THE NEW DOMINION.

The Post thus notes Mr. Clay Clement's return engagement in Louisville, Thursday night: "So hearty was the reception accorded Mr. Clement and his play that the actor-author had to turn speech-maker after the third act, and return his thanks for the warmth of enthusiasm and the manifest sincerity with which his audience received him. Nothing new is to be said of the 'New Dominion' at this late day. It is an exquisite idyl of love, a pastoral comedy of the highest and most refined type, a drama pure in tone, lofty but natural in sentiment, couched in the purest and most beautiful of English and unfolding a story at once interesting and probable. Mr. Clement's portrayal of its chief character, Baron Franz Victor Von Hohenstauffen, a fine manly fellow, intellectual and innately a gentleman in all that sometimes sadly misused word implies, is one of the classic character studies of the modern stage. Moreover Mr. Clement's methods have that ease, grace and naturalness which belong to real art."

The engagement is announced of Charles Dana Burroughs, of Portland, Me., and Miss Adelaide Mason, daughter of Marion Manola, the actress. Mr. Burroughs is a nephew of Speaker Reed, and lives with the latter's family. Miss Mason's father is Henry S. Mould, a prominent iron manufacturer, of Pittsburg, from whom Marion Manola was divorced several years ago.

Mr. Alexander Weiss, of the College of Music, of Cincinnati, manager of the Misses Zadle and Lilla Harris, of Louisville, and the Marien Spring Quartet, of Cincinnati, was in Paris Saturday making arrangements for a concert to be given by these artists sometime in March. They will probably come under the auspices of some ladies' society, and the concert will be held either at the opera house or one of the local churches.

"The Gentleman Who is Going To Die" is the striking title of a new story by Clara Morris, the actress, which will appear in the Ladies Home Journal.

STOCK AND TURF NEWS.

John T. Gay, Jr., of Pisgah, Woodford county, was paid thirteen cents all round for his eight-acre crop, of tobacco. It brought $2,245.35, or $281.94 an acre.

Jonas Weil yesterday shipped four cars of export cattle over the L. & N. to Newport News, Va., where they will be shipped to Liverpool in the steamship Chickahominy.

The Kentucky Association will race this spring, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding. It is probable all the old stakes will be opened and two or three new specials added. The dates will be about the last of April or the first of May.

At Louisville Friday T. C. Robinson, of Clark County, got $22.50 a hundred for a hoghead of tobacco, the highest price paid for new tobacco this season. There were in the crop fifteen hogheads, the remainder sold at good prices. The general average for the lot was $15.50.

The Clover Bottom correspondent of the Woodford Sun says: Chas. H. Baxter bought a horse for the small sum of 80c. Afterwards he traded the animal for a yearling heifer, 6 shoats, 4 barrels of corn and 1 1/2 gals. of molasses. He sold the heifer the next day for the neat sum of $10, and still has the other articles on which he contemplates making a neat profit. This is an actual fact.
