CHURCH CHIMES.

—Gen. R. M. Gano, of Dallas, Texas, formerly of Scott county, Ky., having been called on to settle a dispute about Gen. Washington's immersion by a Baptist minister says: "General Washington was immersed at Valley Forge during the Revolutionary War by my great-grandfather, John Gano, a Baptist minister. He never became a Baptist, but stated that he believed that to be the only baptism taught in the New Testament." The matter has long been in dispute but now is settled that General Washington, our first president and "father of his country" was immersed.

The regular annual pastor's election was held at the Christian Church Sunday morning. There were 225 votes cast. The present pastor, Elder Lloyd Darsie was re-elected for the coming year, there being but 24 votes against him out of 225.

—The State meeting of the Women's Missionary Society held at Cynthiana last week, adjourned to meet next year at Carlisle.

Public Sale

I will sell in front of the Court House Gate, on at 12 o'clock, a New Frame Cottage, situated on Houston avenue, near the Public Schools, containing six rooms, a good cistern, &c. The lot is 50x325 feet, and lot attached 50 feet wide, running to Houston Creek. The house has just been completed, and is now occupied by a first-class tenant. This is a rare chance for an investment. Will take pleasure in showing anyone desiring to purchase.

AMUSEMENTS.

—Harry Emery's big production of C. T. Daze's play, the "Burglar and the Waif," comes to the Grand Opera House, in this city, to-night. This new play is said to be a mingling of comedy and melodrama, full of human interest, with a number of sensational incidents of more than ordinary merit, intensely interesting, with unusually strong climaxes at the end of each act. The scenery is carried complete and is very beautiful and realistic. One scene in the Maine woods showing a mountain stream and the trees covered with golden and crimson leaves, a prison scene, and a big sensational fire scene, which has been very cleverly constructed, are a part of the seven scenes required to illustrate the four acts. The cast includes Miss Mabel Hite, who appears as the "Waif," and for the past two seasons was "The Telephone Girl," James Devlin, who has been with Hoyt's "A Milk White Flag," and Hoyt's "A Texas Steer," for a number of years, is the "Burglar."

—The "Amos Skeeter" company, which played in this city, on Friday night, stranded here and left for Cincinnati, on Saturday. The company had been playing in hard luck for some time and Manager Porter having heard that they were not giving a satisfactory performance, announced to his patrons that he would give the company a benefit, in order to assist them in getting out of town, but that he could not recommend the performance. A small crowd saw the show and with the assistance of some parties the next day they were enabled to leave town.

—Chas. H. Yale's "Everlasting Devil's Auction" is at it again breaking records for large houses. This is its 21st year and it is the most wonderful Manager Yale has experienced. The audience unanimously proclaim the performance grander than ever, so every one must be happy.

—The engagement of the Grace Cameron Opera Company at the Grand on next Friday night promises to be one of the musical events of the season. Reports from all over the country where "A Normandy Wedding" has been heard, are to the effect that it is, from every point of view, one of the brightest, withest and most tuneful comic operas seen in the last ten years.

It is the work of J. Cheever Goodwin, who wrote "Wang," and William Furst the composer of "The Isle of Champagne" and is said to rank higher, both book and music, than either of them. Besides Miss Grace Cameron, the star of the organization, manager Fred C. Whitney has given the opera an elaborate production and present a splendid company, including Harry Brown, Stephen B. French, Jr., William Herbert, May Cressy, Genevieve Reynolds, Daisy King and a large company of pretty chorus girls. Prices 25c to $1. Seats at Borland's Wednesday.

REGISTRATION.—The first day's special registration at the County Clerk's office yesterday, resulted as follows: Democrats, 27; Republicans, 2 and Independent, 1. Total, 30. There are two more days in which to register.

Even the prohibitionist would like to see the coal bins get full.

INTERURBAN.—The project of building an electric road from Lexington to North Middletown, in this county, will be discussed by the Chamber of Commerce of Lexington at an opening meeting to-day.

—The four daughters of Capt. Dan Turney will furnish a room in the Confederate Home at Peeewe Valley, in memory of their father.

—Room No. 6 has been named for Col. Robert G. Stoner, who was the Lieutenant Colonel of the Ninth Kentucky Cavalry.

—Mrs. Thos. Helm Clay and Col. J. G. Craddock were among the visitors at Peeewe.

—Peter B. Adams, Co. A., (Duke's) Second Ky. Cavalry, who has resided at Owingsville for a number of years, has been received at the home.
