SAMPSON'S FUNERAL.

Body Laid to Rest in Arlington Cemetery, Washington.

A Long Procession Followed the Body From the Church of the Covenant to the Cemetery—An Artillery Salute.

Washington, May 10.—Services were held Friday in the Church of the Covenant over the remains of Rr. Adm. Sampson, who passed away in Washington Tuesday, May 6.

A prominent figure in the pew directly in the rear of the diplomatic body was Lieut. Gen. Miles; also Gen. Longstreet. The funeral service was simple, but exceedingly impressive. There was no sign of mourning about the church, but two score of magnificent floral emblems made up of rarest roses, lilies and orchids, laced with purple ribbon, the gifts of the president, the Loyal Legion, ordnance bureau, navy yard workers and the many social and personal friends of the dead admiral. The president arrived at the church almost simultaneously with the head of the funeral escort. The casket was covered with the blue field of the American flag and banked with crimson roses. Mrs. Sampson was too ill to attend the services.

The funeral services were little more than the funeral ritual of the Presbyterian church. As the benediction was pronounced the body bearers took up their burden and, followed by the family of the deceased, the president of the United States and his cabinet, the diplomatic body and many notable personages, the remains were carried out of the church and placed in the hearse. A bugle note gave the signal for the march, and soon the entire long funeral procession was on its way to Arlington.

The procession to Arlington lay through the western section of the city and historic Georgetown, whence, after crossing the aqueduct bridge, it went by way of Fort Myer to the cemetery. The weather was exceptionally fine and crowds of people, approximating between 40,000 and 45,000, thronged the streets and country roads and gathered about the grounds at Arlington. They were respectful and reverential in their demeanor and appeared to have been animated by a last honor to the distinguished dead, rather than by idle curiosity.

At the grave the burial services were simple, being confined to a prayer for the dead, the reading of a psalm and music. At their conclusion the saluting battery of the 4th artillery, stationed outside the gates, boomed out three salvos. This salute was in lieu of the usual volley of musketry. As the body was lowered into the grave, the marine band played the beautiful hymn: "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," and then followed the sounding of "taps" by a bugler stationed at the head of the open grave. The president and cabinet did not go to Arlington.

INIERED IN THE CRYPT.

The Corrigan Funeral Ceremonies Impressive and Solemn.

New York, May 10.—The body of Most Rev. Michael Augustine Corrigan, D. D., archbishop of New York, was interred in the crypt of St. Patrick's cathedral. The funeral was conducted with all the impressive solemnity and ceremony of his church, attended by a remarkable gathering of clergy. Eight archbishops, 18 bishops and more than 1,000 priests were present. Inside the gothic altar six candles were burning and the smoke of incense hung about it. Around the bier where the dead archbishop lay, three burned on each side of him, with a double row in a candelabra above his head, and another double row below his feet. Black cloth was hung about the fluted pillars, on the vacant archiepiscopal throne there was purple and black.

The chimes played, and then the bells tolled from the spires; after that the thousands, priests, bishops and archbishops and Cardinal Gibbons led in, following a boy with a cross, and candlebearers. There were bearded Franciscans, in coarse brown cowls with white rope girdles; shaven priests in white lace surplices; Jesuits in dull black; Dominicans in black and white cowls; more priests in laces; bishops in purple, and after an interval, the spare, bent figure of the cardinal, in red, and two deacons, in black and gold, a half pace behind him on either side.

In the rear were national guards in uniforms; and up the south aisle came various officers of the city government, two by two, in black frock coats, bows of crepe on their sleeves. Within the altar rail, priests and bishops and archbishops were ranged in proper precedence, and the cardinal ascended his throne, and the attending deacons placed over his red the white vestments of the mass, and on his head the white miter, and the mass began.

Peculiar to Itself.

This applies to St. Jacobs Oil used for fifty years. It contains ingredients that are unknown to any one but the manufacturers and their trusted employees. Its pain killing properties are marvelous, as testified to by the thousands of once crippled human beings now made well and free from pain by its use. St. Jacobs Oil has a record of cures greater than all other medicines. Its sales are larger than those of any other proprietary medicine and ten times greater than all other embrocations, oils and liniments combined, simply because it has been proved to be the best.

Weak and Sickly Children

Who, perhaps, have inherited a weak digestion, continually subject to stomach troubles, loss of flesh and general weakness, can be made healthy and strong by the use of Vogeler's Curative Compound. Every doctor who is at all up to date will say that Vogeler's Curative Compound will make the blood pure and rich, bring colour to the cheeks, and put on flesh where health demands it. Children who have been weak and sickly since birth should be treated with small doses of Vogeler's Curative Compound, from two to five drops, twice daily, most satisfactory results will follow. It is the best of all medicines, because it is made from the formula of a great living physician.

Boston is Unique.

A Chicagoan had been taken around Boston all day to observe her bulwarks, but had failed to observe any of those symptoms of paralysis which are acceptable to the Bostonian mind. "Now confess," said the Bostonian host, after the burden and heat of the day, "isn't Boston a unique town?" "Unique," mused the westerner, "I believe that word is derived from two Latin words, unus, one, and equus, horse. I think Boston is a unique town."—Chicago Chronicle.

Personally Conducted Trip to Niagara Falls at Very Low Rates.

The C. H. & D. Ry. will run their annual Niagara Falls Excursion this year on August 2nd. These excursions are always well patronized and very high class, carrying through sleeping cars. These trains are run special, in charge of an excursion manager, whose sole duty is to look after the comfort of the passengers, arrange hotel accommodations and see that they are afforded every opportunity to view the various points of interest without being subjected to any extortionate charges. By selecting a tour so far in advance, they are enabled to give the best of accommodations without the services of an experienced guide for not more than one-third of the usual rates. These trips are recommended for ladies and children, who can depend upon every care and protection, even more than they would get from their own male relatives while with the excursion party. It offers all the advantages of a co-operative outing. Small parties or clubs of fifteen or more can, by notifying us in advance, be located in one car, and have their rooms adjoining, securing almost complete privacy, if desired.

Interested parties can obtain further information regarding side trips to other resorts, rates, sleeping car accommodations, etc., by writing to or calling on J. K. Bellows, agent C. H. & D. Ry., 4th and Vine Streets, Cincinnati, Ohio, or the nearest Railway agent to where you live will get the information for you.

THE SURGEON'S KNIFE

Mrs. Eekis Stevenson of Salt Lake City Tells How Operations For Ovarian Troubles May Be Avoided.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered with inflammation of the ovaries and womb for over six years, enduring aches and pains which none can dream of but those who have had the same experience. Hundreds of dollars went to the doctor and the druggist. I was simply a walking medicine chest and a physical wreck. My sister residing in Ohio wrote me that she had been cured of womb trouble by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and advised me to try it. I then discontinued all other medicines and gave your Vegetable Compound a thorough trial. Within four weeks nearly all pain had left me; I rarely had headaches, and my nerves were in a much better condition, and I was cured in three months, and this avoided a terrible surgical operation."—Mrs. Eekis Stevenson, 250 So.
