

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT

Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky, as second-class matter.

GEO. A. LEWIS, Editor and Pub.

FRANKFORT, OCTOBER 14, 1898.

The Work Completed.

Messrs. Taylor & Gore, the contractors, have finished their contract with the city to curb, gutter and lay a sidewalk on Second street, and are now putting in gutters and curbing for parties whose property was not included in the contract. They have done a first-class job, putting in extra work in several places in order that all parties might be satisfied, and have given that section of the city a handsome and substantial improvement. The council will now have crossings put in at the intersection of Steele, Shelby and Main streets, and stepping stones across the alleys, so that Second will be in the condition every street in the city should be, in first class shape before cold weather sets in.

Registration Completed.

The additional registration of the voters of the city was held on Tuesday with the following result:

Voglers . . . . .	72
Bridge . . . . .	45
Court House . . . . .	48
Market House . . . . .	121
Gas House . . . . .	89

Total . . . . . 375
This number is divided as follows as to party affiliation: Democrats, 219; Republicans, 148; Non-committal, 8. Add these to the original registration and we have a total registered vote of 1,736, or 75 less than the number registered last fall.

Accidental Shooting.

In shooting at a dog as it jumped over a fence near Peak's Mill last Saturday night, young Allie Stone missed the brute and struck Elijah Young, who works on an adjoining farm, and who happened to be in range and was unseen by Stone. The ball penetrated Young's abdomen, ranged back and lodged near the spine, inflicting a dangerous wound. Young was taken to the residence of Mr. W. C. Church; where he has since been in a critical condition, but was reported some better yesterday.

Purchased the Lamps.

Mr. E. C. Hathaway, Superintendent of the Capital Gas and Electric Light Company, returned Wednesday from Chicago, where he purchased the electric lamps and other apparatus for the new street lights, and it is expected that the gas posts will be supplanted by arc lights within the next thirty days. The poles are all up, most of the wires are stretched and as soon as the engine and dynamos are set everything will be ready.

Arm Crushed.

George Hicks, a young colored man, was riding down Main street Mr. Thursday morning upon one of G. W. Mitchell's wagons, which was loaded with sand, and in crossing the street car track at the corner of Ann he was jolted from his seat and fell under the wagon, the wheel passing over his right arm and crushing it so badly that it is feared amputation will be necessary.

Famous Forger Caught.

The following from the Cincinnati Enquirer of Saturday is of interest here as the party in question spent a couple of months in this city last summer, going under the name of Robert Schroeder. He was bar-keeper for Mr. Joseph Schreff for a time and later was with the Kenyon Hotel in the same capacity. On leaving here he went to Louisville, where he met Misses Bertha Maurer and Pauline Sinterhay on their way to Europe and by polite attentions gained their confidence and succeeded in inducing the latter to let him purchase her ticket to Germany for her and when she gave him the money—one hundred dollars—he disappeared.

Capt. S. V. Pence afterwards met him in Chicago and spoke to him but the slick rascal professed never to have seen the Captain before.

The arrest in Sacramento, Cal., of Chas. Oscar Keller, formerly of this city, discloses to scrutiny, through the efforts of the officers of that place, his checkered career. Keller has a most remarkable record and is one of the most skillful forgers in the world. About two years ago he left this city and went to New York.

There he fell in with a variety actress. After making her believe that he was a man of means he induced her to desert her husband and accompany him to Chattanooga. On reaching that city Keller presented himself to the officers of the Chattanooga Brewing Company, and so favorably impressed were they with him that they employed him as a soliciting agent. Keller was a man of fine personal appearance, his attire never complete without his immaculate shirt front and plug hat, being the object of much favorable comment among the fastidiously inclined. It required but a brief time for Keller's criminal instincts to assert themselves, and a few months following his employment by the firm he absconded with $3,000 of the brewery's money. From there he drifted westward. A few weeks ago a stranger, giving his name as Charles M. Lester, appeared in Sacramento. His prepossessing manner there enabled him to work a forged check on Ben. J. True, a prominent detective of that place, one of the best known sleuths of the slope. So chagrined and humiliated was the officer that he instituted a most searching investigation into the man's record. He found that he had done time in Nevada for forgery, and that prior to his imprisonment there he had served eighteen months for the same crime in Hong Kong, China. In Australia, also, he was a prison bird. The most recent find by True was that he was wanted in Chattanooga, for Lester was none other than Keller, the ex-Cincinnatian. He will now return him to the Tennessee authorities.

The stupendous "gall" of the man is illustrated by an act of his while in San Francisco. He wired the Chattanooga company from that place asking if Charles Oscar Keller was wanted by them for embezzlement and if a reward had been offered for his capture. He signed the name of Schroeder. The man claims to have been at one time a spy in the employ of the Russian Government, and that the Czar still owes him money for services while employed in that capacity. He is the master

The Cope Stones Seated.

The St. Clair street bridge was closed to wagon travel Tuesday morning from 6 until 1 o'clock, during which time the floor at the north end was taken up and the coping of the abutment laid. It consisted of five beautiful free stones sawed out and cut to fit so that all that was necessary was to lower them into position and bed them in cement. The work was completed and the floor relaid before one o'clock so that wagons could pass again. The work is so far advanced upon the south abutment now that it will only be about ten days before the old bridge will be closed again perhaps finally.

For want of stone work had to be suspended Wednesday and Thursday, and the rain yesterday prevented a resumption of operations although several car loads of stone had arrived.

All Along the Line

Is heard praise of Dr. Hale's House hold Ointment. Mrs. I. S. Jacob's, of Farmington, Maine, writes that she suffered five years with varicose veins and two running sores on her leg, and was completely cured by its use. D. S. Pillery, Salisbury, Vt., writes: "We cannot live without it; it relieves my sister of asthma at once; it cures a burn or a hurt of any kind almost instantly." Under date of May 30, 1892, R. H. Simpson, LeRoy, N. Y., writes: "I used Hale's Ointment for rheumatism three years ago and have not been troubled since. It is the finest ointment in the world for general use. 25c. and 50c. per box. For sale by P. H. GARPENTER."

Church Bazaar.
