THERE are eggs and eggs. The egg of yesterday looks, feels, measures and weighs like the egg of last month, but there's a difference in another respect, and that difference is worth money. It's just so with laundry. The difference between good work and poor is slight to the unpracticed discernment, but it's a difference that counts every time. It's a difference that changes your laundry bill from an expense to an investment. We do good work—it will cost no more than poor work but its worth double the difference.

Hidden Beauty

In Egypt the custom is for Princesses to hide their beauty by covering the lower part of the face with a veil. In America the beauty of many of our women is hidden because of the weakness and sickness peculiar to the sex.

Bradfield's Female Regulator brings out a woman's true beauty. It makes her strong and well in those organs upon which her whole general health depends. It corrects all menstrual disorders. It stops the drains of Leucorrhoea. It restores the womb to its proper place. It removes the causes of headache, backache and nervousness. It takes the poor, debilitated, weak, haggard, fading woman and puts her on her feet again, making her face beautiful by making her body well.

Druggists sell it for $1 a bottle. Send for free illustrated book for women. The Bradfield Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga.

SCINTILLATIONS.

An Interesting Jumble Of News And Comment.

Two safes were cracked at Winchester Sunday morning by burglars.

So far this winter 30,000 rabbits have been shipped from Pendleton county.

John Hefferman, aged over one hundred, died Saturday in Shelby county.

Dr. R. J. O'Mahoney, of Lexington, suffered a slight stroke of paralysis Saturday night.

Hon. W. C. Owens, of Georgetown, failed to land the appointment as Interstate Commerce Commissioner.

The famous Swift silver mine has been discovered some more. The finder this time is Judge Center, of Wolfe county.

Ed F. McGrath, deputy warden of the Frankfort penitentiary, died Sunday at Frankfort. His remains will be interred at Cynthiana.

Some Covington dealers will be indicted for selling four cigarettes for a cent to small boys. Two Newport dealers have been fined $350 for selling the coffin nails to children.

A separate coach bill has been introduced in the North Carolina legislature. A bill has also been introduced to devote to the school fund only revenue raised on property of colored citizens.

Samuel J. Blackard and his entire family, seven in all, are ill of typhoid fever. Five were brought to the Protestant Infirmary at Lexington Saturday. The other two were too ill to move.

Theatrical And Otherwise—Remarks In The Forum.

Clyde Fitch has written a new comedy for Nat Goodwin. It is called "The Cowboy and The Lady."

Chauncey Olcott's new play "A Romance of Athlone," made a hit in Philadelphia last week.

Creston Clarke has recently produced his new play "A Ragged Cavalier," which was a great success.

Nat Goodwin's new play "Nathan Hale," has been well received at the Knickerbocker, in New York.

Richard Mansfield will give his fine production of "Cyrano de Bergerac" in Cincinnati next week at the Grand.

Manager Scott has booked the clever actress, Maude Adams, to appear at the Lexington opera house on April 6th, in "The Little Minister."

Ad-laide Norwood, who was leading lady of the Boston Lyric Opera Company, is now with the Castle Square Opera Company, at the American Theatre in New York.

Richard Mansfield and Francis Wilson have gone into the fold of the theatrical syndicate which control the best theatres in the country. Mrs. Fiske is now the only noted star who does not play in theatres controlled by the trust.

The Sydney (Australia) correspondent of the New York Dramatic Mirror says that two brothers of the late Scot Inglis are owners of two newspapers in that city. Scot Inglis was a native of Victoria, Australia, instead of England, as has been stated. His suicide was a great shock to his friends as great things were expected of him.

S. E. Gross, a Chicago millionaire, will seek to enjoin Richard Mansfield from playing "Cyrano de Bergerac," claiming that the play is plagiarized from a play which he wrote in 1875, and which he placed in the hands of Mansfield's manager, A. M. Palmer, in 1879. The work of Gross and Edmund Rostand are very similar in theme, plot, scenes and dialogue.

Klaw & Erlanger's extravaganza "Jack and The Beanstalk" which is decidedly the most important spectacular production out this season will be seen in Lexington Monday night. The company has a very large number of pretty and shapely girls with pleasing voices, who will assume the role of Jack, Mother Goose, Little Miss Muffet, Sinbad, Mary, quite contrary, and clever men for the parts of the Giant, Old King Cole, etc. The piece is beautifully staged and has fine ballets, the opening of the blackbird pie being one of the pretty features. THE NEWS is authorized by F. B. Carr to state that the L. & N. will run a special coach to Paris after the performance.

Porpoise Oil.

Oils, animal, vegetable and mineral, are second in importance to but few domestic articles of commerce. Already medicinally invaluable in the bygone ages of hand labor, lubricants have become almost a condition of existence in this century of machinery, and of all oils porpoise oil is the finest, the most difficult to obtain, almost the most costly. The difficulty, be it incidentally remarked, lies not in expressing the oil from the porpoise, but in catching the porpoise itself. These cetaceans, like the fish they prey on, are most uncertain in their movements, at one time playing by the week in our very harbors, at others staying a whole month far from the coast. An economic and reliable method of obtaining a regular supply of porpoises from our seas would be worth a fortune.

At present their capture is no more than accidental. Porpoises are known to venture into salmon estuaries during spring flood tides, returning to salt water with the ebb, and, as an improvement on the present casual supply system, strong rope nets might be cast at the mouths of these estuaries to intercept the invaders as they leave. Probably, however, the ultimate solution will be found in the rifle and some particular cartridge, preferably fronted with soft, hollow lead to flatten in the creature's ribs. It may be that even with a fatal bullet the difficulty is not ended, for it has not yet been shown whether, when fatally hit, the porpoise sinks or floats.—London Spectator.

Webster Cowed Them.

William Wetmore Story, the sculptor and poet, was one of the few men who presumed to call Lowell "Jim" to the end, and Miss Mary E. Phillips, in her "Reminiscences of William Wetmore Story," tells, in Story's own words to her, the following tale of the two young men: "James Lowell and I were very angry with Webster for staying in old Tyler's cabinet, and as he was to speak in Faneuil hall on the evening of the 30th of September, 1842, we determined to go in (from the Harvard Law school) and hoot at him and show him that he had incurred our displeasure. There were 3,000 people there, and we felt sure that they would hoot with us, young as we were.

"But we reckoned without our host. Mr. Webster, beautifully dressed, stepped forward. His great eyes looked, as I shall always think, straight at me. I pulled off my hat; James pulled off his. We both became as cold as ice and as respectful as Indian coolies. I saw James turn pale; he said I was livid. And when the great creature began that most beautiful exordium, our scorn turned to deepest admiration, from an abject contempt to belief and approbation."

His Hair In Danger.

A young artist whose pipe, eyeglasses and luxuriant blond hair have made him well known in town went to a garden party not so much for social amusement as for pencil studies of high life. He wore a tall hat, frock coat and lavender trousers and carried a sketching block a yard square. At the party his epigrams, paradoxes and stentorian silvery laugh overwhelmed, as he intended, all the girls in sight or hearing, but he got through with his social duties as speedily as might be, then went and sat down on a distant fence.

Soon pencil studies lay all around him on the grass. Suddenly he felt a gentle tug at his back hair. He thought, "That is some fresh Alec trying to gey me," and he did not look up. The gentle tugging ceased, began again, became much stronger, and then he felt something wet, soft, slimy, on his neck. With a dreadful oath he leaped from the fence and looked behind him. Back there was a smart trap, in which sat two girls and a young man laughing. The horses were close to the fence, and it was one of these that had commenced browsing on the artist's profuse locks. Explanations followed and apologies. "All flesh," the artist said, "is grass, but not all hair." —Philadelphia Record.

Some Extraordinary Mothers.

Probably the youngest grandmother of whom we have record was a Lady Child of Shropshire, England. She had married at 12 years of age and had a child before her thirteenth year was completed. This child in turn married while still very young, with the result that Lady Child was a grandmother at 27. The most extraordinary cases of motherhood were those of Mrs. Honeywood of Charing, in Kent, and Lady Temple of Stow. When the former died, on May 10, 1620, aged 93, she counted as her descendants 16 children, 114 grandchildren, 228 great-grandchildren and 9 great-great-grandchildren. The other case was even more remarkable. Lady Temple, who died in 1656, had given birth to 4 sons and 9 daughters and lived to see more than 700 descendants.

Taste of Boiled Water.

In advocating the practice of boiling water (and milk) of uncertain purity, Professor Bizzozero combats the prejudice against boiled water as a beverage. He maintains that the "taste" frequently complained of in boiled water is really caused by the kettle and can scarcely be due to the absence of dissolved air, of which water from wells of great depth often contains very little. Pittsburgh Dispatch.

A Question of Locality.

"I'll tell you one thing," said Madpop to his long suffering wife, "if Willy does not behave himself, I'll give him the worst spanking he ever had. He'll get it in the neck." "Do be serious, my dear," replied Mrs. Madpop. "The neck is no place on which to spank a child." —Harper's Bazar.

Scrofula to Consumption.

Any one predisposed to Scrofula can never be healthy and vigorous. This taint in the blood naturally drifts into Consumption. Being such a deep-seated blood disease, Swift's Specific is the only known cure for Scrofula, because it is the only remedy which can reach the disease.

Scrofula appeared on the head of my little grandchild when only 18 months old. Shortly after breaking out it spread rapidly all over her body. The scabs on the sores would peel off on the slightest touch, and the odor that would arise made the atmosphere of the room sickening and unbearable. The disease next attacked the eyes, and we feared she would lose her sight. Eminent physicians from the surrounding country were consulted, but could do nothing to relieve the little innocent, and gave it as their opinion that the case was hopeless and impossible to save the child's eyesight. It was then that we decided to try Swift's Specific. This medicine at once made a speedy and complete cure. She is now a young lady, and has never had a sign of the disease to return. Mrs. RUTH BECKLEY, Salina, Kan.

Scrofula is an obstinate blood disease, and is beyond the reach of the average blood medicine. Swift's Specific is the only remedy equal to such deep-seated diseases; it goes down to the very foundation and forces out every taint. It is purely vegetable, and is the only blood remedy guaranteed to contain no mercury, potash or other mineral substance whatever. Books mailed free by Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.
