THE RUSSIAN THRONE.

A Male Heir Born to the Czar and Czarina.

He Will Be Christened Alexis—There is Great Rejoicing in St. Petersburg Over the Event and the City is Decorated.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 13.—The czarina Friday gave birth to a boy. The heir to the throne will be named Alexis.

His majesty received felicitations excitedly. He was almost overcome with joy, and exclaimed: "Praise God, at last I see the accomplishment of my dearest wish."

The desire of the emperor and empress for a male heir to the throne, which has four times been disappointed, has been shared alike by the subjects of the White Father, and now that the hopes are realized, all else is forgotten in the joy over the event.

The emperor was greatly restricted in the choice of a name for the heir to the throne by the fact that the imperial initials which everywhere appear in public edifices, on soldiers' epaulettes, saddle cloths, railway wagons, etc., are "A" and "N." The selection of a name not beginning with these letters would entail enormous expense should the heir come to the throne.

There are a great many traditions about the name. The first Alexis, who won many victories over the Poles, endeared himself to his people and is known in Russian history as "The father of his country."

The name is not a particularly lucky one. Alexis Petrovich was ordered to be executed by his father, Peter the Great, for treason, but died in prison.

A curious coincidence is that the heir was born on the anniversary of the canonization of St. Seraphim and another coincidence is that the birth occurred on the anniversary of the appointment of Adm. Alexieff as viceroy in the far east.

St. Petersburg Friday night was divided between rejoicing over the birth of an heir to the throne and anxiety as to the fate of the Port Arthur squadron. As has happened on several occasions since the war began, a fête day at the capital coincides with an important development at the front and national thanksgiving is tempered with solemnity.

A day marked by the display of flags, the firing of salutes, the holding of religious services and the extending of official congratulations was followed by a night of brilliant illumination. Garlands and lamps were strung Friday night across almost every house front, while from many of the larger buildings flashed the Russian arms, the imperial monogram and other devices picked out in electric globes.

Early tens of thousands of tapers glimmered before the altars of St. Petersburg's many shrines. In chapels and cathedrals everywhere there were solemn choruses of thanksgiving—from the imperial chapel of the Peterhof palace to the humble lamp lit shrines of the streets, where the hurrying pedestrians, laborers and drosky drivers waited to cross the street themselves.

The street crowds Friday night were, however, much quieter than usual on a holiday for the popular rejoicing over the event at the Alexander villa could not dispel the anxiety which prevailed regarding the fate of the squadron on which so much depends.

Saturday morning the empress and the heir to the throne were both making satisfactory progress.

An imperial manifesto was published announcing the birth of an heir. It invites all Russian subjects to offer their prayers for the prosperity of the heir to the throne.

In receiving the congratulations of his court Friday, the emperor, in a brief reply, said: "I am happier at the birth of a son and heir than at a victory of my troops, for now I face the future calmly and without alarm, knowing by this sign that the war will be brought to a happy conclusion."

MINERS DROWNED.

Eight Men Lost Their Lives in a Gold Mine in North Carolina.

Salisbury, N. C., Aug. 12.—Information was received here Thursday night that the Barringer gold mine, located near Gold Hill, N. C., Rowan county, was suddenly flooded with water late Thursday afternoon, causing the instant death of eight men employed in the mine.

Nine men were in the mine shaft when a large pond located near the entrance to the mine suddenly broke loose, the breakage being caused by excessive rains, the waters rushing in terrific and deadly force to a depth of about a hundred feet upon the men who were powerless to save themselves.

Mr. Thomas Moyl, manager of the plant, was the only one to escape death.

The mine is filled with water and none of the dead bodies have been recovered. An unusual downpour of rain is reported in the vicinity of the mine Thursday afternoon, much damage being done to property. The flooded mine is the property of the Whitney Reduction Co., of Salisbury and Pittsburg, Pa., and has been operated for a number of years.

All of the patients have been isolated and Dowie and his elders daily offer up prayers for their recovery.

As there are no physicians in Zion City and Dowie will not permit his followers to use drugs in any form, fears are entertained that the disease may spread to surrounding towns. Zion City is outside the city limits of Chicago and the city officials have no power in the matter.

JUST ONE DAY.

Free from the Sluggish Brought Out a Fact.

"During the time I was a coffee drinker," says an Iowa woman, "I was nervous, had spells with my heart, smothering spells, headache, stomach trouble, liver and kidney trouble. I did not know for years what made me have those spells. I would frequently sink away as though my last hour had come.

"For 27 years I suffered thus and used bottles of medicines enough to set up a drug store—capsules and pills and everything I heard of. Spent lots of money but I was sick nearly all the time. Sometimes I was so nervous I could not hold a plate in my hands; and other times I thought I would surely die sitting at the table.

"This went on until about two years ago when one day I did not use any coffee and I noticed I was not so nervous and told my husband about it. He had been telling me that it might be the coffee but I said: 'No, I have been drinking coffee all my life and it cannot be.' But after this I thought I would try and do without it and drink hot water. I did this for several days, but got tired of the hot water and went to drinking coffee and as soon as I began coffee again I was nervous again. This proved that it was the coffee that caused my troubles.

"We had tried Postum but had not made it right and did not like it, but now I decided to give it another trial so I read the directions on the package carefully and made it after these directions and it was simply delicious, so we quit coffee for good and the results are wonderful. Before, I could not sleep, but now I go to bed and sleep sound, am not a bit nervous now but work hard and can walk miles. Nervous headaches are gone, my heart does not bother me any more like it did and I don't have any of the smothering spells and would you believe it? I am getting fat. We drink Postum now and nothing else, and even my husband's headaches have disappeared; we both sleep sound and healthy now and that's a blessing."
