. We regret to lose Mr. B., but we feel assured we are making a valuable contribution to the business interest of our neighboring county.

The meeting with the Flemingsburg Presbyterian church will continue this week. Thirty-six additions have been added to the other churches. Rev. Arrick is doing the preaching and indications are favorable for a great ingathering this week.

Mr. James Thompson has sold his farm of 78 acres, on the Winchester pike, to William Wood, for $60,000 per acre. Mr. Thompson will go to Missouri.

W. H. Reid bought of John Wamsley 45 acres of land on Somerset creek in this county for $2,000 cash.

Enoch's Bargain House!

10,000

Bolts of Wall Paper

The nicest line we have ever been able to show. Call and see it at 5c to 50c a Bolt.

Carpets.

We have a big line of Tapestry Brussels. A beautiful line of all-wool goods at the per yard up.

Cotton.

We can fix you out in this line at most any price. We have a nice line of MATTINGS at 10c a yard, up to the finest. LACE CURTAINS and BLINDS. We have them as low as 15c for curtains and Lace for 25c up.

We have the biggest line of bargains on hand.

5c and 10c Counter

We have been able to show: Butter Milk Soap 5c a Cake. Salt 2 lbs. for 5c. 3 Pint Tin Cans 5c. 2 Pie Pans 5c. Chamber Pans 25c. Dish Pans 10c, 15c, 20c up. Don't buy your SPRING SHOES till you see our new line.

Enoch's Bargain House!

The Endeavor Vocabulary Club entertainment at the Nave Gymnasium Friday night, was unmistakably a "bloomin'" success. The more so, as it was an unpretentious affair and given for a very modest admission. It is generally pronounced the best home entertainment ever given, and dozens of requests have been made for a repetition, including the "finale" of lemonade served by the "bloomer girls."

This club is a revival of the Young People's Association that a few years back gave a number of highly enjoyable and profitable entertainments. The members are of a younger generation, but have as much of enterprise and faculty for making a thing go as did their illustrious predecessors. In this, their first public attempt to please, they have set a very high mark, which we hope to see them even yet surpass in future efforts.

John M. Rose, of Hazel Green, was in the city yesterday. He brought down 28 head of cattle, which he sold at from 2½ to 3½ cts. per pound.

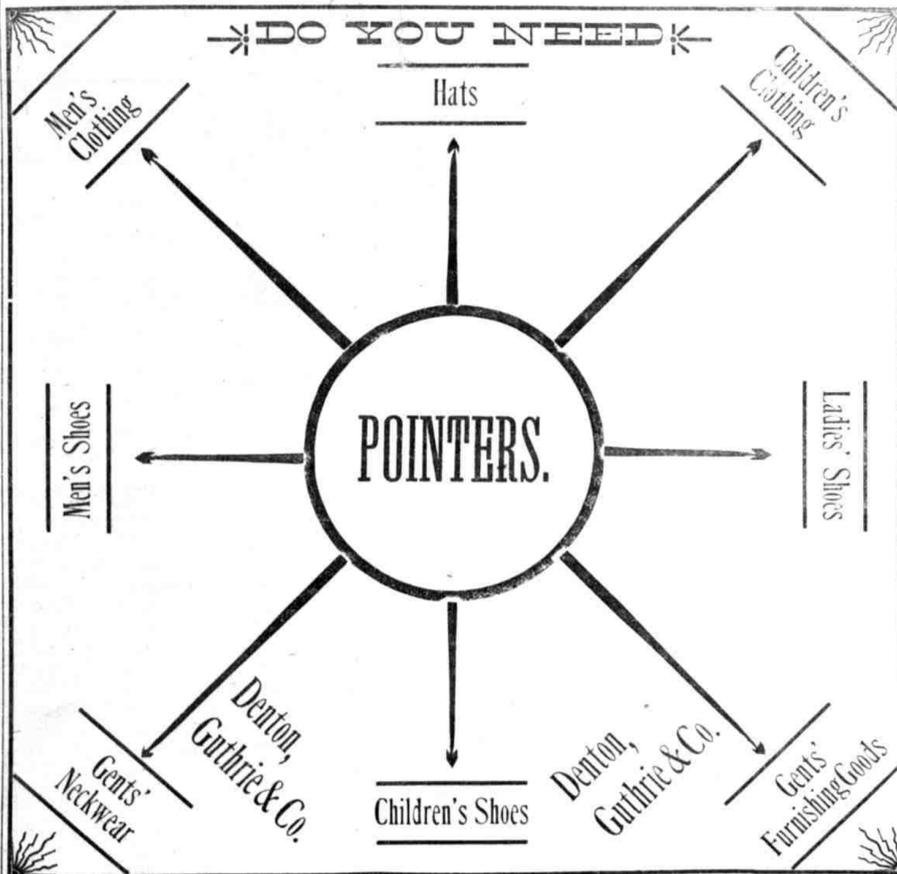

G. W. Kemper yesterday bought of Zack Conner two head of feeding cattle, average 775 pounds, at 3½ cents.

W. B. Crouch sold his crop of tobacco off of three acres, three tops 3315 pounds for 10 cents per pound to J. D. Noel for Liggett & Meyers.

Robt. W. Wade, of Sideview, sold his crop of tobacco to Bean & Co., Winchester for $8 all 'round. Two acres aggregated 2,623 pounds.

For Sale.

A good plow and wagon horse. 34-1f C. LAUREN.

Mr. John Lindsey, of this city, aged nearly 92 years, died at a late hour on Thursday night. Mr. Lindsey was the oldest man in the county, and for more than half a century he had made this city his home. Born, in Shepardstown, Va., in 1803, he came with his father to Kentucky in 1816. More than fifty years ago he married Miss Osee Runnyon, of Fleming county. She together with three sons, Joseph and Charles, of this city, and John, of Sturgeon, Missouri, and one daughter, Mrs. W. J. Anderson, of Jackson, Tenn., survive him. For over half a century Mr. Lindsey was an active business man in Mt. Sterling, and walked in and out before this people an honest man. Quiet, unostentatious, upright and true, he went on his way building up a character that was honored and respected by all who knew him. He was one of the early members of the Christian church at this place. How long he had served his Master, even his children cannot tell, since its beginning dates back beyond their earliest recollection. How much of good, in his quiet way, this peaceful and peaceable old man has done, in his long life, no one may measure. If he ever harmed any, no one knows of it. If he ever had an enemy, no one can name him. At peace with his fellowman and with an abiding trust in his God, he has long waited for his summons home. Now that he is gone we can record no great deeds that he wrought, but what is far better, we recall the quiet, gentle, restful spirit his presence seemed to breathe over all with whom he came in contact, and when the Judge of all the Earth shall come to weigh the deeds of men who can say for how much his will count.

On Sunday afternoon, his pastor Elder H. D. Clark, assisted by Elder Thomas Munnell, conducted at the home, a funeral service in keeping with his quiet life, after which the time-worn body was laid away in Machpelah.

A Great Battle

Is continually going on in the human system. The demon of impure blood strives to gain victory over the constitution, to ruin health, to drag victims to the grave. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the weapon with which to defend one's self, drive the desperate enemy from the field, and restore bodily health for many years.

Hood's Pills cure nausea, sickness, indigestion and biliousness.