

PLENTY OF FOXES IN THIS COUNTY.

W. T. Innes Digs Litter Of Six Out Of Nest.

Jesse Riddle Also Captures Five Small Ones.

ONE MAN WANTS THEM ALL.

Foxes do not seem to be as scarce as it seemed several weeks ago before George W. Gill, of Shelbyville, advertised for one thousand.

W. T. Innes brought to the News office on Wednesday a litter of six which he had dug out of their nest on the Holt farm in this county.

Mr. Innes saw the foxes playing about the den, which was in a clay bank, and when he went after them they ducked for cover inside the den.

Since then other men have appeared on the scene with foxes, one man having eight and this office could have been overrun with foxes if the editor would have consented to take them all.

Frankfort Team Takes Game from Richmond.

OUTPLAYS OTHER AGGREGATION AND LANDS EASY VICTORY.

Table with columns: Clubs, Played, Won, Lost, P. C. Rows include Frankfort, Lawrenceburg, Richmond, Versailles, Shelbyville, Lexington.

Frankfort is now tied for first place in the Blue Grass League, having won from Richmond in the first game with that team on last Wednesday.

Frankfort outplayed Richmond at every point in their first game. Richmond tried a new pitcher named Donnelly Cincinnati who was sent there as a "find," but he only lasted five innings.

was an enigma to the Pioneers and he really should have had a shut out. In the eighth inning Richmond managed to put three men on bases.

The heavy hitting and field work of the visiting team were the features of the game. Two baggers were knocked by Nell, Allison and Wright.

Shelbyville, Ky.—The team of the Blue Grass Baseball League met its second defeat, the visitors being the Lawrenceburg team.

ARMED SOLDIERS

Guard Tobacco On Its Way To Market.

MARCIAL HALEY TOOK NO CHANCES ON NIGHT RIDERS ON SECOND TRIP.

Accompanied by a squad of State guards in charge of the Sheriff of Harrison county to Cynthiana, and making their way from that place to Lexington, unaccompanied, but heavily armed, Marcial Haley and son, well known farmers, residing near Melbourne postoffice in Bracken county, sold their crop of tobacco, amounting to about 5,000 pounds, at the warehouse in Lexington.

While en route to market one day last week they were attacked about two miles from Cynthiana, by a band of nightriders, one of the loads of tobacco was overturned into a small stream and Marcial Haley was compelled at the point of a gun to turn the other two wagons which he was driving and return home; by the same persuasive force he was forced to take an oath that he would place the tobacco in the pool of the Society of Equity, and that he would not again attempt to dispose of it in any other manner.

Upon his return home he at once made an appeal to the State authorities for assistance and a squad from the company of soldiers that have been detailed to this district, were assigned to go with the Sheriff and see that both he and the tobacco were gotten safely to the market. They got through what Mr. Haley believed to be the dangerous part of the trip from his home to Cynthiana and from that place they went to Lexington. Although very reluctant to talk Mr. Haley stated that no body of men on earth can prevent him from disposing of what rightfully is his and for that reason he made such an exceptional effort and sold his tobacco.

SNAKE MARY

FAILS TO RUN ACCORDING TO SPECIFICATIONS.

Frankfort Horse Lands Place in First Start at Lexington.

Frankfort men who are interested in horses, and who follow the races, dropped some of their coin at Lexington last Saturday when Snake Mary, owned by Frankfort men, failed to poke her nose in front when the wire was reached. The horse belongs to Joe Weitzel, Polk Laffoon and several other Frankfort men who formed a company and bought several good horses. Their first start this year was at Lexington Saturday when Snake, as the mare is called, was entered. She ran a good race but was not quite good enough and Ott managed to lead her in second place only.

$10,000 FINE Assessed Against Indiana Oil Refining Company.

CONVICTED ON CHARGE OF POLLUTING WATERS OF ELK HORN CREEK.

One of the largest fines ever assessed in this county was entered against the Indiana Oil Refining Company. The court this week found the company guilty of polluting Elk Horn Creek with $10,000 as punishment.

One peculiar feature of the case was an excursion which was conducted by the company last Sunday. Every body in Frankfort who wanted to go was transported to Georgetown free of charge and there an inspection of the refinery was a large part of the programme. It was charged by Bob Franklin, Commonwealth's Attorney, that this was done to influence the verdict of the jury, or change public sentiment in this county on the question of the refinery.

Fishermen have been making complaint lately that the fish taken from Elk Horn are so impregnated with oil that they are unfit to eat and it was charged that the water from the creek was not fit even for cows to drink. Wild tales have been told about the water, which, of course, have been told merely as a joke. It was said by one man that the water was drunk by the cows and there was so much oil that the milk from the cows was used to burn in the lamps of the people along the creek.

NEW TRIAL

Ordered In Case Involving Thorn Hill Farm.

COURT OF APPEALS REVERSES JUDGMENT OF FRANKLIN CIRCUIT COURT.

The Court of Appeals reversed the judgment of the Franklin Circuit Court in the case of Mrs. P. I. Ralley and gave instructions for a new trial. The suit resulted over the sale by Mr. Roberts against W. J. Roberts, remanding the action back to the lower court with his farm on the Owenton pike, just beyond Thorn Hill to Mrs. Ralley for $9000. The sale was so consummated in September, 1906. In her petition Mrs. Ralley averred that she had bought the place, understanding that it contained 85 acres of land, but when a survey was made, she found that it contained but 70. She sued for $1,500 damage for the shortage, but the lower court dismissed her petition.

In discussing the case, the Court of Appeals says that Mr. Roberts offered to rescind the trade if Mrs. Ralley did not desire to keep the land at the price agreed upon. The lower court struck out this agreement, which the Court of Appeals says it erred in doing. The court says that the lower court was correct in dismissing as to damages, but should have permitted Mrs. Ralley to rescind the trade in accordance with Mr. Roberts' proposal, if she desired.

Judge Ira Julian represented Mrs. Ralley while Judge B. G. Williams and Attorney John B. Lindsey appeared for Mr. Roberts in the suit.

ADMIRAL SCHLEY FOR SECRETARY OF NAVY.

Will Get Place if Bryan is Elected President in November.

Admiral Winfield Scott Schley will be offered the secretaryship of the navy in case William J. Bryan is elected President. It would be the first time in history that any naval officer has received this position. The position of Secretary of the Navy has always been more or less of a joke. The department has been run by the Bureau of Navigation, and the Secretary has not been much more than a chief clerk, who registers the decrees of that bureau.

NEW POINT OF LAW INVOLVED IN CASE.

Man Loses Life as Result of Joke And Sues Joker's Employer.

An interesting case which will attract general attention from lawyers in Kentucky and other States was argued before the Court of Appeals Wednesday. The case is an appeal from the Madison Circuit Court. John Ballard was an engineer on the Louisville railroad. In Richmond, while waiting for a connection one day last summer, one of the other trainmen took the compressed air tube and literally blew up Ballard. He was instantly killed. The man who did it thought he would frighten Ballard and did it as a joke. Suit was filed against the railroad, an effort being made to hold the railroad responsible for the act of its employe. The joke was played while the man was out of the line of his employment and the railroad claims that it should not be held. A decision is expected within a short time.

FINDS COPPER CENT EIGHTY-TWO YEARS OLD.

W. R. Magruder Picks up Coin Perfectly Preserved in Spite of Time.

While busy on his farm, at the edge of this county, near Avenstoke, one day this week, W. R. Magruder found a rare old coin, on the site of an old house, which had been buried over fifty years since. It was a copper cent, of date 1826; in size it was almost as large as a fifty-cent piece of the present issue, the lettering was as perfect as it had just been coined, while the body was covered with the usual verdigris accumulated by
