"THOU SHALL DO NO MURDER."

That was the text from which Rev. M. B. Adams preached the seventh in the series of sermons on "The Perils of the City," at the first Baptist Church, on Sunday night last. The big church was crowded with people, many turning away when they saw how full the building was.

The preacher was in fine trim, and preached with unusual power, force and directness. He gave the Divine law, with its penalties and exceptions. He then compared that law with human laws bearing on the same crime. He gave the Divine admonition as to cherishing hate and malice, which culminates in murder, showing that God's law goes to the root of the whole matter, and that many a man who goes unwhipped of human law will be condemned when brought before that last and uncorruptible court of final resort.

He condemned, in unmeasured terms, the cowardly practice of carrying concealed deadly weapons, as the great cause of many murders. He besought the large crowd of young men present to throw away these engines of death and instruments of sorrow and suffering, and begged them to unite in an effort to wipe away the stain from the fair name of Kentucky (glorious State that she was) so that she would no more be known as "the dark and bloody ground."

His denunciation of the unprincipled shysters who fatten upon the miseries of others, pack juries with purchased and corrupted jurors in order to secure acquittals of those justly coming under the ban of the law for red-handed murders committed. He denounced assassination as the most horrible of all crimes.

His great panacea for all the ills, public, private and spiritual, was the old fashioned religion of the Lord Jesus Christ, which was first pure, then peaceable, full of good works, always abounding in the work of the Lord.

It was a powerful appeal to the people to discard personal revenge for personal wrongs, a firm and unswerving allegiance to law and right, and a submission of all grievancies to the arbitrament of the law as enlightened and controlled by the Divine command. He held the undivided attention of his vast audience to the close.

Mr. Adams will close these series of sermons next Sunday night with a discourse on "Infidelity."

TUESDAY'S BIG FIRE.

At 9:22 a. m. on Tuesday an alarm from box 21 called the fire boys to Thompson Bros. livery stable, on Main street, which was found to be a pretty serious fire. The stable was full of vehicles, horses and provender of all kinds. It was a hard fire to fight, as there was no chance to get at it except from the front. After about an hour and a half's hard battle, the boys got the upper hand and soon made a finish of the job.

The building was pretty well gutted, only the walls and charred timbers being left.

Messrs. Thompson Bros. had about 20 buggies, traps and hacks destroyed; 10 of their horses were burned; all their harness, provender, etc., making their loss some $5,000.

There were several school children who had come to town and put their horses and conveyances in the stable that morning and some were destroyed.

Mr. Howard Duvall lost his buggy and horse. Mr. Jas. M. Saffell had a bran new buggy, which he had never used, burned. Mrs. Hiram Berry's handsome rockaway was destroyed. Mr. Geo. W. Lewis, jr., of Louisville, had his trap and a fine set of harness burned. Dr. J. S. Collins lost his fine trap. Mrs. Katie Welch lost a fine trap. Dr. H. S. Kellar lost his buggy, which was nearly new. Mr. W. W. Longmoor lost his fine rubber tire buggy.

The building was the property of Miss Carrie Weitzel, and was insured for $5,000, which will cover the loss.

Thompson Bros. had only $2,000 insurance to cover $5,000 loss.

Dr. J. S. Collins had $100 insurance to cover $150 loss.

The total loss was about $12,000 or $15,000, with insurance of about half that amount.

It was the most serious fire of the winter, and, but for the good work done by the fire laddies, would have done a vast amount of damage.

SERIOUS SHOOTING.

On Tuesday night a difficulty arose between Mr. John W. Cox, jr., and Mr. Bradford Reed, during which Cox shot Reed three times, once in the left arm and twice in the left side above the vest pocket.

It seems that Cox was employed as a section hand on the L. & N. under Mr. Reed. On Saturday night Cox was discharged. The two men met near the turntable, in the L. & N. Yards, on the West Side, and, after some words, the row commenced. Who was in fault we have been unable to learn.

During the fight Cox was badly cut about the head, the gash being about two inches long.

Dr. E. E. Hume was at once called and attended to Reed's injuries, which are very serious.

Cox was arrested and lodged in jail.

But for the fact that a colored man named Polk succeeded in getting the pistol away from young Cox, Reed would have been instantly killed.

RELEASED BUT RE-ARRESTED.

The Reeves brothers, who had been convicts in the local Prison, but who had escaped from the walls and had been returned from Illinois, and whose terms of service had expired except the good time they had won before escaping, sued out writs of habeas corpus before Judge Dan Moore asking a writ of release. The case was heard on Monday and Judge Moore granted the writ, ruling that their good time could not be forfeited.

They were, however, immediately rearrested on a bench warrant from the Franklin Circuit

Court, to serve the additional time for which they became liable by escaping from the walls.

Later—These men were surrendered to Indiana officers to answer an indictment for murder.

"I have always used Foley's Honey and Tar medicine, and think it the best in the world," says Chas. Bender, a newsdealer of Erie, Pa. Nothing else as good. South & Longmoor and W. McKee Hardie

PAINFULLY HURT.

While Mr. Albert Chilson, jr., an employe of the Kenney Bros. sawmill, was at work on the log-run, on Saturday, he slipped and fell, badly straining his back. Though painful his injuries are not necessarily serious. He was taken home and surgical attention rendered.

Does it Pay to Buy Cheap.

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the ONLY remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest, and cures the patient. Try one bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. For sale by S. B. Holmes. 4-1y
