

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

FRANKFORT, OCTOBER 7, 1882.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN CITY AND COUNTY

TO TRAVELERS.

Commencing Monday, May 15, the following timetable will be in effect on the L. & N. R. R. for this point.

Table with columns: TRAINS NORTH, TRAINS SOUTH, Leave, Arrive at, No., Time.

The Telephone Exchange is having a boom just now.

The fall courts are sending in their delegations to the Penitentiary very fast.

Circuit Court meets Monday week and there are three murder cases on the docket.

Dr. W. H. Phythian had a telephone placed in his residence Tuesday. His number is 65.

A telephone will be placed in the office of the Secretary of State next week. The line has already been run in. The number will be 60.

Messrs. James Saffell & Sons have disposed of the machinery of the Valley Mills to a party in Hustonville, Kentucky, for four thousand five hundred dollars.

Ten prisoners were received at the Penitentiary Monday from Christian county, twelve Tuesday from Louisville, two from Newport Wednesday morning, and six from Richmond Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Chris. Merchant was coming out of the hardware store of Mr. D. L. Haly, on St. Clair street, Monday afternoon, when he slipped and fell over upon a pile of iron wagon boxes and spindles, dislocating his collar bone.

Elder George Darsie closed the meeting he has been holding at the Christian Church in Hardinsville the past two weeks on Tuesday night, with twenty eight additions to the church. Twenty-four by confession and four by letter.

On Monday night, about nine o'clock, Mr. J. M. Stephens discovered a man in his dining-room, and made a dash for him, but the fellow got out of the house in a hurry and disappeared in the darkness, followed by a bullet from Mr. Stephens' pistol.

Mr. H. B. Cammack has returned to this city to reside, has been appointed agent of the Louisville and Cincinnati Mail Line Company and will hereafter be found at the wharf-boat. Mr. C. was always a popular young man in this city and his many friends gladly welcome his return.

We are gratified in being able to say that the Directors of the Deposit Bank have done the right thing at the right time in electing Mr. H. Howe Watson cashier of that bank in place of his lamented father. Howe is well qualified for the discharge of the responsible duties of the position having long been paying clerk there.

Lost.—Somewhere on Main or St. Clair streets, Frankfort, or in South Frankfort or Belle Point, a red morocco pocket-book, containing a two dollar bill, one silver dollar, some small change, and a gent's gold collar button. The finder will be rewarded by leaving it at this office or returning to Judge W. L. Pence, Belle Point.

Mr. John Luckett, of this city, who was third clerk on the steamer R. E. Lee at the time she was burned, and was asleep in the Texas when the fire was discovered, did not have time to put on his clothes after he was awakened, and made two attempts to leave the boat before he succeeded. The first time the fire and smoke was so thick in the direction he was going that he was compelled to turn back, and the second time he ran against one of the smoke stacks in the darkness and burned one of his shoulders and ears quite badly. He finally got ashore in his night clothes, having lost his gold watch and chain, his trunk and all his clothing.

Mr. Frank Cannon, who was also on the boat at the time, was on the lower deck and escaped all right, having lost only one suit of clothes.

Gray & Rodman are receiving fresh oysters daily.

Four hundred and twenty-seven voters have registered in the city—one hundred and seventy in the first ward, one hundred and forty four in the second, and one hundred and thirteen in the third.

A primary election will be held in this and all the other counties of this Congressional district next Saturday, to decide whether Hon. W. C. Owens or Hon. J. C. S. Blackburn shall be the nominee of the Democratic party for Congress.

Mr. John Stout, the pilot of the Steamer R. E. Lee, that was burned on the Mississippi river Saturday morning, who stood so nobly to his post and ran the boat ashore, thereby saving many lives, was born in this city and continued to reside here until 1857 or 1858, when he went South and commenced running on the river with his brother-in-law, the late Capt. John W. Cannon, and has since made his home in New Orleans.

Although the five to ninety-nine cent store has been established but a short time it has become one of the institutions of Frankfort, and our people have learned that it is the place to go when they want useful articles at low prices. They have everything there, from a thimble to a fine oil chromo, and have lately added a fruit stand as one of the attractions of the place. The freshest and nicest oysters can also be had there when in season, and they will keep fish and game during the coming season. Messrs. O'Bryan & Banta are gentlemen of enterprise and have come to stay.

The argument in the case of Frank Egbert, charged with the murder of Jerry Lee, was commenced Monday morning before Esquires McDonald and Tinsley, and was not concluded until Tuesday, when the magistrates, after consultation, refused to grant Egbert bail and ordered him to jail to await the meeting of the Circuit Court.

In the afternoon of Tuesday a warrant was issued by Judge Thomson against Adam Kahr, jr., charging him with being an accessory to the murder, which was served by Sheriff Gaines and the young man placed in jail. Thursday morning he was brought before Judge Thomson, who was sitting as an examining court, but swore that officer off the bench. In the afternoon the examining trial was begun before Judge R. E. Gaines, of Belle Point, and Esquire G. C. Hughes, of the Forks of Elkhorn Precinct, and will be concluded to-day.

Miss Katie Putnam, an ever popular favorite with Frankfort play-going people, will appear at Major Opera House Tuesday night in "Lena, the Madcap." The Memphis Appeal says of her: "Miss Putnam is truly a conscientious artist, and ever enters heart and soul into the character she is called upon to portray. During her short sojourn in Memphis she has made many friends, and at the same time established herself a general favorite. Piquant in style, she never takes a single liberty with her audience, but, like a true little genius as she is, she trusts entirely to her histrionic and vocalistic powers to secure the admiration and applause of the audience."

Resolutions of Respect.

The Board of Directors of the Deposit Bank of this city adopted the following resolutions of respect to the memory of their late Cashier, John Watson, Esq., at a meeting held on Monday:

Resolved, That we receive with profound sorrow the announcement of the death of our friend and associate, John Watson, and that we hereby tender our sympathy to his bereaved family.

Resolved, That as Cashier of this Bank from the time it began business up to the moment of his death he conducted its affairs with the most scrupulous honor, with the wisest judgment, and to the entire satisfaction of this Board.

Resolved, That in all his relations, whether they were of a business or a social nature, he was a man of the highest type. Just in all his dealings, generous to the poor, and magnanimous in every action, he displayed the noblest attributes, and gave the highest example.

Resolved, That from his death, his family, the Deposit Bank and the city of Frankfort have experienced a loss that is irreparable, and a regret that will be enduring.

FROM COL. L. T. FOSTER.

Youngstown, Ohio, May 10th, 1880. DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—I had a very valuable Hambleton colt that I prized very highly, he had a large bone spavin on one joint and a small one on the other which made him very lame; I had him under the charge of two veterinary surgeons who failed to cure him. I was one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spavin Cure in the Chicago Express. I determined at once to try it, and got our druggists here to send for it, they ordered three bottles; I took them all and thought I would give them a thorough trial, I used it according to directions and the fourth day the colt ceased to be lame and the lumps have disappeared. I used but one bottle and the colt's limbs are as free from lumps and as smooth as any horse in the state. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I let two of my neighbors have the remaining two bottles, who are now using it. Very Respectfully, L. T. FOSTER.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

Send for illustrated circular giving positive proof. Price $1. All druggists have it or can get it for you. Dr. B. J. Kendall & Co., Proprietors, Enosburgh Falls, Vt.
