FARM ON WHEELS

State Agriculture Extension Train to be Here March 25.

The Train Consists of Ten Coaches and is Very Instructive.

On March 20 the Agricultural Extension train will arrive at Mt. Sterling and remain from 9 to 11 o'clock a. m.

The Commissioner of Agriculture has planned in connection with the State University a farm on wheels, to be transported over six railroads, into seventy Kentucky counties, during the thirty days beginning March 25. This model farm will be carried in ten coaches and will be hauled over these railroads without charge to the State.

Cows, hogs, sheep, cattle, and poultry will be carried in addition to the cars which are devoted to a demonstration of corn, alfalfa, and grains which are grown in Kentucky.

A farmers' institute will be conducted at each stop; and it is expected that thousands of farmers and their wives will take advantage of this opportunity to hear the lecturers who have been engaged for the occasion.

The value of woman's work has been recognized by asking them to take charge of one of the cars, devoting the same to Domestic Science. This car will be in charge of Mrs. Claren L. Martin, Chairman of Household Economics of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs. The chief lecturers and demonstrators is Miss Neale S. Knowles, of Iowa State College. She will be assisted by the teachers of State University and the Eastern and Western Normal Schools and by Miss Katherine Christian, Supervisors of Household Arts, Lexington, Ky.

In order to make this work a permanent part of the State Department of Agriculture it is desired to organize Housekeepers' all over the State.

At each of these stops the farmers' wives should form an organization among themselves for study of improved methods in carrying of their part of efficient home surroundings.

TOBACCO SALE GOOD

Over One Hundred Thousand Pounds Sold Saturday.

Quality of Tobacco Bad, But Prices Satisfactory.

The sale at the Burley Tobacco Loose Leaf Warehouse Saturday was well attended, quite a number of representatives from the large factories being present, as well as a number of speculators, and with few exceptions, the prices received were satisfactory. The highest price received was twenty cents and ran on down as low as 1.4 cents for some badly frozen and green stuff. There was only a small amount of colory tobacco on the floor and the prices received for it was very good.

The R. J. Reynolds Co. was the heaviest buyer of the day. On account of the large amount of tobacco that is being hauled here there will be two sales held weekly, Wednesdays and Saturdays, beginning with Wednesday, March 13. There is much talk of another loose leaf warehouse being started here.

A UNIQUE LAW SUIT

Deputy Sheriff Guilfoile Sued for Possession of House.

A Hung Jury Resulted and the Case Will be Tried Again.

In the suit of Mrs. A. K. Hockaday, of Riverton, against Deputy Sheriff Neal Guilfoile, for possession of her house, the jury hung. The case was unique, the first of its kind tried here. Guilfoile was a tenant in the house until March 1, by contract, and had leased the house again through Mrs. Hockaday's agent, Rogers & Son, but no written contract was signed. Before March 1, the house was sold under contract to J. S. Bogie, Jr., to give possession March 1, and when Guilfoile was notified of the sale he declined to give possession and claimed the house under his rental agreement with Rogers. Ouster proceedings were instituted. The case will be tried over again March 20. In the meantime Guilfoile is still in possession. The jury stood 5 to 1 in favor of Guilfoile.
