B. F. Herriott, Manager of the Scientific Feed and Meal Milling Company invites his friends to give him the opportunity to show them what excellent feed he can grind for their stock. He has himself thoroughly tried the ground feed and knows there is a great saving in it for stock feed. He will be glad to have a personal talk with every stockman in the county, and knows he can save each stockraiser money if he can secure his attention. This company grinds the very choicest corn meal for table use, and Tuesdays and Saturday's will be days on which their patrons can be accommodated at the most reasonable rates. We specially ask every stockman to investigate the merits of the ground feed.

Louis H. Laudman, M. D., the oculist and optician of No. 411 West Ninth street, Cincinnati, Ohio, will be at Mrs. Waller's, Main street, on Thursday of this week (5th inst.), one day only. Do not fail to have your eyes attended to and get proper glasses.

The hog crop in Texas this year will be the second largest in the country. Within three years the State expects to be in first place in this respect.

LARKIN J. PROCTOR.

Father of Dr. D. L. Proctor Dies at Glasgow—an Uncle of John R. Proctor.

Larkin J. Proctor, who was at one time a resident at Maysville, died November 19 at his home, Proctor's Cave, in Edmonson county. He was seventy-four years of age and a brother of the late Maj. George M. Proctor, who was the father of the Hon. John R. Proctor, President of the United States Civil Service Commission, and came of a family noted for longevity.

Colonel Larkin J. Proctor was born in Bracken county, and began life as a store boy in the mercantile house of his brother George, at Maysville, when only fourteen years old. He procured law books, and when not engaged at work studied law and was admitted to the bar at the age of nineteen years. In 1840, when but nineteen years of age, being a Whig in politics, he stumped the Eastern part of the State for Harrison for President. He moved to Lewis county and in 1845 was elected to represent that county in the Legislature.

In 1848, when in his twenty-seventh year, he was elected as a delegate from Lewis county to the Constitutional convention. He was the youngest member in debate with such men as James Guthrie, Archibald Dixon, Ben Hardin and others. He was the last surviving member of that body. In 1853 Colonel Proctor moved to Philadelphia, but remained there but three years. Upon his return to Kentucky 1856 he leased the Mammoth Cave and kept it until 1861. That

THE MT. STERLING POSTOFFICE

Claude Hazelrigg Gets Mr. Kendall's Endorsement.

The Washington correspondent of the Courier-Journal of Sunday has the following in regard to the Mt. Sterling postoffice:

"Representative Kendall was at the Postoffice Department to-day, and, after examining all the papers in the case of the Mt. Sterling postoffice, he concluded to recommend the appointment of Claude S. Hazelrigg. Mr. Kendall says the appointment will give general satisfaction to the patrons of the office. The appointment will probably be made early next week."

TRADED HIS WIFE

For an Old Mule and a Pointer Dog Near Waverly.

Jake Gregory, an aged negro occupying a dilapidated cabin near Waverly, Ky., Sunday traded off his wife Peggy to a neighboring negro for an eight-year-old mule and a pointer dog and $5. The trade was effected with the woman's full consent, and belongings were hauled to her new abode by the aforesaid mule.

Sam Ginochio and Jimmy King have bought out J. M. Isola and will continue the business Mr. Isola has so successfully conducted here. The new firm will be Ginochio & King. Both are popular young men and will not fail to do a good business.

BOOM

In the New South.—A number of important Enterprises Set on Foot Lately.

Baltimore, Nov. 28.—Special reports to the Manufacturers' Record show the projection of a number of railroad enterprises in the South, some for lines of considerable length but the majority for short extensions or for connecting links between important systems. There is considerable activity in the projection of electric railroads and especially in and around Baltimore, where a number of important lines are to be constructed.

In cotton-mill matters there have been reported during the week a proposed additional cost of $125,000 to a Virginia mill, which will make it one of the largest in the entire South; a $300,000 cotton-mill company incorporated in Texas; a $40,000 rope and cotton factory enterprise in Alabama; the enlargement of two North Carolina mills and one in South Carolina, and a proposed $10,000 spindle mill in North Carolina. A $100,000 cotton seed oil-mill is projected in Texas; a thirty-ton ice plant is reported for Louisiana; a rice-mill and electric-light plant in the same State; a bicycle factory and flour-mill in Kentucky; a $50,000 gold-mining company in Georgia; a $25,000 lumber company in Virginia; two oil-boring companies, one of $400,000 and one of $500,000 capital; coal mining and a roller-mill enlargement in West Virginia.

year he was elected to the Legislature to represent Edmonson county. Although an opponent of secession, his sympathies were with the people of the South. At the close of the war he again leased the Mammoth Cave and kept it and run the hotel there until 1871, since which time he was engaged in practicing law. He was the owner of the well-known Grand Avenue Cave and made his home there until he sold it a few years ago. Since then he has lived at his hotel, which he erected at Proctor's Cave.

Col. Proctor was married twice, first to Miss Mary E. Roberts, of Clarksburg, Lewis county, Ky., who died ten years ago, and the second time to Miss Jennie Fernoy, of New Cumberland, W. Va. Of six children by his first wife, only one, Dr. D. L. Proctor, of this city, is living. He had no children by his second wife.

A Bloody Tragedy.

John Fields sometime since eloped with the wife of Orville Eals, living near Brownsville, Bracken county. Eals induced the woman to return home and then hunted up Fields and killed him. Eals and his wife then fled, but on Saturday were located in a hut not far from their home. A posse attempted to take the murderer, who resisted, killing one and wounding two of the would-be captors. When the hut was entered Eals and his wife were both dead. Eals had brutally mutilated the woman with a hatchet.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed in the spring, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malaria poison. Headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. Only fifty cents per bottle at W. S. Lloyd's drugstore.

At Philadelphia Judge Arnold refused to grant H. H. Holmes a new trial and sentenced him to death. Gov. Hastings will fix the execution, but an appeal will be taken at once.
