CLEVER MIMICS OF SOUNDS.

Artists Who Are Employed in Lyman H. Howe's Lifeorama.

The mimicry of sounds—those of nature, the cries of animals, the shouts of men, the jingling of military accoutrements—is one of the important adjuncts of the Howe Lifeorama at the Capital Theatre, next Thursday evening, October 25, and they give vraisemblance to the pictures. Mr. Lyman H. Howe has four of these shows on the road, and he says that one of his greatest difficulties is to find properly qualified "imitators"—that is, men who can work the apparatus and produce the requisite noises.

Behind the scenes, while the pictures are moving, there is a remarkable collection of instruments of various kinds to produce the sound effects. There are several men to make the shouts and a number of children—in all about 25—and in the very spirited scenes it is as necessary to produce the noises properly as to manage supernumeraries in the mob scenes of big plays like "Julius Caesar" and "The Christian."

Mr. Howe's chief "imitator," Mr. Le Roy Carleton, who is really an artist, goes about among the various companies instructing the others. He is a young man, and has been a mimic since childhood.

"I have the ventriloquial faculty," he said, "and can imitate almost any sound, mechanical or natural, that I may hear. About six weeks' hard work is required to qualify a new man to do the work in Mr. Howe's shows. He must have some natural talent for it, however. We employ quite a number of ingenious contrivances to produce certain of the sounds. For instance, the swish of the water when the Italian cavalymen during their exercises jump into the stream is effected by means of sheets of sandpaper. We were a long time getting the trumpeting of the elephants; but now we have it perfectly, and the roaring of the lions is so genuine that with your eyes shut you can easily imagine yourself in a menagerie. The exclamations of the men, the fall of the big trees, the crackling of the undergrowth, the clanking of the swords of the officers in the Spanish wedding scene and the many accompanying noises have required experiment and rehearsal for many weeks, and they must be managed most carefully, otherwise the passing scene is spoiled."

This splendid attraction comes to Capitol Theatre next Thursday, October 25, for one performance only, and popular prices will prevail. The management of the Capital Theatre personally guarantees this attraction and will cheerfully refund the purchase price of any ticket to any dissatisfied patron.

When the tip of a dog's nose is cold and moist, that dog is not sick. A feverish dry nose means sickness with a dog. And so with the human lips. Dry, cracked and colorless lips mean feverishness, and are as well ill appearing. To have beautiful velvet-like lips, apply at bedtime a coating of Dr. Shoop's Green Salve. It will soften and heal any skin ailment. Get a free, trial box, at our store, and be convinced. Large, nickel capped glass jars, 25 cents. All dealers.

STONE POINT.

Everybody is through cutting tobacco and now looking for Mr. Frost.

Mr. George Slusher and Miss Stella Semones were out driving Sunday evening.

The rain last Saturday night did great damage to the people of Harvieland neighborhood. It washed several nice frying size pumpkins down the creek, and also lots of Mr. Cleveland Smith's tobacco. He says that he "has shipped his tobacco, but hasn't got a return."

Mrs. James Brawner is visiting her sister, Mrs. M. L. LeCompte, at Frankfort.

We were all glad to see Mr. Jimmie Harrod, whom we thought was lost, at Sunday-school Sunday. That's right, come again, Jimmie.

It is worth to state that the corge-ment of Choateville thanked the one for saving Mr. Victor Hanna from drowning. It was Miss Bertha Lewis.

Mr. ——— Marshall, of Louisville, is visiting his cousin, Mr. Willie Roberts.

Miss Mattie Lewis is visiting her cousins and friends at Bethel, this week.

Mr. Clay Lewis called on Miss Pearl Chism Sunday evening. Look out, Charlie, Clay will get her yet.

Mr. Dock Lewis and family spent Sunday with his brother, Mr. Bob Lewis, and family.

Mr. Rollie Semones, of Frankfort, visited his mother Thursday last.

Mr. William Polsgrove, of Shelby, and daughter, Bessie, of Louisville, who spent several days with his daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis, have returned home. JOHNQUILL.

When a horse is so overworked it lies down and in other ways declares its inability to go further, you would consider it criminal to use force. Many a man of humane impulse, who would not willingly harm a kitten, is guilty of cruelty where his own stomach is concerned. Overdriven, overworked, when what it needs is something that will digest the food eaten and help the stomach to recuperate. Something like Kodol for Dyspepsia that is sold by J. W. Gayle.

Mr. J. W. Agee and wife, of Owenton, were guests of Mr. C. T. Duvall and wife, on Sunday.

Corn is selling at $1.75 per barrel delivered.

Mr. Joe Kenney, of Owen county, visited his brother, Mr. Lon Kenney, this week.

There is considerable complaint of scarcity of stock hogs. Prices are high.

Dr. Wm. Salin, of Owenton, is the guest of his brother-in-law, Mr. O. D. Bourne, this week.

Mr. D. H. Duvall and family have gone to Frankfort to reside. Mr. Duvall has a contract to do a considerable amount of work.

Mr. Robt. Kemper, of Owen county, was the guest of his daughter, Mrs. O. D. Bourne, this week.

Mr. O. D. Bourne, we regret to learn, has typhoid pneumonia, and his case is very serious. The doctors look grave when asked about him.

Everybody was taken by surprise when it snowed here last week. Considerable damage was done by the frost that followed after.

Rev. E. O. Guerrant, D. D., of Wilmore, delivered two fine sermons at the Baptist Church, last Sunday, to large audiences. His theme was "Missions in the Mountains."

Mr. R. L. Cassity and bride (nee Miss Ada Jouett, of Frankfort), passed through here on Saturday, en route to their home, at Owenton.

Mr. Wm. Cassity and wife attended the Cassity-Jouett wedding in Frankfort, on Saturday.

Our farmers are rapidly catching up with the delayed work of cutting corn and sowing wheat, etc. Pretty much all the tobacco has been cut and housed. It is believed that not quite as much damage was done by the wet weather and frosts as was feared. UNO.

Dr. Cady's Cough Powders, are just what a horse needs when in bad condition. Tonic, blood purifier and vermifuge. They are not food medicine and the best in use to put a horse in prime condition. Price 3 cents per package.

For sale by J. W. Gayle and LeCompte & Gayle.
