CHURCH CHIMES.

—Rev. Dr. John Worrall will preach at the First Presbyterian church, Sunday, morning and evening.

—Mr. R. B. Hutchcraft united with the Christian church, at the Wednesday night prayer meeting and was baptized.

—At the Christian church, in this city, Sunday morning, Elder Carey Morgan will preach a Christmas sermon, and that night his subject will be "Is the world growing better or worse?"

—Rev. Mr. Kirkwood, of the Assembly Presbyterian church, of Lexington, accompanied by his splendid choir, came from that city on Wednesday evening, and held a most interesting Christmas service at the First Presbyterian church in this city. The music was of a very high order, and Mr. Kirkwood's sermon was impressive and especially appropriate to the occasion.

—An exception to the rule in the Roman Catholic church forbidding all members to eat meat on Fridays will be made this year on Christmas, which will occur on the sixth day of the week. By a special dispensation of Pope Pius X, on New Year's day, also on Friday, the rule of abstinence from meat will not bind. On two Fridays in succession, therefore, meat may be eaten. Christmas eve is always a fast day, and no meat of any kind or tempting dishes were permitted Catholics on Thursday.

AMUSEMENTS.

From present indications the Hiawatha Minstrels will have a full house Christmas night at the Grand Opera House, and those desiring to see this very creditable performance will do well to secure their seats as early as possible. A special rate has been obtained over the Interurban in order to give Lexington people another chance to see the Minstrels who made such a hit in that city, and a great many of them have expressed their intention of taking advantage of this special rate, so there will doubtless be a number of Lexington people on hand that night. Prices—75, 50, 35 and 25c.

NUTS, Candy, Oranges, Bananas, Shelled Almonds, Pecans, Candied Cherries, Candied Pineapples and everything in the Fancy Grocery line, at C. P. COOK & Co.'s, "Little Cook."

Climatic Cures.

The influence of climatic conditions in the cure of consumption is very much overdrawn. The poor patient, and the rich patient, too, can do much better at home by proper attention to food digestion, and a regular use of German Syrup. Free expectoration in the morning is made certain by German Syrup, so is a good night's rest and the absence of that weakening cough and debilitating night sweat. Restless nights and the exhaustion due to coughing, the greatest danger and dread of the consumptive, can be prevented or stopped by taking German Syrup liberally and regularly. Should you be able to go to a warmer climate, you know that of the thousands of consumptives there, the few who are benefited and regain strength are those who use German Syrup. Trial bottles, 25c; regular size, 75c. At all druggists.—W. T. Brooks.

Riley Grannan a Back Number.

Riley Grannan, the famous plunger, and an ex-Parisian, has come to Paris to spend the Christmas and New Year's holidays with his mother. In the heyday of his prosperity, Grannan bought his parents their present home, but this is the first time in ten years he has spent his holidays in Kentucky.

He came up from New Orleans, where he has been booking, and will return to the Crescent City after the New Year.

Riley complains of feeling none too well and says his health became impaired after enduring a winter or two in London. The climate in cold weather did not agree with him in England's great metropolis, and he says he has never been a well man since his return from across the pond.

Grannan does not seek notoriety, saying that he is only a back number now; only a blockman and doing little in the betting line. He will be heard from, however, in the spring.

Yours Truly,
C. B. MITCHELL.
