

James N. Anderson Passes To Final Rest

Following a lingering illness, James N. Anderson died at the home of his sister, Mrs. John W. Lockridge, in the county, at an early hour Christmas morning. Mr. Anderson was 57 years of age and was a big-hearted, genial gentleman, one that was never happier than when performing some deed of kindness that would lighten the burden of some less fortunate fellow-being. Surviving are his father, George W. Anderson; two half-sisters, Mrs. William Moore and Mrs. W. H. Knox; two half-brothers, George W. Anderson, Jr., and Grover C. Anderson, and his step-mother, Mrs. George W. Anderson, in addition to Mrs. Lockridge.

The funeral service was held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Lockridge, conducted by Dr. C. B. Clark, of Reilly, Ohio, with burial in Macpelah cemetery.

A marriage of unusual interest to relatives and friends in this and adjoining counties was that of Miss Leila Hon to Lewis Blackwell, of Clark county, which occurred at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. MISS FLO SHIRLEY IS

SIGNALLY HONORED

In September and October the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company, of California, put on a prize contest among its hundreds of cashiers over the United States for "reinstatement" business or conservation of business at their many offices. Word has just been received by Miss Flo Shirley that she has been found one of the prize winners in her case a handsome ladies' black seal grain suit case. Miss Shirley is one of the company's most efficient cashiers and is most popular among the hundreds of policyholders of that company fortunate enough to pay premiums through this office. We take pleasure in joining her host of friends in congratulations.

APPRECIATION EXPRESSED

The occupants of the Methodist parsonage appreciate the privilege accorded by the press to extend to all through the Christmas season, added to our pleasure by wish, word or kindly gift.—J. W. Crates.

Christmas Business Best In Many Years

Mt. Sterling merchants in all lines enjoyed the largest Christmas patronage in many years. Saturday was a record day in this city, many merchants being heard to remark that it was the best day they had ever enjoyed in their existence. Some of these merchants had been in business for a long time, and the Christmas trade gives evidence that 1923 will be one of the best years this country has had since before the war. With tobacco and other farm products going at the prices they are there is every indication that Montgomery county is about to enter into one of the most prosperous years in our history.

MORE IMPROVEMENTS

A. B. Oldham & Son have made a wonderful improvement in their department store, South Maysville street. The second floor of this large building has been so arranged as to become sales rooms for women's ready-to-wear and all floor coverings. This is a slightly room filled with goods that please, in style and wear like buckskin. Another improvement is contemplated that will make the basement as slightly a room as either the first or second floor. It is expected this room will be completed during the year 1923 and, then it will carry ten-cent articles and will be known as the ten-cent department of this mammoth store. The additional improvements contemplated, which we did not get from Mr. Oldham, but which are in the air, is that another story will be added, making this a four-story building, accessible by way of an electrical elevator. Just the lines of goods that will be handled on this floor we are not advised. It may be that furniture and floor coverings would occupy this floor, and with women's ready-to-wear goods a stock of millinery would be installed on the third floor. The store has had a wonderful growth and as real merchant kings we will have to take off our hats to A. B. Oldham & Son.

DOUBLE WEDDING

On Christmas night Hobert Shroat and Miss Bethel Clark were united in marriage at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. William Triplett, at Howard's Mill. At the same time and place Ewell Wright and Miss Roxie Myers were also united in marriage. Both couples are from the Salt Lick neighborhood in Bath county, where they have many friends who will be interested to learn of their marriage.

Major J. M. Brothier Dies In This City

Major J. M. Brothier died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. S. S. Pinney, Holt avenue, yesterday morning. Major Brothier was 86 years of age and had practically been an invalid for the past year or more. He was an ex-Confederate soldier, being in General John Hunt Morgan's command. He was a native of Bath county and had made his home in Owingsville practically all his life, where he was widely known and honored. He was second to the oldest man in Owingsville and had been active in politics almost all his career.

In addition to Mrs. Pinney, Major Brothier is survived by two sons, Eugene Brothier, of Owingsville, and Charles Brothier, of Hazard. The body was removed to Owingsville yesterday and will be laid to its final resting place among the city of the dead in that city.

Major J. M. Brothier was a member of the Christian church and had led a consecrated, Christian life, one well worthy of emulation. By his passing the "thin gray ranks grow thinner" and the number of the "boys who wore the gray" lose one more of their loyal band. Peace to his ashes.

Claude Paxton Dies At Ashland

On Saturday, December 23, Claude Paxton, 76 years of age, after a long spell of sickness, yielded to the inevitable at his late home in Ashland. Mr. Paxton was born at Oxford, Scott county, in the year 1852, and was married in October, 1882, to Miss Addie Daugherty, of Owingsville. He came to this city as agent for the C. & O. railroad 23 years ago, in which capacity he served most acceptably. Later he became associated with N. H. Trimble in the lumber business, and after finishing the work of delivering special lengths and dimensions of railroad timbers he returned to the C. & O. at Ashland, where he served in the clerical department in the freight depot until death removed him from labor to refreshment.

The best years of his life were given to this place with the C. & O. Full of life and wit, everybody was a friend to Claude Paxton. He was a member of the Methodist church since 18 years of age.

Funeral services were conducted at his home in Ashland by Dr. Paul Powell, and following his remains were taken to Owingsville for burial, with concluding services by Revs. J. M. Fugate and C. L. Bohon, of Maysville.

Mr. Paxton is survived by his wife, who is a sister of Mrs. W. L. Killpatrick, of this city, and one son, C. E. Paxton, route agent of the American Express Company from Ashland. The removal of Mr. Paxton by death brings sorrow and tears to many friends. We shall remember Claude Paxton as we knew him, a hard-working, accommodating and efficient railroad official and in the hours of bereavement we extend our sympathy to wife and son. Peace to the ashes of Claude Paxton.
