

SLICING A RATTLE. AN OCEAN CEMETERY.

THE COLORADO WAY OF TURNING THE DANGEROUS TRICK.

Dexterity and Daring of the Cowboy in Cutting off the Head of the Rattle After Its Ineffective Attempt to Strike.

"Did you ever see a cow puncher kill a rattlesnake with a knife?" said a Colorado citizen now in town. "When I first went west, I punched cattle on the Sunset ranch, one of the largest in southern Colorado. I was a tenderfoot, fresh from the States, but I still had about me. That saved me a lot of trouble. The boys were dead willing to put me next, even to a 14-year-old broncho never halter broken. Among other things, I learned how to kill a rattlesnake with a knife. I killed one with a knife to make my standing good, but after that a gun or a pitchfork was good enough for me.

"I have seen a plainsman ride up to a small sized rattler, jump off his horse, kick at the rattling head, avoid the strike and as the rattler came down place a heel upon its neck, coolly take a knife from his belt and dispatch it. I have also seen a live rattler thrown up on a haystack machine, and I have seen the men working on that stack jump, roll, tumble and slide to get away. They could not see the rattler; that was all. In the open they would have played with it.

"A rattlesnake is harmless out of its coil. For that reason it wastes no time in getting back into coil after the strike. It will not strike unless it is perfectly sure it can reach its object. Therefore the cowboy must get into reach of the snake's spring. It can spring half its own length, and sometimes more. Of course, the larger the snake the more coils, and the more coils the more vicious the strike.

"Dick Haynes was a young daredevil who would go out of his way to play with a rattler. I have seen him kill at least a dozen with a knife, and I saw him when he got such a close call that he dropped the game and went a gun forever after.

"We were out together one Sunday. It was warm, and as we rode he fanned his face with his sombrero, and he clapped his hat on his head and started his broncho on a lope. 'Watch me get that plon,' he shouted.

"Fifty yards or our right was a rattler. It was trying to get away, but we headed it in an instant and went off our horses. It immediately coiled, and then I saw the biggest snake I have ever seen. It was a diamond rattler and about 20 years old. It had the ugliest head I ever saw, enormous in size, and with a mouth that reminded me of a bulldog's jaw. Dick stopped just long enough to size up its length so as to get an idea of its spring, and then went in on it.

"The strike came like a flash of lightning. The snake struck the ground with a sound like the cracking of a four horse whiplash in the hands of an expert. Dick just saved himself by throwing his body back full length. The snake coiled again before Dick could get to it. I got nervous and called to him to stop.

"That's the first one that ever struck me and got back," he said, "and I'm going to have that pretty head."

"The rattler was beside itself with rage. It lay, coil upon coil of smooth, glistening length, waiting for the long reach and powerful spring in reserve. Out of the coils two feet more of body and neck rose straight in the air, and above all that black, venomous head, with glowing eyes and forked tongue, waved, slightly, to and fro, as if to reach and powerful spring in reserve.

"Dick stopped in the more cautiously. He reached the knife nearer and yet nearer to that swaying head. I knew he was getting too close, but I feared to speak to him. Then came the strike, wild, murderous and full of speed. Dick's knife flashed, and the snake lay squirming, a headless thing upon the ground.

"Let's get to camp," said Dick. "It got me in the thumb."

"We jumped for the saddles and started on a mad run for home. Dick rode with his thumb on the saddle horn and his knife in his other hand.

"If she begins to swell, off she comes," said he.

"We reached the ranch, and while Dick poured down whiskey we examined the thumb. We could find nothing, not the slightest wound. The snake had struck the handle of his knife, and the strength and suddenness of the impact made Dick lose his nerve. It was a good thing for him. He never went after a rattler again without a loup '44."—New York Sun.

Going All the Time.
"I see a Wisconsin man claims to have solved the perpetual motion problem."

"That's nothing. I have a model of a perpetual motion machine at my house now."

"Does it work successfully?"
"From the standpoint of perpetual motion, you bet it does."
"Have you given it a name?"
"Sure."
"What do you call it?"
"Jimmie," and it was 5 years old his last birthday."—Chicago Post.

Concession to Superstition.

Forewarned, Forearmed.
The liability to disease is greatly lessened when the blood is in good condition, and the circulation healthy and vigorous. For then all refuse matter is promptly carried out of the system; otherwise it would rapidly accumulate—fermentation would take place, the blood become polluted, and the constitution so weakened that a simple malady might result seriously. A healthy circulatory system means good digestion and strong, healthy nerves.

As a blood purifier and tonic, S. S. S. has no equal. It is the safest and best remedy for old people and children because it contains no minerals, but is made exclusively of roots and herbs.

No other remedy so thoroughly and effectually cleanses the blood of impurities. At the same time it builds up the weak and debilitated, and renovates the entire system. It cures permanently all manner of blood and skin troubles.

Mr. H. E. Kelly, of Urbana, O., writes: "I had eczema on my hands and face for five years. The doctors did me no good. I used all the medical aids and salves without benefit. I used S. S. S. and my skin is as clear and smooth as any one's."

Mrs. Henry Bradford, of Cape May, N. J., says: "My only child, a girl of 10, was cured here of Clutter of the breast. Doctor had friends thought her case hopeless."

Richard T. Gardner, Florence, S. C., writes: "I had a severe case of eczema on my face and neck. I used S. S. S. and my skin is as clear and smooth as any one's."
